

Pete and Peck Will Feature Three-Star Wrestling Card Tonight

LOCAL FAVORITES WILL BE SEEN IN RETURN STRUGGLE

Pete Belcastro, Pacific coast junior heavyweight wrestling champion, in a return bout, tonight tangles with Frankie Peck of San Francisco in the main event match of a three-star card at the Armory. According to Promoter Mack Lillard who arranged three all-clean bouts for tonight, advance ticket sales indicate a near-record house.

In last week's fray, Belcastro almost succumbed to Peck's vicious head locks only to emerge, apparently helpless, to almost kick Peck's head off with a lashing drop-kick. The bout proved so popular with the big crowd, and Peck was so anxious to again meet the champion, that Lillard arranged the match. Belcastro's belt will not be at stake.

The middle main event pits Prince Mihalakis, Arabian nobleman, against Dr. Barney Coneck, University of Illinois doctor of philosophy. Both men are fast and clever, each with a special hold of his own which he promises to unveil tonight. Coneck, one of the fastest men to perform in this city, favors a rolling scissor combined with a wrist lock, while to date Mihalakis' only necessity has been reverting to his camel lock, a reverse Indian death lock with a surfboard. The bout will be under the Australian system of six 10-minute rounds.

The opener brings together two old Medford favorites, Danny Savich, former All-American guard from the University of Utah, and Frank Taylor, big and handsome Ohio State grad. Taylor favors a flying wrist lock to take many falls, while Savich, specializing in tactics popular on the football fields, depends on flying tackles.

All of the bouts promise to be rough, but no dirty work is indicated by the reputations of the various gladiators on the bill. The starting curtain rings up at promptly 8:30.

GOLFERS RESUME ON BOGGY COURSE

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 6.—(AP)—The rain-harassed Augusta national invitation golf tournament was resumed today with the mud-running professionals in pursuit of "Light Horse Harry" Cooper of Chicago, who started the final 36 holes with a five-stroke margin over the all-star field.

All in the face of possible further rainfall and with the course waterlogged from nearly 12 hours of down-pour Sunday, officials said nothing short of a cyclone would prevent completion of the show today.

White Bobby Jones, retired champion of the golfing world, and pre-tournament favorite, failed diamally in his third crack against the professional brigade. Cooper led the field into the second half of the 72-hole competition with a 70-69-139, five strokes under par.

Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, who lost to Jones in a playoff for the national open crown in 1923 was bracketed with Denny Shute of Boston, the former British champion, behind Cooper with even par 144's at the halfway point.

MISSIONS, DUCKS SPLIT HONORS IN SUNDAY TUSSLES

(By the Associated Press)
Oakland's Acoras and the error column came out on top of the score sheet for the second week of Pacific Coast league baseball. In 11 week-end games the eight clubs piled up 22 errors. A run on double plays vied with tight pitching as the Missions took two of their three week-end games from Portland, and the series 4 to 2. Between them the two clubs made 14 double plays in the three games.

Hobo Carson shut out the Missions with three hits to take Sunday's opener 3-0. Lloyd Johnson went him one better in the afternoon, allowing the Beavers only one hit, and made the second score as he won for the Reds 1-0. The Missions won 6-3 Saturday.

Los Angeles broke Oakland's winning streak in the Sunday opener to salvage one game out of the six game series. The Angels won that game 4-3. The Oaks used four pitchers to stop the Lelivelt men 6-5 in the 7th inning nightcap.

Even the San Diego Padres' spitting manager, Frank Shellenback, couldn't stop the Seattle tribe which took the series 5-2. The Indians reached him for eight hits in the 7-inning nightcap to win 2-1 after taking the opener 7-4 and Saturday's erratic encounter 7-5.

Banned out of three games, San Francisco's batters got plenty of practice with 27 hits in Sunday's double-header with the young Senators at Sacramento. The Seals won 8-4 and 10-1.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Oakland	7	2	.778
Missions	6	3	.667
Seattle	6	4	.600
San Francisco	4	3	.571
Portland	4	5	.444
Los Angeles	3	6	.333
San Diego	3	7	.300
Sacramento	2	5	.286

Those who had hopes of seeing baseball get organized in Medford this year, and who plunked down two and a half iron men for season tickets before any season had been arranged, are beginning to wonder what happened to their gold.

About a month ago enterprising Gus Arnie, anxious to start the ball rolling, set out to distribute tickets for the approaching season, with the hope of intention of taking the coin gathered to a local sporting goods house to be deposited towards the purchase of new suits and equipment. He told us that he had enough money for several suits (suits cost $10 and up) and that it wouldn't be long until the entire quota of 12 suits would be paid for.

That was three weeks or a month ago. Suddenly we stopped seeing Mr. Arnie. Prior to that time he was a regular caller in this office, attempting to get us interested in hallypooing his sales.

Arnold Bauman and John Miljus of Ashland, under the impression that tickets were being sold but no hobo-balls organized, attempted to calm Arnie down in his sales spree, and also attempted to organize the game here themselves. Upon Arnie's advice they went to the sporting goods store, Bauman went down to check up.

The store keeper said that there was some money there for the ball club. He believed it was 20 cents, but would be glad to verify that record if Bauman desired. The money for one ticket had been left there, but Arnie had traded out $2.30 in baseballs and a baseball cap.

No one here has seen him since. A near estimate of the number of tickets still unaccounted for is 30, which at $2.50 per pastebored is $75.

Things like that are what killed baseball here. One local businessman has several cancelled checks, (one for $100) put out in support of baseball in the past, for which he has received no return. The merchants refuse to be stingy again. A few times could be laughed off, but a continual repetition killed the goose that laid the golden egg as one merchant, who used to be an avid fan, so aptly put it.

We were talking to John Miljus yesterday. He is still willing to manage a Medford team, but only on the condition that responsible business men are at the head of the movement, with full control of all money. Bauman is still willing to pitch for the club if such a managerial system is adopted. And we're still willing to meet them half way, as are many other people, including many of those who bought season tickets.

But if baseball is going to be a part of the Medford summer sports activity it must be organized very suddenly, and we're not going to have anything to do with that. If baseball can be organized so that it looks as though it might succeed we'll help, but that's all.

Those who enjoy fast, clean wrestling but violently dislike the gory dirty stuff are attend tonight's card at the Armory in the knowledge that clean grappling is the bill of fare. The matches will be the best in some time, with every one of the men on the program having been a Medford favorite in the past.

FARMERS HIT DELAY IN CAPITOL BUILDING
SALEM, April 6.—Two hundred members of the Marion county Farmers' union, meeting at Central Hotel Saturday, adopted a resolution condemning delay in building of the new Oregon state capitol building.

FISHERMEN FIND POOR RETURNS IN SEASON OPENING

With fishermen from all of the Rogue River valley turning out for the opening of the season yesterday, poor luck was reported from all sections. The Rogue river and its tributaries were high, milky and roily, and creeks in the hill sections were high and muddy, although some fair localities were reported in scattered localities with small spinners and bait. Fly fishing was practically useless.

Ken Denman, Jimmy Moore, Al Perry and Aubrey Norris, using spinners and bait on Evans creek, took a fair catch of cutthroat trout. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McKinney and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Davis had good luck near South Fork.

Ralph Green took four steelhead, and other catches of steelhead were reported, although fishing for this variety was generally not good. One state police officer in checking 40 fishermen found less than 75 small trout in the baskets of the entire turnout.

A party headed by Jack Gill and including H. C. Obye, David H. Canfield and J. Carlisle Crouch spent yesterday in tempting the trout of the Little Butte and its tributaries. They met with little success, having only eight fish among them at the end of the day. They fished around Lake Creek and on the north fork of Little Butte. Other fishing parties seen during the day had no better luck. Mr. Obye reported. The water, he said, was high, cold and taily.

Lyle Purdin and his sister, Brownie, fished in the Applegate and Carberry creeks without a trace of luck. Although no insect life was discernible, they stuck to flies for practice. Few, however, met with any success no matter what the fish were coaxed with. Mr. Purdin said.

Ernest M. West, Dr. Charles Kunt and Floyd A. Southard tried their luck on the Big Butte but at the end of the day had only six fish to divide.

Otto De Jarnet and Everett Trowbridge did somewhat better. They did their angling on the Rogue between Trail and Bybee bridge and brought in a steelhead and eight cutthroats after they changed from flies to spinners.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sherwood went out but met with little success.

SHARPSHOOTERS POINT FOR STATE MATCH AND CHANCE FOR U.S. TEAM

Despite the opening of the fishing season yesterday, nine members of the Medford Rifle club reported to the small-bore outdoor range for practice. With the Oregon State Rifle association matches coming up next month on the Clackamas range at Portland, several of the men are bearing down hard in an effort to gain the north.

The state matches are held annually, with shooters attending from all parts of the state to compete for money, medals, and a place on the team which is sent to Camp Perry, Ohio, for the national matches.

Notice has been given by club officers that the Southern Oregon Sales company has given permission for the use of their indoor range on Wednesday evenings until the WPA project at the armory has been completed. Wednesday of this week last.

FLANDIN PROPOSES PEACE BY FORCE

PARIS, April 6.—(AP)—Pierre-Edouard Flandin, French foreign minister, advanced a proposal for "peace by force" through a European army under the League of Nations at a long cabinet session today.

Reliable sources reported the French plan to unite Europe's forces against war contained three suggestions:

1. A detailed denial of Germany's contention that France's encirclement policy including the Franco-Soviet mutual assistance pact justifies Adolf Hitler's denunciation of the Locarno treaty.

2. A refusal to let Germany fortify the Rhineland.

3. A proposal to "organize for peace" on an "equality for all" basis by means of regional mutual assistance pacts and the creation of a sort of international army to enforce league decisions.

APPLES TO FRANCE GO BY WAY OF N. Y.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 6.—(AP)—Sam Birch, fruit exporter, said today New York instead of Portland or Seattle will be the shipping point for 150 carloads of fresh apples which left the Yakima and Wenatchee districts 10 days ago for France.

Shippers explained the Panama Canal preferred to reserve the bulk of refrigerated space for California citrus fruits instead of providing room for northwest apple shipments. The apples went overland to New York by rail.

Birch said the 25,000 and 15,000 boxes of pears being shipped by water from Portland and Seattle respectively, and the 100,000 boxes of apples going overland, virtually fill the second quarter French quota of these fruits.

DEBATING TEAMS IN FINAL ROUNDS

PORTLAND, April 6.—(AP)—Three teams, one gaining a bye, went into the second and third rounds today of the Oregon high school debating league championship. Four other squads will meet tonight and Friday, going overland, the winner opposing Coquille, which drew a bye.

The teams of McMinnville and Clatskanie debate tonight for the right to meet Coquille, while the Grass Valley and Hermiston teams meet Friday, the winner opposing Coquille. Dallas meets the winner of the Coquille contest.

Medford won the state championship last year.

EMBARGO PUT ON SCRAP TIN SALES

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Beginning strict governmental regulation of scrap tin exports, Secretary Hull today laid down a ten-week embargo against all shipments of that vital war material to foreign countries after April 15.

The move was regarded generally as aimed at Japan, one of the largest purchasers of scrap tin from this country.

Advocates of the legislation had charged Japan was buying such large quantities of the metal here that it was seriously draining American tin resources and was causing disastrous consequences to the domestic de-linting industry, which re-converts scrap tin into raw metal.

ITALIANS PURSUE FLEEING ETHIOPS

ASMARA, Eritrea, April 6.—Native Askari of Italy's northern army, after capturing the important town of Quorom, pressed on in pursuit of Emperor Haile Selassie's fleeing army today, traveling rapidly down the road to Desaye.

An official communique said the battle of Lake Ashangi, 30 miles south of the former front lines of Amba Alati, was completed after the decisive defeat Saturday of Ethiopia's imperial bodyguard.

Fascist aerial squadrons, which dropped 70 tons of explosives on the retreating natives and fired 20,000 rounds of machine gun ammunition during the week-end, slackened their activities as the army of the Ethiopian King of Kings broke up into small bodies.
