LANGE DELIVERS 2 MORE AIRFLOWS

After weeks of deliberation and demonstrations of the many cars on the market, Promoter Mack Lillard yesterday purchased a Chrysler Imperial Airflow from the Lange Motor Co., according to E. C. "Jerry" Jerome of the Lange sales staff.

Mr. Jerome says "Mr. Lillard is very proud of the fact that he now is the owner of the outstanding car of the day, both from the standpoint of appearance, as well as superior performance."

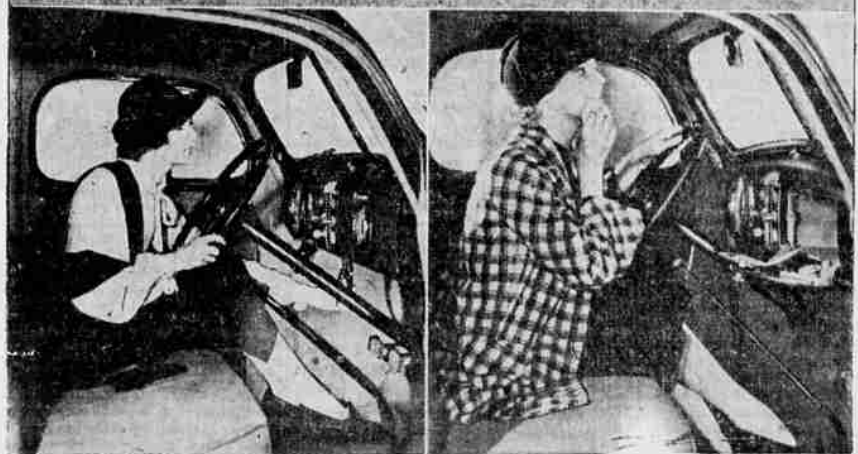

H. B. Hurst, of Ashland, has just purchased his second Chrysler Airflow from the Lange Motor Co. Mr. Hurst says the ease of handling, the comfort and the exceptionally high gasoline mileage made with the Chrysler automatic overdrive on his first Airflow convinced him that the Airflow is the only car that can give him complete satisfaction.

"No car, however costly, can match the luxurious floating ride of the Chrysler Airflow. For speed, economy, and smooth effortless performance, it has literally no equal in all the world. It's a big, luxurious car yet it holds amazing transcontinental economy records."

"The airflow unit body and frame is the greatest advance in body design and construction since motor cars were invented. By every test they are the safest automobile bodies in the world."

H. F. Lange is leaving today for Portland to bring back several new Airflows.

LUXURY AND STYLE---1936 MODEL---IN OLDSMOBILE

Oldsmobile's claims to leadership in exterior style and interior luxury are pictured above. Oldsmobile's claims to quality and balanced engineering are not visible—but they are present in knee-action wheels, super-hydraulic brakes, centercontrol steering, side stabilizer, electrohardened aluminum pistons, rifle drilled connecting rods, and many other mechanical advantages. But the appearance speaks for itself. The new front end treatment, with die cast grille, high mounted head-lamps, attractive louvers, graceful sweep of fenders and hood, solid steel top, all blend into the harmony of grace which is the 1936 Oldsmobile. Above is shown the low priced Oldsmobile Six Four Door Touring Sedan. Center left is pictured the convenient new position of the handbrake. Center right, the spacious package compartment, handy for milady's makeup.

VALLEY BOURBONS PARLEY MONDAY

Democrats of Jackson county will analyze the political prospects of 1936 tomorrow when two state leaders will call here on an inspection tour around southern and eastern Oregon.

The Bourbon chiefs are Frank Tierney, executive secretary of the Democratic state central committee, and Leo Goslin, secretary to Governor Charles H. Martin, who is believed to be undergoing a grooming for the governorship himself when General Martin steps down.

The two visiting speakers will be honor guests at a luncheon to be held under the auspices of Ashland Democrats in the Lithia hotel tomorrow noon. William Grenbamer, secretary of the Jackson county Democratic central committee, is in charge of the luncheon arrangements.

A delegation of 15 or 20 Medford Democrats, under leadership of Ralph O. Stephenson, county committee chairman, will attend the luncheon. After the Ashland event Mr. Tierney and Mr. Goslin will be brought to Medford and during the afternoon open house will be observed at Democratic headquarters, 133 West Main street.

The county committee will sponsor a public meeting in headquarters at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at which both Mr. Tierney and Mr. Goslin will speak. In announcing the meeting Mr. Stephenson urged especially that young Democrats attend as the visitors have an important message particularly for them.

Mr. Tierney and Mr. Goslin spoke last night in Coquille. After their visit here they will proceed to Klamath Falls and important communities of eastern Oregon.

Perry L. Ashcraft Is Appointed Local Packard Car Dealer

The Packard Motor Car company has just appointed Perry L. Ashcraft new local Packard dealer. Mr. Ashcraft's showroom will continue to be located with J. J. Osenbrugg at 132 South Riverside.

Mr. Ashcraft, who has the Packard agency for Jackson and Josephine counties, says: "Packard, and only Packard, has adhered to a basic design over a period of years."

"Thirty years ago Packard established the policy of protecting its owners against undue depreciation because of radical yearly style changes. It has taken Packard these thirty years to reach a point where most residents of America, and many residents of most foreign countries, not only recognize a Packard on sight, but recognize in its distinctive lines a symbol of beauty and quality."

"During these years this policy of 'style insurance' has saved Packard owners millions of dollars in depreciation costs and has played a major part in building for Packard the largest fine car clientele in the world."

"Today, the man who buys a new Packard 120 not only gets what we believe, sincerely, to be the finest car made at anywhere near its price—a car that is easy to buy and inexpensive to own—but, beyond this, he gets a car that stays smart as long as he cares to drive it."
