Bride-elect Honored At Several Affairs Preceding Nuptials

A much feted bride-to-be is Miss Frances Sparrow, whose marriage to James Firth, of San Francisco, will be solemnized next Saturday evening in an eight o'clock ceremony at St. Mark's Episcopal church.

Earlier this week Miss Sparrow announced members of the wedding party, choosing as her maid of honor, her sister, Miss Harriet Sparrow. Bridesmaids will be Miss Marion Rankin, of Portland, a cousin of the groom, Kenneth Firth, brother of James, will act as best man and usherers will be F. D. Clark, of Stockton, Calif., and Howard Osborne, W. W. Aldrich and James Hayes.

A large number of affairs have honored Miss Sparrow since the announcement of her betrothal late last fall. Colony club members have arranged a number of club affairs for the bride-elect and several private affairs have been given for her.

Among the most recent hostesses honoring Miss Sparrow was Mrs. W. W. Aldrich, who invited a number of guests for bridge and tea at her home on Valley View Drive Wednesday afternoon of this week. Last Sunday evening, eighteen guests were invited by Mr. and Mrs. Corbin Edgell for dinner honoring Miss Sparrow, and on the Saturday evening preceding Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Muirhead and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Luther were co-hosts to a large number for a progressive supper party at the home of both, at which Miss Sparrow was also honored.

A number of out-of-town guests are expected for the wedding, which will be one of the most prominent of the whole year.

Mrs. Swedenburg Hostess to Group

Mrs. F. O. Swedenburg was hostess last Wednesday afternoon to ladies of the auxiliary to the Jackson County Medical association at her home in Ashland, the Ashland group acting as joint hostesses for others in the county.

Twenty-one were in the group, including two guests, Mrs. Frank J. Hansen and Mrs. August Grone, of Portland, who was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. L. D. Inakeep.

Appearing on the afternoon's program, which followed the business session, was Mrs. E. A. Woods, of Ashland, in two piano solos; the first, a special arrangement of "Aloha Oe," and "Waters of Manhattan."

Also on the program were Mrs. Inakeep, who reviewed the life of Pasteur for the group, and Mrs. W. P. Holt, presenting current events.

Ashland Guests
At Legion program
Among the out-of-town members who were guests of the Medford auxiliary to the American Legion for the Americanization program last Monday evening were a number from the Ashland group, including Mrs. R. D. Gano, president of the Ashland auxiliary.

The meeting was a joint one with Medford and adjoining towns combining the session.

Veterans, Auxiliary Plan Wednesday Meet
A pot-luck dinner is being planned to precede the Wednesday evening meeting of Colonel Sargent's camp, United Spanish War Veterans and the auxiliary at the armory. Dinner will be served at six-thirty and the meeting is called for eight o'clock.

All auxiliary members are requested to bring a covered dish. Visiting members are cordially invited, and all members urged to attend. The camp and auxiliary are anxious to contact all who are eligible for membership in the organization. Those desiring to do so, or wishing information may call 445-X.

Reservations may be made by calling the club, and the committee requests that such reservations be made Tuesday.

Arts, Craftsmanship Subjects Discussed At Thursday Meeting

At this week's meeting of the Thursday Morning Study club, Mrs. William Miller, in charge of the Magazine Calendar, presented the subject, "How Britain Does It," stressing the weakness and great strength of Britain by describing financial and economical developments to the present status.

Processes and developments of glass making from the earliest recognition of the art was educationally presented by Mrs. R. W. Sleeter. Historical sketches of masters and many famous makers of glassware were included. A display of a private collection of some very old and lovely glassware made a fitting background for the discussion.

Continuing the program of arts and crafts, Mrs. Janouch presented a paper on "Period Furniture," developing the subject from early crudely made furniture through separate periods to the early American and Colonial. Photographic prints enhanced the romantic story of furniture woods and craftsmanship.

Elsie DeWolfe's "After All" was reviewed by Mrs. L. L. Sanders, the speaker portraying the life of the author and how she became one of the world's greatest interior decorators. The review was felt by the audience to be a fitting finish to a highly enjoyable program.
