CAVORTING WHALES SUPPLY NEW THRILL FOR BEACH CROWDS

LANGEBAN, Cape Province (UP) South Africa has found a new aquatic "sport" to entertain beach crowds—a game of "hide and seek," or "catch-me-if-you-can," between whales and men in boats.

Two whales and two boats have taken part in such a game here before the excited gaze of crowds on the beach.

The whales are unexpected visitors. They first were seen from shore. The news quickly spread among the inhabitants, who streamed down to the water's edge for a glimpse.

Two boats, each manned by three men, then were put out to try to catch the whales by driving them to the beach. But the whales were too clever. Again and again they eluded their pursuers—diving and appearing in unexpected places.

Spectators on the beach were aroused to excitement when they saw the monsters actually passed beneath the boats to outmaneuver the hunters.

Though nearly successful several times, the men were beaten by approaching dusk and the running of their intended prey.

LEFTISTS GAIN IN JAPANESE BALLOT

TOKYO, Feb. 21.—(AP)—A gain of 14 seats in parliament for candidates of proletarian parties (the leftists of Japan) featured the returns tonight from the national election.

The proletarians, who held three seats in the last parliament, had elected 17 to the next on the basis of returns up until 6 p. m., the votes counted are mainly from city districts.

On the basis of these returns the minority party, closely allied with the government of Premier Admiral Keisuke Okada, was leading the Seiyukai party by 105 to 84 seats.

One Calls Daily. PULLMAN, Wash., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Dave O'Connor, custodian of the Pullman cemetery, has a doe as a daily caller. He has been feeding the deer hay and grain for four months. When a stranger approaches, the doe flees.

George Washington

Tomorrow (February 22) marks the 204th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, who took command of the Continental armies July 3, 1775; became the nation's first President April 30, 1789; and died December 14, 1799.

SNOWFALL BLOCKS COLUMBIA ROUTE

THE DALLES, Ore., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Tapioca snow and sleet completely blocked the Columbia river highway between Cascade locks and Multnomah falls today for the second time this winter, the state highway office here announced.

Travel was getting through by the Evergreen or North Bank highway and the bridge of the gods. The continued snow fall threatened to close this route too, completely blocking motor travel between Portland and north central Oregon.

Wimer

WIMER, Feb. 21.—(Sp.)—Recently a party of friends surprised Shorty Smithpeter on his birthday. Five hundred and Pedro were played, after which lunch was served. Everyone had a jolly time.

Frank Ralston returned from Medford the first of the week, after having been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Darland. The Darlands are now employed at the Sacred Heart hospital.

C. R. Bowman, county school superintendent, and George Coddling, district attorney, addressed the Wimer P-T. A. Tuesday night. Mr. Coddling spoke to the group on the delinquent child. Mr. Bowman talked on the subject of the modern teacher. The

P-T. A. thanked the gentlemen for their fine addresses.

Mr. Berneburg, principal of the school, cut his hand severely with an axe last week. It was necessary for the doctor to take two stitches in the wound.

Ernest Cochran has moved the little house that was near the school to a spot adjoining the Ralston place. A number of the women from this community are attending the art lessons given by Mrs. Barto at Rogue River. Included in this group are Mrs. Sadie Simpson, Mrs. Kenneth Barneburg, Mrs. Mae Cook, Mrs. Kathleen and Miss Colista Johnson.

Mr. Simpson, school janitor, has pain fully injured his foot with a large stick of wood which fell across the top of his foot from a distance of about seven feet.

Mr. Cochran has nearly finished his new home. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson have already taken possession of the place. Mr. Cochran will go to Canyonville soon to visit with his daughter, Mrs. Raymond Paulson.

Dr. Johnston, county doctor and Miss Helen Parish, county nurse, gave physical examinations and diphtheria immunizations to the school children this week.

The union study group of the Rogue River and Wimer faculty met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Steward as guests of Miss Marjorie Olin and Miss Frances Beatty. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hartman, Mrs. Powell, Miss Shilling, Miss Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Barneburg, Mr. Bricker, Miss Danford, and the hostesses.

A group of friends called on Grandma Neashamer the other night, to surprise her on her birthday. Many of us in this community look forward each year to the joyous birthday party celebrated at Grandma Neashamer's.

Talkie motion pictures are being held each Sunday night at the Grange hall.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Barneburg went skiing at Crater lake last Saturday.
