General Ousted as W.P.A. Critic Nears Showdown
WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood, who was sent into military exile after his criticism of WPA spending, left a "showdown" conference with President Roosevelt at the White House today without disclosing whether he would be restored to active duty or retire to enter business or politics.
The White House was equally reticent concerning the president's decision as to the general's future, but indicated that an announcement might be made at the war department early next week.
While General Hagood remained silent concerning his plans, friends said that unless he was assigned to command an army corps area, preferably in New York City, he would insist upon retiring to take advantage of "other opportunities."
(General Hagood was removed from command of the eighth corps area and third army at San Antonio, Tex., in February after he had called WPA funds "stage money" in testimony before a congressional committee, and the Works Progress Administration had demanded from the war department that he make "public retraction.")
An informed source said General Hagood has been offered a high executive position with a Chicago mail order house and might retire to accept the opportunity regardless of what final action was taken in his case.
The general today refused to comment on the reported business offer.

NEW YORK, April 11.—(UP)—Scotland Yard and Los Angeles police were called into the search tonight for Mrs. Lillian Mae Bartholomew, who disappeared soon after she arrived from England Wednesday to begin a fight for custody of her 12-year-old son, Freddie, motion picture star.
Local authorities were reluctant to give out any information about the case, fearing they were being used in a publicity stunt. It was learned from Los Angeles, however, that New York police requested police there to look for Mrs. Bartholomew.
Philip A. Levy, who was to have been her attorney in the court fight for her son, told the missing persons bureau that he feared she had been kidnaped or "misled."

CAPITAL ARMING TO CURB STRIKES, COMMITTEE TOLD

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP)—Angry labor spokesmen told a senate committee today there was a mass movement of machine guns, tear gas and police clubs into industrial centers for use in curbing strikes and disorders.
The testimony was given in the quiet of a senate committee room while a mile away, in the heart of Washington, 500 delegates to the Workers Alliance convention convention conducted a noisy but orderly march to the White House—in company of a hundred policemen—to ask President Roosevelt to back their request for a six billion dollar relief program. They marched away, complaining no assurance was given that the president would do anything.
J. P. Harris, red-haired Portsmouth, Ohio, steel worker, was the first to appear before the senate labor sub-committee with stories of industrial plants "arming" for possible conflict with labor. In support of his assertions came a mass of data compiled by the senate munitions investigating committee and presented at the hearing by Heber Blankenhorn, an employee of the national labor relations board.

WE WORMS THOUGHT WE'D GOTTEN USED TO ARSENIC... BUT WITH AN ASTRINGENT..Wow! IT'S SUDDEN DEATH
"ASTRINGENT" Arsenate of Lead has taken a dominant position in codling moth control on demonstrated results. Since 1933 it has become more and more apparent that the "Astringent" principle accomplished control 15% to 20% beyond that possible by any mere increase in arsenical content. Observation has shown, too, that the spray deposit was adequately protective and without hazard to the leaf functions and general health of the tree.
Last year's crop records, from thousands of orchards which used "Astringent" Lead from the start of the season, have been the subject of admiring comment at horticultural meetings this winter. The grower says "It's a better means of control without extra cost."
Be sure and ask for a copy of "Cash Crops." It contains valuable spray data.
