Business Women Meet Tomorrow

Mrs. Maude Snider will be hostess to the Business and Professional Women's club at her home, 16 North Orange street, tomorrow evening at eight o'clock.

Appearing on the program will be Mrs. Florence Cook, dietitian and bio-chemist, who will speak on character analysis. Mrs. Cook, formerly of Milwaukee, Wis., is now living near Talent, and has only recently come to southern Oregon.

An innovation in refreshments is found in the announcement that each member will bring a box lunch, to be exchanged with someone else. Members are also cordially invited to bring a guest.

Arrangements for the evening are in charge of Miss Marjorie Youngs. All members are urged to be present.

Young Hostesses Entertain at Tea

Miss Carolyn Hill and Miss Lois France were hostesses at one of the most charming of early spring events when they entertained the latter part of last week with a tea in honor of their friends home for spring vacation.

Scene of the tea was the Hill orchard home, where about fifty guests called between the hours of four and six. Jonquills and daffodils placed in the large rooms added a genuine spring atmosphere.

Presiding at the tea table were the Misses Betty Vilin, Patricia Young, Constance Moore and Betty Thorn-dike.

The affair was one of the many arranged by members of the younger set during the student holiday.

Week-end Guest at Prentice House

Dr. W. S. Proctor, of Berkeley, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Prentice. He stopped en route to Portland where he will board a steamship for China. He expects to spend the next two years in the Orient. Dr. Proctor has a number of friends in Medford and the valley.

Also a guest at the Prentice home during the past few days was Robert Hackney, of San Francisco, who visited Bill Prentice during the spring vacation. Both are students at the University of Oregon and members of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. They returned to school yesterday morning.

Mission Society To Hear Program

Osceola O. Gibson will be hostess to the Women's Missionary society of the South Methodist church at the parsonage tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock.

Included on the afternoon's program will be reports presented by several members on a book, "Women Under the Southern Cross," a study of mission work in South America.

Miss Boyle Back From San Francisco

Miss Gertrude Boyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Boyle, returned this morning from San Francisco, where she was the guest of Miss Helen St. Amant.

Miss Boyle has been in the bay city for the past two weeks. Miss St. Amant, who has visited in Medford, will be remembered by many of Medford's younger set whom she met while here.

COMPANY A SHOWS NOTED IMPROVEMENT; IS NOW RATED FIFTH

Company A, 186th infantry, advanced in February to fifth place in attendance rating for all national guard units in the state, it is shown by a tabulation received today by Capt. Carl Y. Tengwald, commanding officer, from Oregon headquarters in Salem.

The company, it was pointed out, showed a remarkable climb, for it was in 16th place in January and 37th place in December. For February it had an average attendance at drills of 58 out of a possible 60.

The Medford unit was tied in February by Company M, 192nd infantry, Corvallis, which also had an average attendance of 58 out of a possible 60. It was exceeded by only one company of infantry; Company 8, 186th infantry, Portland, which had an average attendance of 63.3 out of a possible 65.

Since its recent reorganization Company A has been forging ahead. It was emphasized, until now it is considered one of the outstanding national guard units in the state.

There are now three vacancies in the company which the officers said they are eager to fill before March 31 after which date no recruits will be accepted for membership unless they have had previous military experience.

PLANS ARE MADE FOR FIRE CHECK

A campaign for the prevention and suppression of forest fires this summer was launched this morning at a meeting of Rogue River national forest rangers in the federal court.

Methods of holding forest fires to the lowest possible point were thoroughly discussed and individual responsibilities carefully outlined. K. P. McReynolds, assistant forester who has received national recognition for his success in fire control work, presided.

The meeting was to continue tomorrow with protective assistants and all the rest of the forest personnel attending. J. E. Campbell and Harry M. White, fire control staff of the regional office in Portland, are to address the meeting.

section of the farm credit administration.

The emergency crop loans will be made only to farmers, who cannot obtain credit from any other source, under the regulations of the former credit administration. Money loaned will be limited to the applicants' immediate and actual cash needs for growing this year's crop. No loan will be for over $200.

Farmers are not eligible for emergency crop loans if they can borrow from an individual, product credit association, bank, or other concern. Farmers will also be ineligible if they have an application pending with the resettlement administration, have received assistance from that organization this year, or are indebted to the resettlement administration for unpaid loans.

The security for an emergency crop loan will be a first lien on the crop financed. Landlords or others, having an interest in the financed crop will be required to waive their lien in favor of the farm credit administration, until the emergency crop loan is paid.

istrict organizer and area board chairman, and selection of Richard Steele as radio announcer.

He would call for removal, he said, of Elbert Eastman, Portland lawyer, who presided over the board meeting at which Hansen's resignation was submitted, as announcer, and James Logan, who was chosen state manager to succeed Hansen.

Eastman contended that another faction telegraphed Simmons asking for authority to overrule the board and that Simmons' reply was sent before he received the board's recommendations.
