

LAST RITES FOR MRS. MARSHALL ARE HELD HERE

Private funeral services were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Conger chapel for Mrs. Lillie Bartoo Marshall who died Sunday night in Weed, Cal., at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Don L. Colvig, after a comparatively short illness. Burial took place in Jacksonville cemetery at the side of her husband, George E. Marshall, who died February 19, 1931.

In keeping with her last wishes, the funeral services were extremely simple, consisting of a few hymns and the reading of two psalms. The Rev. E. S. Bartlam officiated.

Mrs. Marshall was long a resident of Medford. She was known for her artistic and intellectual achievements and her boundless energy in pursuing the arts. During her life time she wrote a considerable volume of poetry, much of which was published in 20 or 25 years ago. She also painted in oils and was widely known for her talent.

Mrs. Marshall was born Lillie Bartoo in East Aurora, New York, on March 20, 1859. She was a descendant of a French Huguenot family named Bartoo, the family name subsequently being Anglicized. She was a grandniece of Ethan Allen, patriot of the American revolution.

She taught school for a time in Indiana and it was in Bensenville of that state that she married George Edward Marshall in 1883. Seven children were born of the union of whom five survive. The survivors are Vernon B. Marshall and Mrs. Amos Turnbow of Medford; Mrs. Victor Ornel of Klamath Falls; Mrs. Don L. Colvig of Weed, Cal.; and Edith Marshall, internationally noted author, of Augusta, Ga. There are also 13 grand children and one great grandchild surviving.

The Marshalls came to Medford in 1907 when Mr. Marshall purchased an orchard here. Mrs. Marshall continued to reside here since then. In the past few years she had been in retirement, living at the original family home at 1118 South Oakdale avenue.

Funeral services will be held at the Central Point cemetery at 1:00 p. m., Wednesday, with Elder Adolph Johnson officiating.

CRIMINAL ACT DUE FOR LEGAL TEST IN HOYLMAN CASE

Suit to test the constitutionality of Oregon habitual criminal act, which provides mandatory life imprisonment as the penalty, was announced by Attorney George M. Roberts in circuit court this morning, at the opening of the trial of Raleigh Hoylman, 32, native of Josephine county, charged with being a habitual criminal. Hoylman, under a nine-year sentence, for conviction of forgery, burglary, and auto theft, has four previous convictions for felonies on his record.

It is the first time in the history of Jackson county that the habitual criminal act has been invoked against a defendant. Hoylman stood mute when called upon to plead, and his counsel waived the right to make an opening statement, and declined to question jurors. Attorney Roberts appointed by the court to defend Hoylman, in reference to the wording of a section of the habitual criminal law, characterized it as "ridiculous, insane, and meaning nothing."

J. S. Murray, keeper of the state prison records, was listed as a state witness. Most of the state's case was documentary. Hoylman was first convicted in this county, and sentenced to state prison for forgery committed at Ashland. Forgery has been his besetting sin. None of his crimes have been vicious. The sheriff's office reported, "Hoylman will run every time he gets a chance, but he won't hurt anybody."

The case is expected to be concluded early this afternoon.

HOSTESS ESCAPES, TELEPHONES WORD TO TWA OFFICERS

Jack Frye, president of TWA, said the pilot had advised the Pittsburgh airport the plane was 30 miles off its course because of the weather.

He was flying at 3000 feet, he said, and was 10 miles east of Pittsburgh.

Frye said the course was being directed by a new type of beam. More than four hours later, reports reached Uniontown that a WPA worker had found the wreckage of the giant ship, crushed against the mountainside about 7 miles west of the coal mining city.

Searching planes were dropping over the broken countryside at the time. Quickly, the TWA offices in Pittsburgh reported a telephone call from the hostess.

She was injured slightly, she said, by a bump on the head.

First reports did not say which of the occupants besides Mrs. Ellenstein, had survived.

Ambulances Sent. Every available ambulance roared to the scene, but officials said it would be some time before the bodies could be carried down a tortuous mountain trail.

The following passengers and members of the crew were victims of the crash: R. G. Evans, Pittsburgh, Pa. Charles H. Smith, New Kensington, Pa. D. V. August, Grove City, Pa. Crawford Kelly, McKeesport, Pa., all cadets at Valley Forge military academy, homeward bound for Easter vacation.

Frank Hardeman, New York City. John O'Neill, Jersey City. C. G. Challinor, no address. Hefferman, New York City (no first name).

G. B. Army, New York. Otto Ferguson, the pilot. H. C. Lewis, the co-pilot.

THREAT OF FLOODS ADDED TO MISERY IN TORNADO ZONE

Forecast for tornado-wracked states to the west.

Storm-bred fires, which added heavily to the Gainesville death toll, still smoldered today. WPA workers, convicts and national guardsmen dug through debris of the business district to recover the last of the victims.

Search for Victims. Civilians and soldiers searched for more victims in Tupelo as the bereaved set out to bury their dead.

Bodies recovered in Mississippi totaled more than 200. Twenty-four deaths were recorded in Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas and South Carolina.

Tornadoes last Thursday killed 48 persons, centering their fury upon Cordele, Ga., and Greensboro, N. C. Death of injured persons added to the Gainesville toll today.

RACIAL PROBLEMS WILL BE STUDIED BY NOTED GROUP

HONOLULU (UP) — Educators and scholars representing a score of nations will convene this summer at the University of Hawaii, itself a living laboratory of racial varieties, to discuss the human problems of the Pacific.

Hawaii and Yale universities, assisted by the Carnegie corporation, will hold the seminar conference on education in Pacific countries, from June 30 to Aug. 7.

Delegates will discuss the racial, cultural and educational problems which have arisen from the modern contact of peoples, and will interchange experiences and ideas.

The selective membership of the seminar will include directors of education, school principals, government and mission authorities, social scientists and social workers.

Nations to be represented include Australia, Canada, China, Great Britain, Japan, New Zealand and the United States. Representatives are also expected from American, British, Dutch and French dependencies in the Pacific.

Subjects to be reviewed range from language problems and local economies to anthropology and psychology. Representatives will have an opportunity to study firsthand the comingling of races, since Hawaii's population is a veritable "league of nations," including Japanese, Chinese, Korean, Samoan, Puerto Rican, Portuguese, American, English and many other peoples.

News Behind The News

fact in itself is sufficient reason for believing that current bombings and border incidents will lead only to a strengthening of the Japanese military situation.

The war will come later. Note—Outer Mongolia is not yet a part of the Soviet union. But it borders on the autonomous Buryat-Mongolian republic, which is Russian territory. The people of both countries are of the same race. Moscow has been training its Buryat subjects and sending them into outer Mongolia as missionaries. The result has been a mutual assistance pact between the Soviet union and outer Mongolia.

The secret understanding between Tokio and Berlin is supposed to be somewhat one-sided. It provides that if the Japanese decide to move against Russia, no obligation rests upon Germany to join immediately. But if Germany decides to go, the Japanese will move at once. This information is in the hands of competent authorities here. They believe that Japanese aggression would not immediately cause a world war, but German aggression would.

at sup pino wura plus amoy vigorously; but the best informed are convinced Mussolini had an understanding in the Austrian conscription act. They think he okayed the Vienna move in order to give the Ethiopian sanctioning nations something to think about.

By ordering conscription, Austria violated the treaty of St. Germain. It represents just as serious a violation as Hitler in a legal sense.

What European nations will have next is a new set of treaties specifically legalizing violations, just as the London naval treaty does.

No. 1—The government has urged shorter hours on industry, etc., but night guards at federal prisons generally work up to 12 hours a day, and in some places nine days out of ten. Also, in one federal prison they work seven days a week.

No. 2—Despite child-labor out-breaks, etc., congress still employs page boys under 16 years of age.

Each session of congress produces a word which is overworked by speakers in both houses. Last year it was "psychology." No speaker on any subject was considered good unless he discussed the "psychological aspects."

This year it is "philosophy." House stenographers have tired of speeches beginning, "The philosophy of this legislation," blah, blah, blah.

The popularity of these two words during the last two sessions is attributed to the fact that if a speaker does not know the details of his subject he can speak freely about the psychology or philosophy of it.
