

STATE INCREASES RENTALS; REALTY MARKET IS ACTIVE

estate business in competition with owners who depend on rentals for a living. The state is now liquidating its holdings and sales are increasing with the upturn in real estate and the improvement of general economic conditions.

Realty men state that activity has continued at a fast pace during the summer months when ordinarily a lull can be expected.

Carl Y. Tengwald, real estate agent and Jacksonville county representative of the veteran aid commission, said that in the past 90 days the realty market has been more active than at any other time in the past six years.

"So many tenants have been compelled to move from place to place because of the sale of their residences that they are becoming anxious to own their own homes," Mr. Tengwald stated.

He related that there is a heavy demand for small suburban tracts of five to ten acres with all improvements, a demand, he added, that cannot be met.

Statistics issued by the Equitable Savings & Loan association of Portland on new construction also show an increased activity in real estate. The association's figures reveal a large gain in new building throughout the northwest, the percentage of increase being well above the national average for the first six months of 1936.

Medford is Third. The figures disclose the greatest activity in new construction since the low point of 1933. Rising steadily since the 1933 depression low, building construction in the Pacific northwest is gaining this year at an accelerated pace, the association said.

In the association's tabulation of percentage gains in the first six months of this year as compared with the same 1935 period, Medford ranks third among Oregon cities, being exceeded only by Portland and Eugene. Medford's gain was given as 49 per cent as against 44 per cent for Klamath Falls and 39 per cent for Corvallis. The national average gain was listed as 77 per cent.

The association's figures are based on building permits which are conceded to be considerably lower than the actual construction costs.

The association's tabulation shows building permits of $101,533 for Medford in the first six months of 1936 as compared with $67,880 in 1935, $63,643 in 1934 and $29,899 in 1933.

Medford showed a greater dollar volume of new construction as well as a higher percentage gain over Klamath Falls, figures for the latter city being given as $65,566 for the first six months of 1936, $45,494 in 1935, $50,689 in 1934 and $59,163 in 1933. Medford's dollar volume of new construction was almost double that of Corvallis.

Georgene Dolls Being Displayed Lampport Window

Lampport window display of Georgene dolls, remarkably lifelike and ranging in size from one foot to twenty inches, today attracted young and old passers by who stopped to admire the advance showing of "Sweeties," "Snooks" and their sisters.

Designed by Maude Toussy Fangel, celebrated painter of babies, N. Y., each doll has a lovely face and is outfitted with a complete costume including lingerie. There is no danger of breakage as the doll bodies are stuffed with kapok. They are covered with smooth washable fabric. Lampport's display shows the large doll family occupying a nursery with the appropriate wallpaper background, books, pictures and other furnishings.

CHEMAWA FIRST TIGER OPPONENT; MARSHFIELD NEXT

The colorful Chemawa Indians will furnish the first football opposition for the 1936 edition of the Medford high school Tigers, coach Bill Bowerman said yesterday.

On October 10 the Tigers will raid Marshfield for the last away-from-home encounter until Nov. 21, when Medford plays Salem at Salem. Roseburg will be played here on October 17, and on October 24 the Tigers play Grants Pass here. What is expected to be the toughest game of the year will be against Klamath Falls here on October 31, with the biggest crowd in several years anticipated after athletic relations were nearly ruptured as an aftermath of a close game at Klamath Falls in sub-freezing temperature last year.

The Ashland team will probably play here on Armistice Day, Bowerman said, although that is not yet certain. Last year the Tigers were given $300 to play in Ashland, but the Grizzlies are asking $500 for the Medford game this year. Such a sum will probably be found prohibitive, the coach said.

ALBERT STRATTON CALLED BY DEATH

Albert Elliott Stratton, 73, well-known resident and orchardist of the Central Point-Jacksonville road, passed away at a local hospital Thursday at 8 p.m., after a short illness from pneumonia. Mr. Stratton was born at Mount Hope, Wisconsin, April 15, 1863. He had been a resident of southern Oregon for the past 26 years.

At an early age he moved to Clay Center, Kansas, where he spent 14 years in the post-office, later engaging in lumber business at Lincoln, Nebraska.

He was united in marriage to Lorenna Smith at Lincoln, Neb., May 10, 1893. They spent the early part of their marriage in the east and middle west and came to southern Oregon in 1911.
