OREGON CREAMERIES REPORT HUGE OUTPUT BUTTER AND CHEESE

SALEM, April 3.—(AP)—Creameries of the state of Oregon manufactured 29,838,203 pounds of butter during 1935, the annual dairy products report issued by the agricultural department issued today showed.

Creameries listed totaled 104, while 23,998 patrons furnished the cream for the manufacturing.

Cheese manufactured in the state during the same period totaled 15,387,588 pounds by the 50 cheese factories. Milk was furnished by 3,072 farmers.

The condensed milk industry in the state likewise showed favorable records compared to previous years, the department announced. A total of 26,189,444 pounds of condensed milk was manufactured by 12 plants. They also put out 5,125,549 pounds of powdered milk and 47,710 pounds of powdered buttermilk.

Ice-cream manufactured by 54 factories was 1,429,199 gallons and cheese manufactured by 23 plants was 1,420,846 pounds.

BATTLE WITH T. B. MUST BEGIN EARLY

PORTLAND, April 3.—(AP)—The battleground upon which medicine must fight tuberculosis is the two and one-half year period which usually elapses before the disease reaches a destructive stage, Dr. J. A. Myers said today.

In an interview upon his arrival here to address the Oregon Tuberculosis association, Dr. Myers of the University of Minnesota, said that through the "Mantoux test, a system we have found 98 percent accurate, these beginnings can be discovered and immediate measures taken to check the advance."

The disease can be brought under control at that time, he said, although if detected later "hospitalization is necessary and chances of recovery lessened."

He reiterated that there is no positive cure, although the disease can be so effectively controlled if caught soon enough that treatment is almost as protective as complete cure.

The germs live in persons even 80 or 90 years old who are apparently healthy, he said research showed.

FAR EAST MART URGED FOR FRUIT

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP) Senator Pope (D, Idaho) suggested to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace today creation of a commission to investigate and develop markets to the far west for fruits and vegetables produced in the United States.

The commission, Pope said in a letter to Wallace, would visit foreign markets adjacent to the Pacific coast, such as China, Philippines, Dutch East Indies, Australia and New Zealand.

"Growers and shippers of perishable commodities in Idaho and other Pacific northwest states have requested aid in developing those markets, particularly as an outlet for potatoes, apples, onions, prunes and dairy products," Pope said.

Pope explained that the department, under provisions in the new soil conservation act authorizing it to use certain receipts to aid in the export of surplus commodities, "might be able to undertake this work in some form."

Sunshine Introduces Popeye Package

Copyright 1935 Star Line Baking Co., Inc.

Popeye, the talkative strong man of the comic world who, in a few short months, changed spinach from a vegetable hated by millions of youngsters to one that they couldn't get enough of, has now given his name to a new kiddy package put out by Sunshine Bakers. The package, known as Popeye Cookies, is already smashing sales records all over America.

There probably isn't a grocer in the country who doesn't realize the importance of Popeye as a food salesman, for they've seen their spinach sales increase by leaps and bounds in the last few years. You see, such seeds of heroism as Popeye performs must be done by powerful men, and Popeye, finds in spinach the nourishment that gives him his amazing strength. At exactly the right moment, just as affairs are reaching a terrible climax with out hero getting the worst of the battle, Popeye solemnly reaches down into his pocket for the famous can of spinach. With great gulps he devours it. And then, as if by magic, he leaps on his adversary and with a few blows of his mighty fist lays him low.

Now what child could resist such an example? Popeye has become the idol of millions of children. His wonderful feats of strength are the envy of every youngster. So, naturally, whatever food Popeye recommends, he is going to go for it in a big way. It's little wonder, then, that the new Sunshine Popeye Cookies have been an overnight success.

Those amusing cookies come in six different packages with three adventures of Popeye printed on each, and the cookies are "die cut" so that they look just like Popeye and his mates.

POPULAR NOTIONS ON FOODS UPSET IN LATEST STUDY

PITTSBURGH—(UP)—Scientists at the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, working under a fellowship financed by H. J. Heinz Co., have issued a book which explodes old adages and ideas concerning food.

No food combination is poisonous; no one selects the foods best suited for himself; most of the acid (sour) fruits give alkaline reactions in the body; sugars and starches in themselves are not harmful and food may be kept in open cans if kept cool, are some of the scientists' findings.

The book deals mainly with the dietary and nutritional values of foods eaten every day. It points out the foods needed for longevity, nervous conditions, body building and energy. Vitamins determine the good in foods, the experts discovered, and in the book they reveal just which ones are good for a person.

Vitamin "A" is needed for longevity. Vitamin "D" develops the body along Mae West lines, and Vitamin "B" strengthens the nerves.

A diet plan outlined by the research experts showing foods necessary to everyone daily follows:
Milk—One pint or more daily.
Eggs—One or two a day. Meat—One serving a day. Vegetables—Potatoes and one or two other cooked vegetables daily, raw vegetables in limited amounts. Fruits—At least once daily either raw or cooked. Best of diet—Should contain large proportions of cereals, breads and fats, selected according to taste, and reasonable amount of sweets.

REEQUISITION ISSUED FOR CHILD STEALER

SALEM, April 3.—(AP)—Governor Martin requisitioned the state executive office in Arizona today for return to Oregon of Harold Powell, wanted at Eugene on a charge of child stealing. He was being held at Yuma.

The requisition papers set out that Powell left Eugene October 6, 1935, with Charlotte Brakel, a minor, disappeared and was arrested later at Yuma.

The requisition also stated the girl had written her parents that she wanted to return home but that Powell would not allow her to do so.
