

'NORTH TO ORIENT' MOST IN DEMAND AT CITY LIBRARY

Ann Lindbergh's Book Tops Non-Fiction Selections—Request for Periodicals Shows Inquiring Minds

Ann Lindbergh's 'North to the Orient' was the most popular book of non-fiction at the Medford library during February, a survey revealed today.

In the fiction classification the Green Light and the Magnificent Obsession, both by Douglas, led all others in popular appeal.

Magazines most in demand continued to be those devoted primarily to current events, indicating a continuance of public interest in economic, government and political.

Both the progressive and conservative periodicals are being read with equal avidity, a fact interpreted by the librarians as revealing an inquiring mind.

Seeking Solution There is now a much greater demand for journals of opinion and current events than there was prior to the economic upheaval of 1929, it was said.

Other works of fiction, in the order of their popularity during February, were: Anthony Adverse, by Allen; Good-bye Mr. Chips and Lost Horizon, by James Hilton; Honey in the Horn, by Davis; Spring Came on Forever, by Aldrich; Time Out of Mind, by Field; Mutiny on the Bounty, by Hall and Nordhoff; The Killing Fagant; Three Englishmen, by Frankau; Golden Cord, by Deering; Young Benny, by de la Roche; Blood Relations, by Phillip Gibbs; and If I Have Your Apple, by Lawrence.

Following Mrs. Lindbergh's travel volume, non-fiction books most in demand were: List Representative Seven Pillars of Wisdom; Lawrence; the Woodcock; Life With Father and God and My Father, by Clarence Day; Seven League Boots, by Halliburton; Mary, Queen of Scots, by Zweig; Skin Deep, by M. C. Phillips; Gringa, by Squire; Facing Two Ways, by Baroness Ishimoto; My Country and My People, by Lin Yutang; Old Jewels, by Sandoe; Your Tell-Tale English, by Hadida; Asylum, by Seabrook; What Makes It Seem So Queer, by Seabury; and Discovery, by Byrd.

Both lists were described by the librarians as being representative of the best of recent literature, the readers' selections revealing a discriminating choice.

Several magazines are to be added soon to the circulating group, including Time, Architectural Record, American Magazine of Art, the Weaver and the Forum.

Evangelist Long Holds Interest At First Baptist Evangelistic services at the First Baptist church, under leadership of Rev. Long, are being well attended and are gaining in interest.

Friday night, Mr. Long will speak on "Signs of Our Lord's Return," with special music, the choir singing "Hiding in Thee," and a special rag picture, "The Rock of Ages."

This will also be married people's night, with a gift for the couple married the longest time and a gift for the ones married the shortest time. All married people are urged to attend.

Sunday forenoon Mr. Long will preach on "The Light of the World," inviting as special guests all elderly people. The oldest man and woman present will receive a gift of flowers from the evangelist.

Sunday night the subject will be "Jesus Before Pilate," with a special rag picture of Christ before Pilate. Mrs. Long will sing a solo, "Why Christ Died for My Sin."

JUNIOR SYMPHONY WILL GIVE FIRST PROGRAM MAR. 17

First public appearance of the Medford Junior symphony orchestra, under the direction of John R. Knight, will be made the evening of March 17, in the high school auditorium.

Assisting in the program will be the high school glee club, directed by Miss Floy Young, and Miss Marcia Van Dyke, of Grants Pass, violinist, who will be guest soloist.

The orchestra, which now has a membership of 51 young musicians of Jackson county, has been rehearsing throughout the winter months, and Director Knight states that he feels a great deal of progress has been made toward a really fine musical group.

Members of the orchestra came from communities throughout the county. A group picture of the young musicians is on display at the Chamber of Commerce.

Knights of Pythias are sponsoring the orchestra and furnishing a practice room.

Plans for the birthday celebration March 17 will be completed at a meeting of Medford post, American Legion, Tuesday evening in Knights of Pythias hall at Fifth and Grape streets.

Case Wymore, chief de grace of 40 at 8, today requested the presence of all members of his fun unit at Tuesday's session, as matters of special importance to them are to be discussed.

A special speaker will be here March 17 for Medford's observance of the Legion's anniversary, and a covered dish supper will be served, the celebration to be brought to a close with a dance, Lee Garlock stated.

The festivities will be held in the West Main street hall of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. Invitations have been sent to the posts in Grants Pass, Kerby and Ashland.

Plans have been made for the construction of a new home by Ernest L. Barnes, insurance adjuster, on the southeast corner of East Main street and Barneburg road. Work on the dwelling is to start soon.

It will be a modern, eight-room, story and a half home of whitewashed veneered brick similar to houses considered characteristic of architecture in the southwest. Mr. Barnes said.

The dwelling will be 74 by 80 feet. It will have two baths and a central heating plant in the basement where there will also be a shower room, Mr. Barnes related. He now resides at 27 Glen Oak court.

PORTLAND BUTTER PRICES TAKE SKID

Portland, Ore., March 5.—(AP)—There was a loss of 1 1/2-2 1/2 c. for the late cube butter session with the greatest decline in first or last quality grade. The fact that only 1 1/2 c. loss was shown for standard grade gave that stock the same price as extreme quality, a condition that does not exist in resale market.

The cutting of the butterfat buying price by 2c. suggested instead the change in cube butter value. There was a further slump in egg prices as a result of continued increase of offerings. On the exchange losses were 1 to 2c except standard medium, which were unchanged.

Very strong live chicken market was continued with record buying prices, especially in light weight Leghorns.

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP)—Bar silver steady and unchanged at 44 1/2. San Francisco Butter SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—(AP-USA)—Butter, score: 92-31 1/2.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 5.—(AP)—A circuit court jury speedily convicted Joe E. Smith of robbery by force while not armed with a dangerous weapon. Judge James Stapleton will pronounce sentence tomorrow.
