

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

From Sams Valley—Max Schulz of Sams Valley was a business visitor in Medford Saturday.

Student Photos—Photographs of students of the graduating class at Medford high school were on display today in the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce show window.

Transacting Business—O. O. Tate, special agent of the Manufacturing Lumbermen's Underwriters, Portland, is spending a few days here on company business.

From Crater Lake—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hedgpeth and Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Luck of Crater lake national park spent the week-end visiting in Medford.

Returns From South—Mrs. M. T. Way returned to Medford yesterday after spending several days last week with friends in Sacramento and Chico, Calif.

Gates Is Speaker—C. E. Gates, former state highway commissioner, spoke today at the Grants Pass Chamber of Commerce forum-lunch. He discussed development of the Pacific highway.

Tonkils Enkled—Mrs. William L. Lewis of 727 West Jackson boulevard and Uman J. Carpenter of 811 Sherman street underwent tonsillectomy at the Osteopathic clinic and hospital this morning.

Small Blaze—Fire did slight damage to the roof of a chicken house back of the dwelling at 540 Pennsylvania avenue early yesterday afternoon. The dwelling was vacant and firemen thought the blaze was caused by a near-by rubbish fire.

Draws Fine—Edwin A. Lawrence, 31, a traveling salesman, this morning pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk in a public place and was fined $10 in city court. He was arrested on the front porch of a local residence upon a complaint.

Begin Outdoor Firing—Company A, 168th infantry, resumed practice on the outdoor rifle range yesterday after being confined to the indoor targets during the winter. Outdoor practice is to be held every Sunday until all eligible members qualify. Capt. Carl Y. Tengvall, commander, said.

Eye Protection Advised—Persons going to Crater lake national park were advised today by David H. Ganfield, superintendent, to wear colored glasses. Reflection of the bright sun on the snow causes a glare that is a severe strain on the eyes, he said.

Visit Crater Park—C. H. Duncan, bookkeeper of Crater lake national park service with winter offices here, and Mrs. Duncan spent yesterday at Crater lake national park. A large crowd of sightseers and car enthusiasts registered during the day, Mr. Duncan said.

New Coiffure—A vogue for shorter hair worn with curls arranged high was stressed at the Park beauty show last week in the Palace hotel, San Francisco. Mrs. Alpha Hodgkins registered today upon her return to Medford from the southern city. The style revue was attended by a large number of beauty parlor operators from all parts of the Pacific coast.

Army Planes Here—Two modern Martin bombers called at municipal airport yesterday afternoon to refuel. They were inspected by spectators at the field during their brief stay. The ships en route back to Hamilton field, San Rafael, Cal., from Pearson field, Vancouver, Wash., were piloted by Lieut. L. L. Mundt and Cadet E. L. Reid. Each had a crew of army technicians.

Attend Contact Camp—A number of Medford reserve officers attended the contact camp in Salem over the week-end. The camp activities included a demonstration of defense against aircraft tactics, with eight army planes taking part. Those from here attending included Capt. William C. Ryan, Capt. Harry May, Jr., Lieut. Philo D. Smith, Lieut. William H. Driscoll, Lieut. Harold Woods and Lieut. A. Eugene Orr. Others from this area were Capt. James O. Warden of Camp Agness and Capt. Buford E. Boyd of Bly.

Visits Culbertson—F. C. Talbot, executive of the McCormick steamship company with headquarters in San Francisco, visited the Culbertson family at the municipal airport Saturday afternoon. He flew to Medford from the Bay City in his new Beechcraft four-place cabin ship which has a cruising speed of 212 miles an hour, making the flight in one hour and 40 minutes. He used to call regularly at the airport here on his flights from San Francisco to Seattle when he piloted a cover plane but since acquiring the new fleet ship he has found it unnecessary to stop here for refueling. On his return to San Francisco Saturday he took Chester Hubbard and Glen Patrick with him so that they might attend the ceremonies in Oakland marking the chartering of a new Active club Saturday night. The Oakland meeting was also attended by William M. McAllister who made the journey by motorcar.

Clark Cable, Has Fine Support In Craterian Drama

Hollywood is apparently becoming an "atavistic" as the rest of the country. No greater proof of this can be found than at the Craterian theatre where three of the screen's most popular favorites, Clark Gable, Jean Harlow and Myrna Loy are appearing together in the same picture "Wife vs. Secretary." And, to go further, it was a great idea to bring these three together—witness the capacity crowds that fill the theatre for this picture of the widely-read Faith Baldwin novel. The story is that of Van Sanford, wealthy magazine publisher. As Van, Clark Gable is happily married to Myrna Loy, who never dreams of being jealous of Gable's secretary, Jean Harlow. Gossip and warning and sly insinuations begin to reach the wife, warning her she should urge her husband to discharge his pretty secretary. When Gable refuses to promote his secretary to a higher executive post, he and his wife have their first quarrel. The quarrel is patched up and Gable flies to Havana for a rest. While he is away, a big consolidation deal arises. After he has gone the secretary uncovers something her boss must know immediately and follows him to Havana. During a late-night telephone call to her husband, the wife gets the secretary on the phone in his room. This is the last straw. The wife leaves the husband. She takes passage on a Europe-bound ship, where the secretary finds the runaway wife to tell her she is a fool—that the husband loves only his wife and if she goes to Europe she will lose him forever. The wife reconsiders, returns to her husband's office and he takes her in his arms. Harlow, as the secretary, is reunited with her boy friend, Dave, and she knows she has completed a secretarial job well done, that of preventing a divorce in the family of her boss.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE IS RIALTO HEADLINER

In a story that gives her the greatest opportunity for display of dramatic talent in her two years of screen stardom, Shirley Temple made a triumphant return to Medford in her latest starring picture, "The Littlest Rebel," when it opened at the Rialto theatre yesterday for a three-day run. As the tiny Confederate who dances and sings her way into the hearts of the Tanks and the Johnny Rebs, Shirley Temple appears with a sterling supporting cast that includes John Boles, Jack Holt, Karen Morley and Bill Robinson. The story of the picture has many strong dramatic moments and one that rings on tragedy, and it is in these scenes that America's favorite child actress demonstrates her genuine dramatic ability. By the Associated Press The diplomatic feud between Great Britain and Italy broke out on the floor of the League of Nations council today shortly after Italy had made known that its price for peace in Ethiopia was virtually the whole of the east African nation. Anthony Eden, Great Britain's foreign secretary, attacked Italy's alleged use of poison gas saying it "cannot be passed over in silence." Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy answered: "I would remind the representative of Great Britain that the Italians who have been victims of atrocities also have mothers and children."

Coming Thursday

Sylvia Sidney and Fred MacMurray have leading roles with Henry Fonda in the first all-in-color picture actually filmed outdoors. "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," which comes to the Craterian theatre Thursday. A story of the Cumberlands and bitter mountain feuds, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" departs from the usual method of stressing the color and accentuates the story instead, allowing the color to take care of itself in its own natural way. So careful was this kept in mind in filming the story that brilliant wild flowers, which might otherwise detract from the action of the play, were uprooted whenever the director felt color was too predominant. Nonetheless, a scene of the lake which occurs during the natural course of events is said to be one of the most breathtakingly beautiful "shots" ever taken by the screen.
