

GREAT PHYSICIAN IS ONLY ONE ABLE CURE SIN MALADY

Speaking Sunday morning at the Church of the Nazarene on "The Cross and the Speaking Blood," Fred M. Weatherford, pastor evangelist, drew his text from Luke 23:44-45. "And there was darkness over all the earth." Excerpts from his message follow:

"There is a malady universally prevalent in the life of man for which medical science cannot prescribe. That malady is sin. Ever since the human race became inoculated with that fatal malady the medical world has been pained to its wits end in its efforts to combat the effects of sin. While successful to a most commendable degree in regarding temporary relief to human ills, it has ever remained impotent to deal with its source. Their patients invariably eventuate in death.

"Sin is hatred in the heart. It is chargeable for all malicious and hurtful disturbances in society, be it crime, greed, graft or lust.

"Though beyond the power of man to produce a remedy for sin, God gave to the world the only one who can prescribe the antidote for sin. It is the Great Physician.

"Suffering from an anemic moral collapse through the virus imposed by sin, Christ's remedy for the world's recovery is a mystical, though vital blood transfusion. He said 'This is my blood in the New Testament which is shed for many for the remission of sins.' All who have taken the remedy have recovered from the malady. It works today; through faith in that silent, though ever-speaking blood.

"At the time of Christ's crucifixion incident to His sacrifice to redeem the world, God featured darkness at midday, and that in keeping with the word of prophets Amos 8:9, 'I shall come to that day, saith the Lord God, that I will cause the sun to go down at noon, and I will darken the earth in the clear day.' Both the historian Tertullian and the anti-Christian administration of Celsus verify the actuality of that darkness.

"That darkness is an indication of the Father's wrath against sin. It is also proof of the Son's righteousness. It pre-figures the awful course of sin, yet it shows us how much stronger God's love is to save us, than our sins are to damn us.

"There were four professions of faith during the day, at the speaker's invitation.

MALCOLM C. TAMS IS LAID TO REST

Services for Malcolm Cumming Tams were held at Per's funeral home February 13, conducted by Rev. H. H. Young, pastor of St. Peter's church. Accompanied by Mrs. H. E. Marsh at the organ, Mr. Fred Gustafson sang the 32d psalm, Mrs. Roland Holmes and Miss Sarah Theide sang "Old Hundred."

Services opened with the organ selection, "One Sweetly, Solemn Thought" and closed with, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." Messrs. Scott McLaren, Ted Gustafson, Ernest Ruener, and Joe Rinehart were the pall bearers, with Mrs. Ted Gustafson, Ora Mae Theide and Mrs. Scott McLaren as flower girls.

Interment was in Skakyou Memorial park. Rev. Young chose as his text the story of David from 2nd Samuel, 12:21 and 22.

A very consoling sermon was delivered, he explaining that while it is only human to grieve, the Lord is no wise criticizer for those emotions, illustrating from the fact that Jesus wept on learning that Lazarus had died.

In referring to David, Reverend Young pointed the way to mitigating grief from acknowledging that all are God's children, that all must at some time depart, but will be joined again.

Malcolm Cumming Tams was born in Medford, Ore., November 17, 1929, and lived his entire life in this city.

On Easter Sunday, 1933, he was baptized in St. Peter's Lutheran church, and was a member of Beginners class in St. Peter's Sunday school. He was enrolled in Washington school kindergarten class, and took keen interest in his school work. Little Mack, as he was affectionately called, was an active child with a pleasing disposition. His sunny smile and ready wit made him a great favorite with everyone he met.

He was stricken with a meningitic ailment February 1, which proved fatal March 9, while a patient at Sacred Heart hospital. During his long illness and extreme suffering his courage never faltered, and his earnest cooperation continued to increase his circle of friends.

He leaves besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Tams of 202 Elm street, two brothers, Tommy and William, and one sister, Sarah Jane. Also his grandparents, Mrs. Claus Tams and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Muhan of Boone, Iowa.

Sam Blythe's Dish Wins Gourmets Championship

DEL MONTE, Calif., March 17.—(AP)—American Society of Gourmets offered the nation sweetbreads a la Samuel O. Blythe today as 1935 champion dish.

The political writer's concoction won first prize in the society's annual contest Saturday night, after a close race with choice recipes of two other entrants, Sherwood Anderson, the author, took second with his baked ham preparation while third went to Alfred Lunt and Lynne Fontaine, the stage couple, for a meat balls recipe.

Judges abstained from cigarettes, appetizers and cocktails for six hours before sampling began so their palates might function normally.

Here is Blythe's winning recipe:

Soak the sweetbreads in salted water one-half hour. Place them in a saucepan and just cover with water, to which a tablespoon of vinegar has been added. Let simmer 20 minutes. Remove and dip immediately in cold water. Season with salt and pepper. Dip in white of an egg and roll in finely-ground black walnut meats. Sauté slowly in a covered pan. When well sautéed, serve at once. Harry Leon Wilson, author, and president of the society announced the winner.

Dishes that fell by the wayside included Mrs. Roosevelt's Sunday-night-at-the-White-House scrambled eggs; author William Beebrook's sardines and jam; and author Ben Hecht's lobster.

Pilots Unhurt In Plane Groundloop

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 17.—(AP)—Two Wyoming air line pilots escaped unhurt early today when their transport nosed over as it was taking off from Cheyenne airport on a regular southbound trip to Denver. There were no passengers, but the dual motored monoplane had some mail which was reported undamaged.

Pilot Joe Lefterink and Co-pilot Jerry Spears climbed out of the ship after it had sheared off some small trees in a nursery and crashed through a fence, and walked back to the airport to get another plane.

Transport Plane In Forced Landing

CLEVELAND, March 17.—(AP)—Pilot Maurice Marrs brought a large twin motored transport plane containing nine passengers to the ground safely in a cornfield 60 miles west of here late last night after a heavy snowstorm had blotted out Cleveland airport.

Marrs made a perfect landing on the soggy farmland, said Philip A. Vogelman of New York, a passenger. Airport attaches here marveled at the feat.

ed from a secret session of the council, were standing about the hall of St. James palace.

A messenger entered the palace and delivered the telegram to the league secretariat. As soon as it was delivered the delegates immediately returned to their chamber to resume the meeting.

Holds Peace Hope

Authoritative sources said that Hitler's reply had opened wide new possibilities for a solution of the European crisis.

General von Ribbentrop, it was stated, will take part in the discussions beginning Thursday.

The basic position of the French, who said they refused to negotiate, remained unchanged, but the definite news that Hitler had yielded sufficiently to send an emissary was believed likely to pave the way for vital negotiations for peace.

Just before the German message was received "officially," Ambassador von Hoesch of Germany went to St. James palace to confer with Stanley M. Bruce, president of the league council.

Bruce talked again with von Hoesch following the receipt of the telegram, and the German envoy immediately telephoned Berlin.

The message from Berlin was the second received from Hitler today. The first was understood to be that he was willing to send representatives to meet with the league council Thursday provided France, Belgium and Great Britain agreed to negotiate his proposals for a new peace structure in Europe.

JEROME RECALLS BOOM IN MEDFORD ON ANNIVERSARY

two-wheeled cart, the mud was so deep. But just the same, things happened around here as fast as you could keep up.

"Down in the Nash one day I saw a 12-acre orchard sell for $12,000, and later that same day it was sold again without the buyer ever going out of the building. That afternoon it was sold for the third time, and brought $36,000.

"Every holiday that came was celebrated, with the Nash bar as the center of attraction. They used to bring in the champagne in tubs and one day one man spent $1200 treating everyone in town to champagne.

"Front street was all saloons. About a week after I got here I wrote a letter to the paper saying what a disgrace it was that women and children had to walk in the street along there. I wasn't very popular after the letter was published.

"Opera was an accepted fact here then. The old opera house was where the Jackson hotel is now. There was another opera house, where the badminton courts are now, but they held boxing matches in it then.

"The thing that struck my fancy most was the fact that there were flowers all over town. The Pickle and Vawter yards were full of them. Where 'we' come from (Crookston, Minn.) there was snow up to your neck, and floods all over the rest of the country. We got here just after the big slide in the Cascades had washed out a train, killing 120 people, and we rode alone on the train from Minot, N. D., to Spokane. Medford looked like heaven when we got here."

Jerome was accompanied by his former, sister and brother, and left for three years after getting them settled, to work for the Northern Pacific.

He returned in 1913 and has been here ever since. He says that Medford "is still a swell town, but a trifle wistfully, as he looks back to the good old boom days.
