

FOOTSORE COWBOY QUILTS APPLGATE IN HIGH DUDGEON

BIG APPLGATE, March 29—(Spl.)—Like the echoes that roll across the heavens in the wake of a peal of thunder, reverberations of the local horse roundup continue to drift in from day to day.

O. M. Hadlock, cow hand and horse wrangler at large, is heading back to his home state of Nevada, probably disillusioned and footsore after a tramp over the Applegate country to investigate the horse situation.

Attired in ten gallon hat, flying scarf, and high heeled boots, Hadlock appeared at the Star Ranger station, stating that he represented a meat company in California, which produces cat and dog food, and that he hoped to get horses for canning purposes. He also said that if he found horses of better quality, he could sell them to Portuguese vineyard owners. Being an experienced hand at trapping horses over the west, wherein he bulks wire pens around water holes for the unsuspecting ponies, Hadlock expected to send for his crew of six Indians to execute a similar set-up on local ranges.

Little Applegate residents say the wrangler visited their district and remained over night with a rancher there, saying he had heard that large ranches existed here, equipped with Arabian horses, where he might find work at breaking horses. Hadlock, who was afoot here, his bed on his back, caught a ride from Portland to Medford, having visited his sister in Portland. He rode back to Medford with a farmer here.

Another far reaching effect of the notorious roundup came in the resignation of Ranger Lee Port from his vigilance over the forests to become affiliated with the glitter of circus life. A few days ago Mr. Port had a telephone call from a man who said he was publicity agent for a well known circus, and having heard of the Ranger's flare for spreading publicity, wished to engage him in that capacity for the circus. The call proved to be from Everett Beeson at Talent.

NAVY ADVANCES MEDFORD YOUTH

Charles H. Ward has been rated a seaman first class by the navy department, according to word received here today by his mother, Mrs. J. D. Bowditch, West Medford. Usually it requires at least two years of training and experience to qualify as seaman first class but young Ward made the grade in less than a year and a half of active duty, it was pointed out by Ernest M. West, navy recruiting officer here. He was accepted for enlistment on July 17, 1934, and after the usual training period was assigned to active duty the latter part of October. Ward is assigned to duty on the destroyer Barker, now in Philippine waters. He was an honor graduate of Jacksonville high school, June, 1933.

SCHOOL FOR PARENTS SCHEDULED TUESDAY AT FIRST METHODIST

Much interest is being shown in the annual school for parents to be held here Tuesday, at the First Methodist church, commencing at 10 a. m., according to Mabel C. Mack, home demonstration agent. A large number of members of each of the 18 home extension units of the county are planning to attend and also a representative from each Parent Teacher association. Mrs. Maude M. Morse, extension specialist in child development and parent education will discuss "Our Family Talks It Over," which includes husband and wife problems, parent-child problems, and child-child problems. Mrs. Morse has had unusual training for teaching parent education and child development which includes both practical experience and theoretical knowledge. In June, 1933, she received her master's degree in child development at Oregon State college. While Mrs. Morse was studying for the advanced degree her young son attended the college nursery school. Luncheon will be served by the Women's association of the church. A nursery school will be provided free of charge for small children whose mothers are attending the school. The complete program is as follows:

- Morning session (Mrs. C. E. Myers, chairman):
 - 10 a. m.—Registration.
 - 10:15-10:30—Community singing.
 - Mrs. Lola Young, leader; Mrs. Mabel Sims, pianist.
 - 10:30-10:40—Jackson county parent education program. Mrs. Mabel C. Mack, home demonstration agent.
 - 10:40-12:00—Our Family Talks It Over—Mrs. Maud M. Morse, extension specialist in parent education.
 - 12:10—Luncheon. Served by Women's association, First Methodist church.
- Afternoon Session
 - Mr. Lee Port, chairman.
 - 1:30-1:40—Program announcements. Mabel C. Mack.
 - 1:40-3:30—Does Dad Belong—Mrs. Maude Morse.

FOUR FIRES BRING WARNING AGAINST IGNITION OF SOOT

A chimney fire at the residence of Dorance E. Hayes, 710 North Riverside avenue, was put out without damage by the fire department about 5:20 yesterday afternoon. Soot in the chimney ignited, Chief Roy Elliott said.

The fire department's chemical crew was called at 10:20 yesterday morning to the home of Allen B. Culy, 208 South Ivy street where a fire fire was quickly controlled without loss.

A fireplace blaze did slight damage in the apartment of H. A. Hansen, 301 South Central avenue early Thursday morning. A faulty fireplace was reported by Chief Elliott as the cause.

The fire department's new chemical apparatus was used for the first time at the Hansen apartment. It is equipped with 11 1/2 gallons of chemical fluid in addition to a quantity of "di-gas," donated by the Southern Oregon Gas corporation for extinguishing gas and oil fires.

Chief Elliott warned residents to be careful of fire during the present cold spell. He pointed out that pipes and chimneys are likely to be lined with a winter's accumulation of soot which can be ignited easily by a hot fire.

CAMPAIGN BEGUN TO EXTEND USE OF WOOD BOXES

Plans were launched here today to include the Rogue valley in the campaign to extend the use of wooden boxes as a means of bolstering the lumber business in the Pacific northwest.

L. J. Bean, managing director of the campaign in Klamath Falls, and H. L. Watkins, who directed the campaign in the Yakima area of Washington, conferred with mill executives here, including officers of the Timber Products company and the Medford corporation. They announced a meeting of west coast lumber company executives in San Francisco tomorrow.

Purpose of the campaign is to extend the use of wooden boxes, principal aim being to supplant burlap bags and fiber boxes.

The campaign originated in Yakima where efforts were so successful that $50,000 was added to the payrolls of Cascade lumber companies this year. Mr. Watkins said, recently, he recalled, the gateway organization in southern Oregon substituted wooden boxes for gunny sacks as containers for potatoes and today the company began an experiment in Klamath Falls of offering two dozen oranges in miniature wooden crates.

"Unless lumber mills can find an outlet for boxes, they cannot operate profitably because 55 percent of the logs are good for nothing but boxes," Mr. Watkins said. "Fiber containers are made from pulp imported duty-free from foreign countries, mainly Denmark. It is our aim to relieve some of the business that has been lost to foreign nations. Unless that is done the future is none too bright for what should be the greatest industry of the northwest."

As a part of the campaign, he explained, all employees of lumber mills are organized so that their purchasing power, and that of the public, may be used effectively in inducing wholesalers and retailers to use wooden boxes.

WARD'S WOODWORK CONTEST FOR BOYS CLOSES SATURDAY

Br. razz, pound, clink — those noises that you hear in the basements of Medford homes or wherever it is that the boy of the house hangs out when not sleeping, are the creative and competitive efforts of Medford's youth to win the prizes offered in the Montgomery Ward woodwork contest, which closes next April 4.

Even the sisters are taking a big interest, according to H. L. Brown, Ward store manager here, who reports that Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Astorhill as well as having difficulties keeping the Messrs. Jones, Smith and Astorhill from taking a hand in the turning out of footstools, bedsteads, table racks and what not, and thus neglecting their wives and rendering their son's entry void because of the rule of the contest that all participants must be 19 years old or younger.

The store manager also reports that a large number of entries are coming in and that these include exhibits of every description. "The work is really quite astounding," he said, "and indicates that the manual training which modern boys receive in school, boy scout work, at home and elsewhere is extremely effective." The manager expects a total of about 30 entries before the closing of the contest.

The prizes announced at the opening of the contest are on display in Ward's basement hardware department. Any woodworking project can be submitted provided that it is the work exclusively of one boy nineteen years of age or younger, is entered before April 4 and has been made during the period of the contest, February 29 to April 4. Prize winning articles as selected by the judges will be announced on April 13 and displayed in the windows of the store. Judges are L. A. Metzger, manual training instructor of the Medford high school; A. H. Barwell, manager of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce and Herb Grey, advertising manager of the Mail Tribune.

Professor Reginald George Stapledon, director of the Welsh prebreeding station, has announced the station has produced a new strain of grass.

Food supplies produced by 203 Harris county, Texas, farm girls in 1935 cut living costs of their families approximately $19,000, the county club agent reported.

IT'S THE ONLY ONE OF "ALL THREE"

WITH ALL THESE ECONOMY FEATURES

- HYDRAULIC BRAKES—The safest brakes made... self-equalizing... always sure, quick, even-acting.
- DOUBLE-ACTION BRAKES—Plymouth's 100% hydraulic brakes don't depend on "wrapping" wheel action (left-hand picture), but exert equal pressure throughout (see right, above).
- SAFETY-STEEL BODY—Plymouth's body is Safety-Steel like a modern railroad coach. And bolted horizontally and vertically to a frame gives safety, quietest construction.
- PLYMOUTH HAS FOUR MAIN BEARINGS—Instead of three. Thus every piston stroke is supported by two big bearings. (Like driving a nail in a solidly supported board.)
- FULL-LENGTH WATER JACKETS—Circulate water all around each cylinder instead of half way. This means better cooling... a reason for Plymouth's economy and long life.
- DIRECTIONAL WATER CIRCULATION—In the picture at the left, the girls farthest from the fan aren't getting much benefit of the cooling breeze... illustrating the old type engine cooling system. The picture at the right illustrates Plymouth's directional cooling which forces cool water at high velocity to all exhaust valve assemblies. This, combined with full-length water jackets, lowers oil temperatures as much as 80°... improves lubricating efficiency... saves oil. Plymouth owners report amazingly low oil consumption as well as 18 to 24 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Don't take our word for it... Compare value... Drive "All Three" low-priced cars... then decide!

USE THAT LIST of features to compare "All Three"! Plymouth is priced within $10 to $15 of the Other Two (actual list prices, four-door sedans, F. O. B. main factory)... and for that small difference gives you all this extra value... extra economy... extra safety.

But get out on the road and drive "All Three." See for yourself how much more room Plymouth has. How easily it handles. How smoothly it takes rough roads. Watch your gas—and you will see why Plymouth owners report 18 to 24 miles per gallon!

See how quick, straight ahead Plymouth's 100% Hydraulic brakes stop! And Plymouth only of "All Three" has 100% Hydraulic brakes and Safety-Steel body.

Don't buy any car until you drive this beautiful, new Plymouth and compare it... on features and price... with the others! Telephone or call on any Chrysler, Dodge or De Soto dealer. He will arrange it.
