Many Affairs Honor Anniversary of First President's Birthday

Attention in social circles this week centered around events honoring the birthday anniversary of our first president, many events, large and small, commemorating the day.

Largest of the affairs were the Town club dance Friday evening and the Elks' dance last evening at the temple. A large crowd of Town club members and friends gathered at the clubhouse at eight-thirty Friday evening, the group leaving at ten o'clock to spend the remainder of the evening dancing in Merrick's ball-room.

A very large affair was the Elks' dance last evening, those in charge pronouncing it a decided success. The dance committee arranged special decorations, an appropriate effect being obtained through the use of flags and other patriotic motifs and colors.

Luncheon Honors Wedding Anniversary

Mrs. Minnie Bryant entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon Wednesday afternoon at her home honoring Mrs. Ella Rogers, who was celebrating her wedding anniversary.

Table decorations were in keeping with Washington's birthday. Covers were laid for Miss Leona Hull of Grants Pass, and Mesdames Edith Prescott, Lucy Rusk, Sara Redden, Julia Gregory, the hostess and the guest of honor.

Thursday Club To Hear Papers

Appearing on the program for this week's meeting of the Thursday Morning Study club to be held at the Girls' Community club house will be Mrs. Karl Janouch, who will present a paper on period furniture.

Mrs. Robert Steeter will talk on various phases of arts and crafts, and Mrs. L. L. Sanders will end the program with a review of Elsie de Wolfe's "After All."

YOUNG ROOSEVELT STEPS OUT

In white tie and tails, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., flashed the famous family smile when he twirled across a Broadway night club dance floor with Mrs. Beryl Henshaw as partner. Several girls got autographs, but many failed to recognize him. (Associated Press Photo)

Christian Choir To Present Concert At Church This Evening

First concert of the year by the First Christian church choir will be presented this evening at 7:30. The chorus of 20 voices, under direction of Elsie Herbert Kurtz, will be assisted in one number by the junior choir of 40 voices, under direction of Miss Eleanor Curry.

Annual Dinner Dance Planned by Templars For Tuesday Evening

Eagerly awaited and anticipated as one of the major social events of the spring season is the annual ball arranged by Malta Commandery No. 4, Knights Templar, which has been announced for Tuesday evening at the Masonic temple. Invitations have been issued to all Sir Knights and their ladies.

Preceding the dance, dinner will be served to the guests in the dining room of the temple at 7 o'clock. An informal talk by Mrs. Margaret Fabrik will follow dinner. Her subject will be various phases of her recent travels in Australia, New Zealand and the far east.

Card tables will be set up for those who do not enjoy dancing, and other entertainment features have been planned by those in charge. Indications are that a large number of Knights Templar and their ladies will attend Tuesday's ball, as the affair gains in popularity each year.

Those not already contacted by the committees are requested to bring a hot vegetable dish or a salad for the dinner.

Loyal Women Meet Tuesday

Devotionals at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Loyal Women's class of the First Christian church were led by the president, Mrs. Lucy Rusk, followed by a short business session.

An informal social hour followed the serving of refreshments by an committee headed by Mrs. Bertha Timmerman.

Mrs. Daniels Hostess Friday

Mrs. T. E. Daniels entertained at luncheon and bridge Friday afternoon to a group of friends, at the Town club on West Main street, having as her honor guest Mrs. Coyie Briggs, formerly of San Diego and now of this city.

Covers were laid for thirty-two guests at attractive tables, eight tables of bridge following luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Briggs will make their home in Medford, he having been recently transferred in a business capacity.

Club Women Hear Papers At Session

Appearing on the program presented to members of the Wednesday Study club at this week's meeting was Mrs. H. E. Snedcor, her paper dealing with the ancient Mayans and the discovered ruins and traces of their civilization, whose remains, she stated, are as fascinating to archeologists as those of the old world.

Mrs. H. G. Wortman presented a paper on Rurard Kipling, reading a number of extracts from his works, which her audience considered timely. Kipling's career as a writer, from youth through later life, was reviewed. Mrs. Wortman especially emphasized his influence on English imperialism.

The meeting, held at the Girls' Community club, was conducted by Mrs. C. A. Meeker in the absence of Mrs. B. G. Harding, president. It was announced that the next meeting will be held March 4.

Gleaner Class Hear Talk Tuesday

Mrs. B. F. Neff was hostess to the Gleaner class of the First Baptist church at her home Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Jones, vice-president, conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Stickland.

Mrs. Shepherd was the speaker for the afternoon, an unusual phase of her talk being the rag pictures used as illustrations.

Birthday Party For Miss Luper

Miss Ludella Luper, daughter of Mrs. D. R. Luper, was hostess to a number of friends Tuesday afternoon at the Luper home in celebration of her eleventh birthday. Rooms were decorated in red and white in the Valentine manner.

Miss Luper's guests were entertained with games for the afternoon, and refreshments were served later. Guests were Kathleen Hawkins, Mildred McKenzie, Betty Jane McKenzie, Marjory Hardy, Audrey Jarnin, Barbara Preston, Dorothy Jones, June Jarnin, Shirley Dillard and Lois Piening.

Alpha Deltans Honor Washington

About thirty-five members and guests of the Alpha Delta class of the First Christian church met Thursday afternoon at the church in rooms decorated with flags and patriotic colors in honor of George Washington's birthday.

The social hour, which followed a short business session, was in charge of Mrs. Carl Pierson. Rev. W. R. Baird presented an appropriate reading to the group and Mrs. Goddard appeared in a whistling solo, accompanied by Kenneth Raymond. Refreshments were served after the program.

Crater Lake Guild Plans Anniversary

At a meeting of the Crater Lake guild Monday evening, plans were discussed for the annual birthday party of the guild, which this year will consist of Mr. H. D. Kern's latest moving pictures and a well-chosen program of varied musical numbers.

Date for the event has been set as March 2; at eight o'clock in the church. An invitation is extended to the public. Further announcements will be made concerning the affair.

A short program was a feature of Monday's meeting.

Mrs. Boggis Honored Tuesday

Honoring the birthday of Mrs. Emma Boggis, a number of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Agnes Senodenois Thursday afternoon. Guests were Mrs. Linnie Perry, Laura Getzman, Vera Johnson, Grace Bardell, Mrs. Dorn, Mrs. Wolf, Hazel Wolf, Mrs. Applegate, Ida Boggis, Mrs. Sutton, Lucille Everhart and daughter, Mrs. Joe Jones, Miss Evelyn Senodenois, Betty and Bob Dallaire, Mrs. Agnes Senodenois and Mary Dallaire.

P.-T. A. Anniversary Observed at Meeting

An impressive candle-lighting ceremony in honor of the thirty-ninth anniversary of the organization was the principal feature of the program at Friday's meeting of the Jackson School Parent-Teacher association. The ceremony was led by Mrs. W. J. Hutchison.

Mrs. Allan Smith, president, conducted the meeting. Pupils of the second grade presented a group of songs and little Charmaine Brault and Garmin Wright, dressed as George and Martha Washington, appeared in a song and tap dance.

At the close of the meeting, guests were served tea at attractive tables decorated with flowers and candles in P. T. A. colors. Pouring were Mrs. Lyle Wilcox and Mrs. Charles Thompson. The large birthday cake was cut by the president, Mrs. Smith.

Missionary Group Is Entertained Tuesday

Mrs. Ralph Sweeney was hostess to the Women's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church Tuesday afternoon at her home. Mrs. George Oliver was elected president for the ensuing year; Mrs. John Grumble, vice-president; Mrs. Mary Baker, secretary; and Mrs. Carl Brommer, treasurer.

Mrs. R. M. Wood led the devotionals and Mrs. W. P. Holt and Miss Elizabeth Burr presented studies on the meeting topic, "Central Brazil," giving a complete history of the country and people, government, religion, and physical geography data of the country.

Mrs. R. S. Peterson brought in some interesting tidbits on the lives of some of the missionaries she has known and facts concerning their present fields of work at home and on foreign fields. Mrs. H. P. W. Spitzer read excerpts from the missionary magazine, "Women and Missions."

The hostess served refreshments during the social hour. Mrs. Walter Frazer Brown presiding at the table.

20-30 Ladies Honor Mrs. Cutler

Mrs. Howard Metcalf was hostess to wives of the Twenty-Thirty club at her home Thursday evening. Also hostesses were Mesdames Lem Masie and Lyle Lindley.

Mrs. Earwin Cutler was an honored guest, the ladies arranging a hankerschieff shower for her, as she is leaving soon to make her home in Salem, where Mr. Cutler has recently been transferred.

Guests for the evening were Mesdames Gene Orr, Cordy Sunderman, Herb Brown, Alton Anderson, Clyde Fichter and the honor guest, Mrs. Cutler.

Italian Influence Extends To Fashion States Paris Note

By Mery Fentress
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS (UP) — Mussolini has had a great deal of influence on the feminine population of this world. First, the Italian women gave up their gold wedding rings in exchange for iron ones and helped him fill the coffers of Italy.

Next a clever Paris milliner decided to copy B. Dues's fringed cap and adapt it for feminine heads. This hat of Mussolini inspiration has become very popular with Parisiennes. It is a shallow little turban, of knitted black alpaca with a rolled edge. Ribbed fringe falls down in front over the edge of the turban, which is pulled a bit to the right of the head.

This hat was noted on a chic woman who was lunching at the Hotel Crillon. She wore it with a smart ensemble of black wool. The dress was made with a square shoulder yoke which finished high at the neck with a roll collar trimmed with white ivory class piece. The full sleeves were gathered into the square shoulder yoke at the top and into a tight band at the wrist.

A wide leather belt is fastened with another ivory chess piece. The skirt was full and straight to the knees, then flared out slightly.

The coat of this ensemble likewise was cut with a square shoulder yoke and wide, full sleeves banded at the wrist. It is not belted, and the fullness swings out to fingertip length. At the high neck is a bright scarf of black, green, white and red stripes.

The new Paris evening creations achieve a certain charm and elegance that has been lacking for several seasons. They are elaborate and formal and have a chicness that can only be found in the Paris salons.

The newest evening gowns are characterized by more ornate detail

Founders Honored At P. T. A. Lunch

Mrs. Tom Roseberry of the junior high unit, was hostess to the city council of the Parent-Teacher association for luncheon Tuesday afternoon at her home.

In observance of the founding of the organization, past presidents of the council were guests of honor and were seated at a beautifully appointed table. Following the business meeting, 39 candles, the number of years since the organization of the P.-T. A., were lighted on a birthday cake with appropriate ceremony.

Mrs. Glen Fabrik talked to the group of her recent travels in Europe, emphasizing the need of an organization similar to the P.-T. A. in other countries, and Mrs. George Kunzman spoke on the needs of the association.

Guests were Mesdames Roseberry, Nelson, Pichtner, D'Albini, Kunzman, Fabrik, Heyland, Bryant and Short.

work, by odd and exotic color combinations and by a new richness which has been lacking for some time.

Lucile Paray creates a gown in black and Nile green georgette. The gown is cut to mould the figure from the shoulders to the knees. The bodice has an oval decollete back and front which is edged by two rounded and pleated tubes of the light green chiffon. The skirt, which flares from the knees to the floor, has a 12-inch band of knitted Nile green chiffon insertion and the waist is encircled by a sash of crushed black georgette.

Robert Figuet makes a tubular gown in blue-violet crepe which is cut low under the arm and has a nude back. The high front neck is topped by a scarf which falls in folds at the throat, then hangs loosely down the back until it tucks under the hem line.

Temple Welcomes Potentate Hillis At Klamath Ball

Southern Oregon Shriners and their ladies gathered at the Hotel Willard in Klamath Falls last night for one of the most prominent social events on their 1936 calendar.

The dance and reception, in honor of George Hillis, newly elected potentate, was held in ballroom of the Willard, the occasion of Washington's birthday giving an opportunity for especially festive decorations and entertainment.

Special entertainment features augmented the evening of dancing and cards, including a concert by the Temple band. Invitations were sent to hundreds of southern Oregon Shriners and a large crowd attended the affair, many from this city driving over despite the inclement weather.

Arrangements for the affair were headed by R. D. Eller of Klamath Falls, general chairman for all committees.
