

URGE FEDERAL AID TO SAVE FORESTS ON CRATER ROUTE

State Parks Superintendent Writes Col. TouVelle Suggesting Concerted Effort to Preserve Timber

Federal aid in preservation of scenic forests adjoining the Crater Lake highway, near Prospect, is proposed in a letter from S. H. Boardman, superintendent of the Oregon state parks commission to Marshall Dana, associate editor of the Portland Journal, a copy of which has been received by Col. F. L. TouVelle, of Jacksonville, TouVelle, a member of the state highway commission, said that body is vitally interested in preservation of the forest.

Superintendent Boardman, in his letter, recommends that the way-side timber be made a part of the Crater Lake national park, and that every effort should be made by the government toward acquiring these timbered strips.

The letter follows: "Your inquiry regarding the status of acquiring the way-side strips on the Crater Lake highway between Prospect and the Crater Lake national forest, a distance of some four miles, duly received.

"The timber is owned by the Rogue River Timber company and for a number of years an exchange has been attempted between the timber company and the forest service. It reached the point where the forest service offered to trade a government owned timbered tract located in the Cascade National forest, east of Cottage Grove, for the timber bordering the Crater Lake highway east of Prospect. The Rogue River Timber company rejected this proposal on the ground of extra cost of operation and location.

"It seems to me that it is the logical thing for the forest service to acquire this bordering tract since it joins the Crater Lake National forest. Recent national legislation permits avenues of acquisition. The cash cost of this acquisition is some $75,000. The state has not the funds to make this purchase. It is a natural addition to the Crater Lake forest, as it adjoins it. The supervision, management, and maintenance is now set up for the Crater Lake forest. There would be little increase in cost by this addition. The state has no organization for the care and maintenance of this proposed area. The government is vitally interested in the protecting of the scenic areas of this highway, due to its investment at Crater Lake. True, the state has a similar interest, but it does not have the facilities that the government has in acquiring this area. I feel that every effort should be made by the government in the acquiring of these timbered strips."

HOTEL WORKERS ORDERED TO JOIN NEW YORK STRIKE

the realty group which has refused to negotiate with the union on the issue of the closed shop.

Disorders Decrease
Strike moves were marked by comparative peace. Disorders decreased, although four men were arrested in the Bronx on a charge of damaging two apartment buildings.

The main strike, that of building workers called last Sunday by the building service employees' union, progressed slowly, with strike leaders withholding their threats to "pull" elevator operators and other workers in the Grand Central zone, district of many of the city's tallest buildings.

From Albany came the disclosure that the state national guard had considered plans for possible emergency action in New York City, but Brigadier General Walter G. Robinson, head of the guard, said he believes possibility of guardmen being called to duty "very remote."

Aid General strike
The "general strike" threat voiced earlier in the week by James J. Barwick, head of the building service employees' union, received a measure of support from Paul N. Goulicher, secretary-treasurer of the hotel and restaurant employees' union.
Goulicher announced that 5,000 kitchen and dining room workers in 100 hotels would join the picket lines.
Varying figures concerning effectiveness and extent of the strike came from union officials and police.
The union claimed that of 10,398 buildings affected, agreements had been signed with 1,448.
Police reported the number of buildings affected was 1,820 and that agreements had been signed with 115 of these.

ORDER ROUNDUP OF WILD HORSES APPLIGATE AREA

range custom calls for all spring roundups in April.

Forest Ranger Lee port, in charge of the district, has announced a corral with a feeder chute will be built, and on the roundup day cowboys and CCC enrollees from nearby camps will be enlisted to gather the indigent equines into the fold. Close to 200 CCC enrollees and cowboys are expected to participate in the drive.

Once corralled, the animals will be impounded for a ten-day period. Owners of branded horses may claim them. The remainder, Oregon law requires, shall be sold to the highest bidder.

Ranger Port reports the horses would be of no value, save for fox feed or rumpageous mounts for rodeos.

The summer stamping ground of the band is in the Dutchman's Peak country, and the winter range is the low-lying plateaus that border the upper Applegate area.

Stockmen report April is the ideal month for the roundup, because the wild horses are still weak from scant winter forage and not as frisky as after a month of grazing on green grass.

DR. LAMB RITES 2 P. M. SATURDAY

Funeral services for Dr. Leonard L. Lamb, 50, will be held at the Congregational chapel at 2 p. m. Saturday, with the local Masonic lodge in full charge. Interment will be in the Siskiyou Memorial park.

Dr. Lamb was born in Muscatine county, Iowa, August 16, 1885. He attended the State University of Iowa and the Washington University medical school of St. Louis, Mo., from which he graduated in 1910. On August 30, 1911, he was married to Gertrude Sweeney at Monon, Ind., to which union two sons were born, Robert H. and Charles William Lamb, both of Medford. He also leaves his wife of Medford, and his father, Chas. H. Lamb of Iowa.

Dr. Lamb practiced medicine in South Dakota and Montana, and because of failing health, retired in 1925. The family came to Medford six years ago and upon the opening of the CCC camps, he was employed as contract surgeon and was stationed at Camp South Fork when stricken with his last illness.

TRAINING COURSE FOR SCOUT HEADS HELD IN ASHLAND

Fifteen local scout leaders met Wednesday night at the city hall in Ashland for an extensive leadership training course. District Commissioner M. W. Hanel of Ashland district introduced Larry J. Schade, Crater Lake area council Boy Scout president, who led the training discussions during the first session. His subject was "The Troop Committee and Its Important Place in the Scouting Program." Schade pointed out the proper organization of a Boy Scout troop committee, outlining the duties under five headings: committee man No. 1, chairman; committee man No. 2, record and finance man; committee man No. 3, advancement and training man, and committee man No. 4, secretary and publicity man, and committee man No. 5, the out-of-door and activities man.

Duties of each member of the troop committee were definitely set forth. The following session was under direction of the new council scout executive, Irving P. Beasley, who explained how the scoutmaster and his green-bar council consisting of the boy leaders in the troop could plan their programs a month in advance and include each member of the troop committee for assignments pertaining to their respective duties.

Those present and taking an active part were J. H. Fuller, council scout of honor chairman; Dr. Walter Bedford, council vice-president and leadership and training chairman; Rev. D. E. Noruse, Ashland district committee chairman and a member of the Crater Lake area council board of directors; Frank J. VanDyke, chairman of the Ashland district finance committee and treasurer of the district; Hugh Bates, Ashland district committeeman; V. D. Miller, Ashland district reading committee; D. Perenzel, chairman Ashland troop 13 troop committee; Guy T. Applewhite, troop 13 troop committee member; Elwood Hedberg, troop 13 troop committeeman; W. B. Knox, assistant scoutmaster troop 13; C. J. Baughman, troop 12 Ashland troop committeeman, and Wm. Roy Gray, veteran scoutmaster troop 12.

SPRING-LIKE WEATHER BRINGS OUT GOLFERS

The spring-like weather prevailing has occasioned the first real migration of golfers to the open, according to F. W. Chausse of the Medford public golf course, who today stated that golfers in ever increasing numbers are taking advantage of the balmy weather to whack the pill around.

The public greens have been trimmed to the quick, providing accurate putting. Last Sunday, Oliver P. Wilson, business manager of the Medford News, did not need this advantage, however, for his tee shot off No. 8 carried to the cup for the first time ever turned in at the course. No. 8 is a 180-yard hole.

Polk Pays First
SALEM, March 6. — (AP) — Polk county was the first to remit its first quarter state taxes for 1936. State Treasurer Rufus C. Holman reported. The amount was $11,492.20.

Those present and taking an active part were J. H. Fuller, council scout of honor chairman; Dr. Walter Bedford, council vice-president and leadership and training chairman; Rev. D. E. Noruse, Ashland district committee chairman and a member of the Crater Lake area council board of directors; Frank J. VanDyke, chairman of the Ashland district finance committee and treasurer of the district; Hugh Bates, Ashland district committeeman; V. D. Miller, Ashland district reading committee; D. I am telling EVERYBODY

When I hear people fussing about the coffee they're using I feel sorry for them. For I found out how irritating "tasteless coffee" can be when I was experimenting with one brand of coffee after another, trying to save a few pennies a week on my coffee bill.

But there's no reason for anybody to have coffee trouble these days! All you have to do is buy Hills Bros. Coffee. If you've been thinking that it costs a lot more, just go down to your grocer's and buy a pound. A pleasant surprise is awaiting you. What's more, you'll tell your friends the good news — just as I'm telling you.
