Thursday Study Club Has Music Program At Recent Meeting

A meeting of the Thursday Morning Study Club was held April 9th at the Baldwin Piano studio. A highly interesting program, outlined by Mrs. R. C. Mulholland, program chairman, opened with a discussion by Mrs. Frank Gray based on "The Life of Beethoven" by Emil Ludwig. That much of Beethoven's music is strongly influenced by the emotional patterns of his own life was vividly illustrated by Mrs. Rawles Moore, assisted by Miss Constance Moore, with piano interpretations of excerpts from the various themes of the Pathétique, Appassionata, and Moonlight Sonatas. Beethoven's creative zenith was probably reached in his quartets and sonatas.

Mrs. R. C. Mulholland's well-chosen topic, "Musical Tragedies," chosen by James Francis Cooke, editor of the musical magazine, "Etude," presented highlights of the cultural and traditional atmospheres prevailing in the leading European countries, ranging from Italy with the Neapolitan and his genuine love for the folk song to Norway which is "is Grieg." Colorful descriptions of various cities were interspersed with delightful vocal solos by Elvow Mae Gail, accompanied by Mrs. Carlton James, including "Vest d'Arle," from "La Tosca," by Puccini; "Solveig's Song" by Grieg, and "Romance" by Debussy.

Announcement was made by an evening concert to be given April 24, at 8:15 at the Baldwin Piano hall, to which members are invited to bring their husbands and guests. One of the outstanding features, according to Mrs. Roberta Ward Bebb, chairman, will be a Shakespearean characterization by Prof. Angus L. Bowmer of the Southern Oregon Normal school.

Interest centers in social circles this week-end is centering on the many special services being planned by churches throughout the valley. Musical events are probably the most outstanding of the events to be featured, with choral services and cantatas being presented in special programs.

The "Easter parade" to churches and, later in the day, to homes of friends, will be participated in by everyone. The motorboat regatta at Emigrant lake is expected to attract a large number, while many others will drive to hills and neighboring towns to enjoy the unusually beautiful spring weather.

Mrs. Leake To Portland for Visit
Among Medfordites spending the Easter holidays out of town will be Mrs. Esther Church Leake, who left on the evening train yesterday for Portland. She expects to remain over the week end.

Special Communication of Medford Lodge No. 104, A. F. & A. M., Friday, April 10th, at 7:30 p. m. Work in F. C. degree. Visitors invited. Light refreshments. O. O. Horner, W. M. GEO. ALDEN, Secy.

Pickles to Observe Gilden Anniversary

Of interest to their many friends in the valley is the announcement that Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Pickel will receive their friends at an open house in honor of the golden anniversary of their wedding next Saturday.

Guests will call between the hours of 1 and 9 in the afternoon and 7 and 9 in the evening. The Pickels will receive at their home near Phoenix. A large number is expected to call and join the couple in observing the event.

The Pickels are prominent residents of the valley.

Clubwomen to Meet Tomorrow
An important and entertaining meeting is planned for tomorrow afternoon when Mrs. Frank Davis of Ashland will entertain club members at her home at 2:30. Mrs. Una B. Inch will present a book review as a special feature of the afternoon's program and Mrs. Frank Dickey is making social arrangements for the event.

Medford members wishing transportation are requested to call Miss Betty Evanson at 595-H before 7:30 this evening. Mrs. Davis' home is at 67 Seenic drive, which may be reached by turning from the highway at Wimer street which leads to Seenic drive.

Luncheon Planned By Merritt Circle
Mrs. H. L. Brown and her mother, Mrs. Welch, will be hostesses to the Merritt circle of the First Presbyterian church for luncheon Tuesday.

Place will be the Brown home, 1100 East Main street, and luncheon is planned for 1 o'clock. Members are requested to bring table service.

Medford Guests From Portland
Hosts this week are Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Prentice, who have as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cowgill and family of Portland.

The Cowgills arrived last evening from the northern city and will remain in Medford over the week end, enjoying the Easter holidays.

Miss Andrews Away for Holiday
A number of local people are taking advantage of the Easter holidays to journey out of town, among them Miss Winifred Andrews. Miss Andrews left on the Shasta this morning for Eugene, where she will spend the week end as the guest of friends and relatives.

Grace Circle To Lunch Tuesday
Mrs. Harry Marx will be hostess to the Grace circle of the First Presbyterian church at her home on the Coleman Creek road next Tuesday afternoon.

Members will gather for a 1 o'clock luncheon, which will be followed by a business and social session.

Plans Discussed For Conference
At the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the First Methodist Episcopal church, South, a discussion of the district conference was part of the afternoon's program, as this was the last meeting until after the conference.

HUMANE SOCIETY PLEADS AGAINST EASTER CRUELTY

The Humane Society once again asks the public not to buy baby chicks as Easter gifts for their children. Easter Sunday will be celebrated April 12 and many parents will foolishly give their children chicks with which to play. About one half of the chicks will die in a day or so; the proportion that survives a week of juvenile mishandling is small.

Many homes will be disrupted by childish squabbles over the chicks; most homes will not know what to do with them when bed time comes, where or how to house them for the night. Scores of parents who have gone through the ordeal of chicks in the home, vow, "never again," everything was in turmoil as long as the chicks lived.

Parents who buy chicks for little boys and girls are not going to have a very good time. The anticipation may promise pleasure, but realization is something else. Mother's boudoir, dad's study and the family living room are not appropriate for poultry raising, but if Junior receives a present of chicks those chicks will be wherever Junior is and be carried wherever Junior goes—bath room—kitchen or bedroom. If mothers wish to save off trouble they should stay off baby chicks.

Any toy shop or candy store can furnish many things preferable to baby chicks. And toys will remain long after the chicks have died a cruel death.

TOURISTS WARNED ON BEAR MENACE

Warning was issued today against leaving food in cars parked in Crater Lake national park. The food, it was pointed out, attracts bears who proceed to tear the autos open to satisfy their ravenous appetites.

"Three cars have been damaged by bears in the park the past week," David H. Canfield, park superintendent, said today upon his return from the resort. "Food should be left at the government mess hall until the visitors are ready to eat it. The bears are not likely to molest a car unless they smell food inside."

The seats of an open car were ripped out by a big bear while Mr. Canfield was at the park yesterday. The visitors, from California, were out in the park at the time and he did not get their names. Rangers Wilfred Frost and Harvey Duffin chased the bear away before it could do further damage. Mr. Canfield reported.

MEDFORD STUDENTS JOIN CAMPUS CLUB

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, CORVALLIS, April 10.—(Sp.)—Leonard Klein and Fred Younger, both of Medford and sophomores in engineering at Oregon State college, have recently been elected to office in Weatherford club, one of the independent groups on the college campus. Klein will hold the office of vice-president of the group, while Younger has been elected as councilman.

Members of this organization are men living in Weatherford hall, a section of the men's dormitory. The organization is active in both social and intramural events on the campus.

TALENT CLASS PLAY SCHEDULED TONIGHT

TALENT, April 10.—(Sp.)—The three-act comedy "And Mary Did" has been chosen by the Junior class of the Talent high school for presentation tonight at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium. The story is a clever one about two young things who, as is proper this time of year, want to get married. The boy's father has other plans for his nuptials but agrees to step aside if his son can be elected mayor of the city. The plot revolves rapidly about this situation, and many humorous and some ludicrous angles are involved. The play is open to the public.

CHAMBER DISPLAY HELPS CAMPAIGN FOR WOOD BOXES

Considerable attention was attracted today by a display in the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce designed by the Nestle company to promote a campaign to expand the use of wooden boxes as containers for food and other products.

The display consists of an arrangement of placards, Alpine milk and wooden boxes made at the Timber Products company for Nestle.

An artistic placard states: "Do you know that 86 out of every $10 of all income in the Pacific coast states is derived from the lumber and wooden box industry; that in some districts as much as two-thirds of every log must be made into wooden boxes; that if wooden boxes are not used mills must be closed and jobs are lost thereby, reducing payrolls in the community? Ask your grocer today and every day to obtain merchandise packed in wooden boxes."

The exhibit was arranged by E. P. DeGraf, southern Oregon representative of the Nestle Milk Products company.

The Nestle company, a placard states, packs all of its milk products, both for domestic and foreign trade, in wooden boxes. The company obtains all of its boxes in this area at the Timber Products company. Alpine milk, a Nestle product, is produced and packed in Oregon.
