Crescent City, Cal., south to 100 miles the other side of Eureka, including that city, and east to the Dunsmuir territory now covered out of this office.

The boost in territory will now place Medford on a par with such large coast cities as Spokane, San Diego, San Jose and others in that class, surpassed only by Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Portland and Seattle, Hathaway said.

The new complete territory was put under Medford direction yesterday and now includes 400 miles of coast line, from Florence, Ore., south to near Willits, Calif. Included also is territory lying as far east as 80 miles the other side of Lakeview, northern California as far southwest as Lassen national park, parts of Nevada, and as far north along the Pacific highway as Drain, Ore.

The personnel working directly out of the Medford office is thus raised to approximately 135 men, Hathaway said.

R. R. Hooker, transferred from Glendale to fill the vacated position of A. J. Hawk, has taken up his new duties here, and both he and his family have moved to this city to establish their new home.

SPRING SHOWERS OVER WEEK-END

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 28.—(AP)—Spring-like showers over Oregon will continue the rest of the week, the weather bureau predicted today.

Swollen streams of the state were closely eyed by lowland residents. Deep snows in the mountains make the food threat more acute than for several seasons past.

The Columbia river was particularly high from The Dalles to Vancouver.

Occasional showers were predicted for tonight and tomorrow, while more snow was expected to fall in the mountains.

MAN ASKING CONTRACT GUARANTEES TO CATCH HORSES RUNNING WILD

News of the proposed round-up of wild horses in the Applegate district continues to spread and bring all sorts of inquiries and offers.

Today Lee Port U. S. forest ranger of the Applegate district, received a letter from W. A. Riley of La Grasse, Wash., who offered to conduct the round-up for compensation either in horses or cash as so much a head.

Stating that he has "run wild horses all my life," Mr. Riley guaranteed to catch every single horse running wild.

"That's a big order," commented Karl L. Janouch, forest supervisor. "A wild horse is as smart and cagey as a coyote and one of the hardest things in the world to catch. I should like to see Mr. Riley demonstrate his skill, but unfortunately we are not employing any outside help."

The horses will be rounded up by forest rangers, CCC enrollees, deputy sheriffs and stockmen of the district, he said.

After hours of toil, De Hand got the bus clear and drove the children home.

The next day his arms and legs were paralyzed. Dr. Herbert Sperry of Williamson said neuritis was the cause.
