SPORTS

KARASICK, HOLLIS CHICK AND JONES WRESTLE MONDAY

It will be wile against brute force, guile against slugging, and experience against hot headedness on the main event of next Monday's main event wrestling bout at the Armory, when Al Karasick, the Russian Lion, matches his skill against Ken Hollis, the battering Oaf of the Ozarks.

The Hollis type wrestler is considered an excellent foil for the Karasick attack, the Russian relying upon a seeming wooziness to lead his opponent into some rash act, and then coming out of the feigned coma to flatten the rash one with a well directed fist or knee. The two have never met in the local ring, but Medford fans themselves asked Promoter Mack Lillard to arrange the bout, he said today in announcing the lineup.

The middle main event will feature Dude Chick, powerful and clever ex-rodeo rider, against Stanley Rogers, leathery Texan. Rogers won over Mike Caddock in the evening opener last Monday, and has begged Lillard for a try against Chick. Of the old school, Rogers possesses no spectacular holds such as are in the Chick bag of tricks, so depends on straight wrestling, including hammer locks and scissor holds, to beat an opponent down.

Mike Caddock, rough house artist who ended his last match black in the face from an effective bit of hanging, instigated by Referee Ray Frisble with a towel, will meet a newcomer to Medford in the opener. The new man is Dr. Barney Cosneck, Ph.D., from the University of Illinois. Young and good-looking, the Jewish man is said to be clean, fast and aggressive, and knows wrestling from both ends. Seldom relying on dirty work because his straight stuff generally proves efficacious, Cosneck can get rough when he has to, Lillard said.

The opener and the middle event will be under the Australian system.

ROSS WINS NOD OVER CANADIAN TITLEHOLDER

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 12.—(AP)—Barney Ross, world welterweight champion, held a 10-round decision today over Gordon Wallace, Canadian titleholder, who almost fell by the wayside in the last round of their overweight, non-championship fight.

The champion from Chicago withstood the best Wallace had to offer and finished strong—holding up the Canadian and driving uppercuts to the chin and stomach.

Ross, 142½, gave away five inches in reach and 5½ pounds to Wallace who entered the ring at 148.

Atlasic sheets of rubber will be used for the Olympic games in Berlin next summer as a precaution against bad weather.

By DICK APPLEGATE

The basketball season is over for the Medford high school. The season, all in all, was truly a successful one, with only five defeats. It is an unusual basketball team indeed which gets through a season with only five defeats. It will be remembered that the almost miraculous string of victories turned in by the University of Washington team, hailed as the greatest squad ever to come out of the northwest, was broken by defeats at the hands of Idaho and Washington State.

When it is considered that only two of the Medford players, Van Dyke and Lewis, were rated as real basketball players at the start of the season, the record of the Tigers becomes even more impressive. The annual gloom over next year's prospects has already started to fall, however. Lewis and VanDyke will be gone after mid-year, and Bowerman will have to build his squad around his Sophomore Shocks, including Hayes, Santo, Grow, Ettinger and the rest. Little Red Childers is, unless we miss our guess by a very long way, going to be reckoned among the first five next year.

Hayes, the long-legged, large-footed center, has improved so vastly during the season just past that Coach Bowerman has high hopes for a similar improvement next year, which, if it comes, will make young Doc extremely valuable, not only as the tip-off, but under the net. His record under that net wasn't too impressive this year, although he was getting better toward the end of the year. Perhaps it was because of his learning to handle those gigantic dogs. The story that opposing players were standing on the end of his feet and he was consequently getting only about a foot off the ground is a little far-fetched, but may be true for all we know.

Letter from Patrick Francis Peck today. The big gorilla is in San Francisco, booked solid for the next couple of weeks. But while away from this city, Frankie assures us that he has gone back to school for awhile. Not to study history or geography, for he already knows that better than most teachers, but to study wrestling! Jack Reynolds lightweight champion for the past 14 years, and one of the most scientific of all the wrestlers, is his tutor, and he is studying books on wrestling as well. He is also perusing various volumes on football. Those sonnenbergs of Wilson's must have made a terrific impression on the man.

GOLDEN MILLER WINS CHELTENHAM

CHELTENHAM, Eng., March 12.—(AP)—Dorothy Paget's Golden Miller today won the Cheltenham gold cup steeplechase for the fifth time and retrieved his reputation which was besmirched when he refused to jump in a recent race.

H. Lloyd Thomas' Royal Mail finished second and Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's American owned Kellsboro Jack came in third, in a field of six starters. M. D. Blair's American owned Fouquet fell during the three miles and two furlongs race.

The betting favorite at 21 to 20, Golden Miller was ridden by Evan Williams and won by 12 lengths. Royal Mail, a 5 to 1 shot, finished two lengths in front of Kellsboro Jack, quoted at 10 to 1.

JACKSONVILLE QUINTS STAGE FINAL RALLY

JACKSONVILLE, March 12.—(Spl.)—Jacksonville basketball teams, grade high and town, will wind up the season with a four-ply tangle at the gym Friday night.

The high school team is matched against the town team, Midgets with the 7th grade, and the 4th and 5th grades with a Medford grade team.

The purpose of this meet which is sponsored by the graders is to raise funds and to give Jacksonville a chance to see all the home town teams in action at once.

Grants Pass High To Play Baseball

GRANTS PASS, March 12.—(Spl.)—Baseball as a minor sport was officially adopted by the high school student body association Wednesday. Practice will be started this season.

Possibility of securing much of the needed equipment free of charge was explained by Principal J. F. Swigart, who said the Grants Pass Merchants baseball club will give $50 to the high school for purchase of equipment and lend them other necessities.

A local company has offered to furnish suits as an advertising feature, so that the minimum of cash outlay for the high school would be $37. Without these outside sources aiding, the cost of starting a high school baseball club this year would be about $350.

BOWLING

The Standard Roofers bowling team last night defeated the Abbey Motor squad, 3 and 1, in a city league game. The Medco team bowled alone and demanded a forfeiture from the Economy Lumber team when that outfit failed to show up for their scheduled battle.

GOLD FISH GIVEN NEW PEP SUPPLY IN WASH MACHINE

OAKLAND, Cal.—(UP)—The rejuvenation of gold fish by means of the family washing machine will be one of the permanent contributions to modern science of the research workers of the federal writers' project of this city.

The federal writers, in search of material for the great American Guide Book, which they are to compile, visited a manufacturer of washing machines. It developed the latter had sold 10 machines to the proprietor of a goldfish hatchery. This incongruity sounded like real material for the guide book.

They visited the gold fish hatchery, and this is what they learned:

It had been his custom when anyone wanted to buy a gold fish to provide the prospective purchaser with a long-handled net and let him catch the particular ones that struck his fancy. The idea also proved great sport for the customers.

But after a time, the proprietor noticed that his ponds were rapidly being depleted of all the young, lively fish, while the old sluggish ones who hadn't enough pep left in them to give his customers a thrill in trying to catch them, remained.

He decided that perhaps the fault lay in the nets; that they needed cleaning to stimulate life in the fish.

So he put several of them into the family washing machine, using only plain water and turning on the current at a lively rate. When he was about to take out the nets, he happened to notice that one of the oldest gold fish was cavorting about with the freshness of youth.

He immediately transferred it back to the pond and there it showed even more life than when in the washing machine.

The hatchery proprietor began to study this strange situation. He reasoned that the gold fish, accidentally put into the washing machine, had been obliged to buck the current of the water. He had jumped miniature water falls, he had breasted small waves and strong currents, and, getting back into the current of life again, he had become his old self.

The old fish in the pond were put through the same rejuvenating process; the gold fish industry regained its youth.

SPORT SLANTS

by Pap

A severe case of the doldrums clutches the critics in England, in their forecast of British golf prospects after the 1935 pounding by American siege guns.

It leaves them sour and saddened.

"The amateur game is still under the domination of America," bemoans one commentator, "and the revival of British supremacy so gallantly started by Henry Cotton in 1934 has not been maintained."

Don't ask, "What supremacy?" It simply isn't done. The record reads:

1924—W. Hagen (U. S. A.)
1925—J. Barnes (U. S. A.)
1926—R. T. Jones (U. S. A.)
1927—R. T. Jones (U. S. A.)
1928—W. Hagen (U. S. A.)
1929—W. Hagen (U. S. A.)
1930—R. T. Jones (U. S. A.)
1931—T. D. Armour (U. S. A.)
1932—G. Sarazen (U. S. A.)
1933—D. Shute (U. S. A.)

Caddish To Comment

And judging from that roll call, with Uncle Sam answering "Present!" for ten straight years, it may seem that any British supremacy belongs a long time ago.

But the subject is painful, over there, and when anyone mentions it there is only one comment:

"By gad, Sir. The man is a cad—he ought to be drummed out of his club!"

Men have been drummed out of their clubs for far less. You see them in the Punjab, in Pago Pago, and in pith helmets and knee-panties, very bony—outcasts, cut dead by any Englishman worth his salt.

Actually, Cotton's "revival-of-supremacy" feat in winning the 1934 British open title was repeated by his dark-horse compatriot, Alfred Perry, in 1935.

But the British amateur championship had already fallen under the shooting irons of our own Lawson Little, and it remained for the Ryder Cup team—almost blasted off the course by Walter Hagen and his cohorts at Ridgefield, N. J., to make the Merrie Isles ring with woe.

It's All Very Gloomy

Gloom cracked down over the land. British chroniclers of the golfing wars took some cheer from the claim that the absence of Cotton from the Ryder Cup team, enforced by his residence on the continent, handicapped the British invaders.

And apparently going hard on the slogan that "Britons never, never shall be slaves," they wound up by exulting that "Perry's open championship success, in a field which included several leading American golfers, proved that we have the material capable of restoring England to her original leading place in the world of golf."

But in the face of the chill facts of 1935, they bleakly admit, there's still a long, long trail a-winding.
