

CONGRESS FACES JOB OF DECIDING FORM AND RATES

Memorandum which listed the levies as follows: Permanent taxes: Bonus $120,000,000. Farm program $450,000,000. Temporary reimbursement taxes $500,000,000. Total in round figures $1,120,000,000. Total necessary $1,137,000,000. The chief executive was emphatic in differentiating between new and old taxes. In the former category he placed only the annual $120,000,000 for payment of the bonus. In considering methods of recapturing the lost processing taxes, Mr. Roosevelt said the possibilities of a retroactive tax had been thoroughly explored. It was felt such taxes were probably constitutional, but worked many hardships. The windfall tax, he added, would probably take the form of a levy on incomes. In all instances, Mr. Roosevelt said, he was leaving to the determination of congress the method of imposing the levies and suggesting only the amount needed. Speaker Byrns said at his press conference the ways and means committee would start hearings on taxes next week. That they should require no more than a fortnight, and that the tax program should not delay adjournment of congress. "The house ways and means committee undoubtedly will write the tax bill," he said. "Of course, the sensible thing to do would be to confer with the president and the secretary of the treasury." It was the death of AAA, with its processing taxes, and the payment of the bonus over the president's veto which knocked the big holes in the budget submitted last month.

NEW BASIC RATE OF 2 CENTS SET FOR ALL ROUTES

Trains offering a "definitely superior" service. Dissenting commissioners were Chairman Charles D. Mahaffie and Commissioners B. H. Meyer, Frank McManamy and William E. Lee. Mahaffie expressed the view that a cut might have the effect of substantially reducing revenues to the eastern carrier, while Meyer expressed the opinion that the reduction was not great enough. The majority opinion followed the recommendations of Examiner Irving L. Koch in a report last July. It was thought possible some of the eastern carriers might go to the courts in the present volume of traffic, but they have made public no plans to do this.

Commissioners Clyde B. Altheison, Carroll Millern W. M. W. Splawn and Marlon M. Caskie joined Porter in supporting the reductions. Commissioner Hugh M. Tate did not participate in the vote. In his dissent, Meyer said that, applied to the present volume of traffic, the new rate would not yield any increased revenues to the railroads. McManamy said the commission did not have authority under the law to "assume managerial duties" over the carriers, and that the reduction would have that effect. By fixing the Pullman fare at 3 cents, the commission changed the basis for these charges and eliminated the present Pullman surcharge. The effect of the order is to place Pullman fares on a flat 3-cent basis, instead of on the former basis of surcharges, which made Pullman fares average 4 cents per mile.

clause in all private and public contracts, increase private ownership of gold, canceled the gold clause in the gold certificate, redeeming same in currency. All of which naturally meant the abandonment of the "gold standard." What effect did all this have upon the purchasing power of the dollar in the United States? Absolutely none. The content of the silver dollar was not changed at all and will now buy three times its own weight in "un-stamped virgin silver." Neither was the parity between silver and currency changed in the process used in "democratizing gold."

Perhaps the greatest "fraud" ever put over on the American people was the "gold standard" and the endless propaganda as to its "divinity," "intrinsic value" and "stable qualities." However, when the government "democratized" gold, its only noticeable effect was to raise the rates on "foreign exchange." There was not a ripple here and prices on commodities in the United States did not rise for many moons thereafter. The raise that did take place and for which we are now complaining were brought about through other causes; combinations; drought; government interference (such as, hogs, etc.) and in no way through a "cheap dollar."

President Roosevelt has surely performed a great service to humanity by tearing off the mask that has befuddled the minds of people during the greater part of our national existence. The price of gold, silver, nickel and pennies, now as always, is regulated by "statutory law" and our ability to back up the price with good and sufficient interest bearing debt.

Mr. Hoover mentions "bank credit inflation," but he should not do this in an spirit of complaint, since the same system prevailed through his administration and the many banks going to the wall at that time could have written checks to pay all their depositors, just as they could now. The real trouble was that they could not dig up "government currency" because the call was too great. There was not enough money in existence to meet the demand. Government "currency inflation" that is paper money, at that time, would have saved the day.

At the present time there is some $0 billion on "deposit" in the various banks of this country, and about $1 billion in currency in existence. At least half of this currency circulating among the people to take care of their everyday cash business transactions, leaving 3 billion in the banks to take care of the cash demand of an "inflation" of nearly $0 billion. However at the present time, for which Mr. Hoover can thank President Roosevelt and the present congress for a new policy in which the government "measures" these deposits, with certain limitations, the possibility of bank runs is very remote. Many people are of the opinion that whatever inflation of money is necessary should be done by the government instead of the banks. This is surely the only safe and sane method, but we do not believe the former president holds this view. F. W. CHAUSSE, Medford, Oregon. Feb. 28, 1936.
