CO. A. LAUDED BY REGIMENT CHIEF

Fifty-seven out of 58 enrolled members attended the weekly drill of Company A, 186th Infantry in the Medford armory last night as the national guard unit continued its effort to maintain the high rating it achieved for attendance in February. Several possible recruits for the two company vacancies now existing applied for information and it was expected they would consult further with officers at their weekly meeting in the armory at 7:30 tomorrow night. John W. Gordon, former member, re-enlisted. The men are now receiving instructions in rifle marksmanship preparatory to resumption of practice on the outdoor range within the next fortnight. The following letter was received today by Capt. Carl Y. Tengwald, Company A commander, from Col. Alvin C. Baker, commanding the 186th Infantry with headquarters in Portland. "The regimental commander desires to compliment the officers, non-commissioned officers and enlisted men of Company A, 186th Infantry, for the excellent recovery in drill attendance for the month of February. "Company A rated fifth in the Oregon national guard and the 186th Infantry jumped to second place for the first time. "All units of the regiment are striving to maintain a high drill attendance in order that the 186th Infantry man continue to hold its proper position as the leading infantry regiment of the brigade. "It is requested that this letter be read to the entire company." The letter will be read to the company at next Tuesday's drill. Capt. Tengwald said.

No Fanfare for Second Roundup

A second attempt to round-up the wild horses of the Applegate—this time without publicity or holiday crowds, but with portable wire fencing corrals, and a selected group of cowmen—will be made soon. Forest Ranger Lee Port, in charge of the task, reported yesterday. Ranger Port plans to string the wire fencing around trees, in the natural runways of the wild nags, and thus corral them. The fencing will be packed from place to place, on pack horses. "We will go to the wild horses, instead of trying to drive them to us," Ranger Port stated. "We want to take another whirl at them. As soon as the boys catch up with their spring work, we will organize, and go after them quietly." Ranger Port reports that a band of ten wild horses were seen in the Muddy Gulch district, where the first corral was built, the past week. The first round-up held Sunday, March 15, was thwarted, when the wild horses, headed for the corral, became frightened at the dash of spectators, to the corral, and evading cowboys and a CCC cordon, fled up the mountain side.

MADRIGAL CLUB WINS PRAISE IN FIRST PROGRAM

Remote from music centers of the world but desiring the best in music, local musicians realize that if they want music they must help make it. Hence the usual spring concert, recitals and festivals are eagerly anticipated. If the concert of the Madrigal club last night at the Baldwin Piano Shoppe is an index of what may be expected as the season advances, music lovers will enjoy a delightful series of musical evenings. The Madrigal club, under the direction of Elsie Carleton Strang, was organized in October, 1934, and is sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary and the board of directors of the Girls' Community club. Last night's concert was their first. That they have been doing splendid work is evident from the balance of the parts, the precision of attack and the beauty of diction. A skillfully arranged program included a group of light numbers, two negro spirituals and three numbers by Mendelssohn, an artist who probably understood the compass and timbre of voices better than any other composer of his day. Solo parts were sung effectively by Katherine Larison and Vella Sorenson. Artists assisting on the program were Katherine Wendt, soprano, and Robert C. Wright, baritone. Miss Inogene Wallace, pianist, presented a solo and also served in the capacity of accompanist in the absence of Genevieve Brown, regular accompanist for the club. Elsie Carleton Strang, director, received her musical training in Washington, D. C., and since coming to Medford has been popular not only as a chorus and choir leader but as a soloist and teacher, giving generously of her time and talent to community enterprises. Personnel of the club is as follows: Grace Holmes, Catherine Wendt, Vera Garlock, Georgia Holloway, Norma Martin, Edna Effert, Jeanne Laidley, Marjorie Wynore, Florence Rush, Rhea Hoover, Lucille Wynore, Katherine Larison, Geneva Strong, Vella Sorenson, Dorothy B. A. F., Ethel Fleischer, Thelma Cunningham, Edyth Martin, Myrtle Omscheid, Mary Sweeney, Alice Jarmin and Liberta Lenox.

aroma... it's as much a part of Chesterfield as the taste

Did you ever notice the difference in the aroma of Chesterfield tobacco?

Every person who knows about tobacco will understand this... for to get a pleasing aroma is just like getting a pleasing taste from fruit.

Mild ripe tobaccos, home-grown, and welded with the right kind of tobacco from far-off Greece and Turkey (Samsoun, Smyrna, Xanthi and Cavalla)...

... that's why Chesterfield has a more pleasing aroma.
