a base for naval hydroplanes and land planes, without waiving any claims for establishment of a naval operating base in conformance with the helm and parks boards.

The committee will be told, Cheasman said, there is no naval operation along the 1000 miles of coast line between San Francisco bay and Puget Sound. The Columbia river is the only naval harbor or refuge between the two points and its mouth also is the nearest Pacific coast port to the Orient, he explained.

Dams Emphasize Need

"The Grand Coulee and Bonneville dams emphasize the need for defenses at the mouth of the river," he said.

The army was described by Steiwer as realizing the Columbia river is a vulnerable point, having reached that conclusion during paper maneuvers held in the Pacific northwest last year.

A share of the increased appropriation recommended for Pacific coast forts will be sought for Fort Stevens. The fort's barracks would be repaired, its personnel increased, and several batteries of railway artillery and anti-aircraft units would be allocated to the fort.

LIFE OF WOMAN IS SPARED WHEN GUN MISSES FIRE

head in the noose. The body was not far enough off the ground to permit it to swing, the man having to crouch to exert enough pressure to produce strangulation.

The gun with which he had assaulted Mrs. Stephenson was later found in the woodshed of the woman's home, a cartridge which showed the imprint of the firing pin but which had not exploded, in the chamber.

The only note of any kind found on the body was one which bore no apparent relation to the assault or the suicide. Personal effects of the dead man included slightly over $6 in money, two pocket knives, and a gold wedding ring, and a picture of his estranged wife.

When the body was first found, it was believed the man had shot himself first, but blood on the scalp proved to be from an ax wound. The officers cut him down immediately, but Duffy was already dead.

The man is survived by four half-brothers, Henry Slover of this city, and the three Rosencrans brothers of Gold Hill. Both his parents are said to be dead.

Duffy formerly drove a CCC truck here.

County Coroner Frank Peri took possession of the body. A large crowd had gathered by the time the hearse arrived. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

NEW SETUP URGED FOR U. OF OREGON AS MANAGER QUITS

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Urging reorganization of the student activities setup, and acknowledging no inclination for the task, Hugh E. Rosson, graduate manager of University of Oregon, and N. Thomas Stoddard, assistant, resigned, effective June 30.

Both men expressed the desire to aid in acquainting the new men with the duties of their offices between now and the end of the school year. Loss of compulsory student fee payments will necessitate retrenchment, they said.

Rosson pointed out that he accepted the position in 1930 "to aid in the solution of the acute financial problems." He said "considerable progress has been made through extensive reduction of indebtedness and through yearly presentation of our program of student activities, even in years of intense economc stress.

"It is my belief that the problems now facing the Associated Students in the financing and administration of student activities must inevitably be met by change and reorganization of the present system and that effective consideration of such plans should be had with regard to soundness of principle, efficiency of operation and staff personnel.

"In view of the fact, therefore, that I desire to devote my future to other interests, I hereby tender my resignation."

Rosson, former assistant professor of law here, recently was admitted to the Oregon bar.

Stoddard's title was changed to assistant graduate manager of athletcs last year.

Frank Buck Picture Coming Thursday

The result of a full year of work, danger and hardship has been condensed into the less than two hours that it takes to unreel Frank ("Bring 'Em Back Alive") Buck's "Fang and Claw," which starts a three-day run at the Rialto theater tomorrow. The noted animal collector spent nine months in the jungles of the Malay Peninsula and northern India and the balance of the year in assembling and editing the 100,000 feet of film to exhibition length. The result is one of the most hair-rasing of all the Buck pictures to reach the screen.

Eddie Cantor Picture Coming

He makes but one picture a year, but it invariably proves to be one of the year's most successful. "He" is Eddie Cantor, goggle-eyed comedian of the screen, stage and radio, whose latest fun hit, "Strike Me Pink," opens its local run at the Craterian theater tomorrow. With Cantor in the cast are Ethel Merman, torch-singer de luxe; Parkyakarkus, his radio stooge, who makes his screen debut in this film; Rita Rio, the little "scat" singer, who leads the luscious beauties in song and dance routines; Sally Eilers, William Frawley and other favorites.

The film play is based on Clarence Buddington Kelland's Saturday Evening Post story, "Dreamland," and shows Eddie as a timid campus tailor who takes a correspondence course in courage to acquire a dominating personality and finds himself manager of Dreamland Amusement Park. Here he becomes mixed up with slot machine racketeers who use his adoration for a night club queen as a "come-on" for their nefarious purposes. How Eddie, in a wildly thrilling and hilarious climax, defeats the racketeers, forms the finale to the fun entertainment which includes several song numbers and typical Cantor humor in the course of events.
