

EXPERT TRACES OLD PORTRAITS OF WASHINGTON

LONDON—(UP)—The Earl of Roseberry, possessor of one of the finest art collections in England, has come forth to settle "for once and for all" an old controversy about the authenticity of two George Washington portraits, painted by Stuart.

The dispute arose when it was announced that Knodler's, famous London auction house, had acquired the original of Gilbert Stuart's paintings of "The Father of His Country."

The Earl of Roseberry replied, rather tersely, that the Knodler canvas, painted in Philadelphia in 1785 on commission of Samuel Vaughan, who was a friend of Washington, was by no means the original of Stuart's Washington portraits.

"I possess a letter written and signed by George Washington making an appointment to sit for the portrait and there is a footnote signed by Stuart on March 9, 1823, saying that this was the only original portrait he ever made of Washington except one he owned himself," the earl announced.

The one which Stuart referred to as retaining in his own possession is a full-length portrait which has been in possession of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Art in Philadelphia since 1811, the Earl of Roseberry said.

The other one, which Stuart's footnote said was in the possession of Samuel Williams of London, has since come into my hands," he added.

London art critics, after examining the facts, ruled in the earl's favor, awarding him the title of Stuart's only original portrait of Washington except the one on view in Philadelphia.

After Stuart painted the president in 1795 he proceeded, however, to make 11 replicas, all of small size, and the American painter, Rembrandt Peale, likewise made 59 copies.

It is usually one of these replicas that appears in an auction, Andrew Mellon is said to own one of the true replicas.

RESETTLEMENT WORK CENTERED

PORTLAND, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Walter A. Duffy, regional director of the resettlement administration, today announced consolidation in the regional office in Portland of all technical functions and administrative details relative to analyzing and approving rural rehabilitation loans and grants. The move to take effect September 1 will enable state rehabilitation officers to devote their entire time to direction and supervision of field work.

"The realignment of detail functions will not only effect necessary economies in operation," said Duffy, "but will place the organization in line with other federal agencies by centralizing administrative and functional details in the regional office where the handling of all loans and grants can be standardized and the field offices can be served directly without routing through the state offices."

Dutch Beer Party Provided By Will

PHILADELPHIA—(UP)—George G. Griffith stipulated in his will: "I give and bequeath to the Pastym Rain Makers association No. 189, one-half the sum of $25 for a Dutch set out."

A "Dutch set out" is a beer party with all the fixings, say those who know. The Rainmakers is the "fun" organization of the great council, Improved Order of Red Men.

PORTLANDER APPOINTED ON AERONAUTICAL BOARD

SALEM, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Morris H. Jones, of Portland, will succeed Tex Rankin on the state aeronautical board. Governor Martin announced today. Rankin recently resigned.

The executive also appointed Dr. R. M. Peffer, of Corvallis, to the state board of chiropractic examiners, succeeding Dr. Lloyd Hockett, of Salem, whose term expired.

Archie San Roman, the Kansas State Teachers' and Olympic middle-distance runner, is majoring in music.

SOVIET TO TAKE CENSUS IN DAY

MOSCOW—(UP)—Using a force of 1,320,000 persons, the Soviet Union expects to complete its census of 1937 in one day, starting the huge task at 8 a. m., January 6, and finishing it at midnight.

Answers to 14 questions will be accumulated at great central counting stations in Moscow, Leningrad and Kharkov, where tabulation will be done by new accounting machines capable of sorting 480 cards a minute, and results of the census summarized within a year.

More than 1000 tons of paper will be used to print the questionnaires alone.

The list of questions, contrary to that of the census of 1927, does not mention class origin.

The Grange

Central Point Grange. Central Point Grange met August 7 with very good attendance. Obligations were given to a class in the first and second degrees, and also to two in the third and fourth degrees. The master of Griffin Creek, J. D. Brown, and several of the members of that Grange were visitors. Lecture hour, in charge of the Home Economics club, was enjoyed by all. The young people's drill team, captained by Peri Bonney put on their drill. The Grange appreciates the fine work done by the captain and members of this team.

Team number one is still in the lead in the attendance contest for the third quarter. Next regular meeting will be August 21 at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to be present to help their respective teams, as only three meetings remain in the quarter.

HINDU APPLIES HYPNOTISM AT BANK HOLDUPS

NICE, France—(UP)—A Hindu hypnotic holdups with an "all-powerful eye" which leads cashiers and clerks to pay up without a murmur is mystifying the French Riviera.

A Hindu magician strolled into a travel office, gazed at the cashier until he submitted to his will and handed over 4000 francs (about $275), the till.

"I could not resist his eyes," the cashier told the police.

On another occasion, the Hindu walked into a bank, threw a bundle of banknotes on the counter and asked the cashier to change them for notes of larger denomination. The cashier found there were 100 francs more than the Hindu had said.

"You are an honest man," the Hindu said, "and as a reward I will read your hand."

The cashier said the Hindu took his left hand, gazed into his eyes, and began ordering him to take money out of the cash box.

"I felt I suddenly lost all my will-power," he said, "and it was only five minutes after he had gone that I recalled I had given him money. I was hypnotized."

A cashier in a hotel at Cannes told a similar story. The Hindu just gazed at him and he gave up $80. It would have been more, but that was all there was in the till.

The Hindu's greatest triumph was to hypnotize a Riviera barman into giving him a drink without paying.

PARIS—(UP)—The Paris touts have formed a union.

Tipping "the winner of the next race" for a small fee is no longer a profession open to all comers.

Due to the depression, there have been too many recruits in the legion of tippers who infect the horse racing tracks in Paris and vicinity, so the "old-timers" have banded together to keep out the undesirables.

The tippers plan to issue a special union card, without which no tipster would be allowed to "work." Racing societies are said to be agreeable to the project.

There is even talk of forming an academy where apprentice tipsters would receive a thorough training in the proper way to "spiel," these youngsters being allowed to take the place of the oldsters who die or go broke by backing their own tips.

"Tipping race winners and making the public buy your tips is a fine art," said M. Polowicz, president of the new union. "Not everyone can do it, and lately we have had an invasion of novices, a variety of unemployed people of all kinds, and plenty of Russian princes and generals and former cavalry officers, all fighting for the few clients that are still left to us, so we decided to keep them out."

The usual fee for a "sure winner" is 1 or 2 francs (7 cents or 14 cents), but the upper strata in the profession, fellows who wear gray spats, top hats and a pair of prism binoculars, ask and get as much as 10 francs (70 cents) for "certainties."

Rainier BEER AND ALE

"Beer," or LAGER Beer?
There's a difference. The Federal definition of "lager beer" says it must be aged 3 months. Rainier is aged longer—so it is true lager beer; and lager beer is best. Have you tried it? Try Rainier—delicious without artificial flavoring; a richer, creamier head without artificial foam-maker; sparkling, clear color without artificial coloring. So Rainier is natural and pure as well as good.

AIDS DIGESTION...Leading physicians say a good, pure beer aids digestion, sound sleep, nerves, body-tone and complexion.
Try it for ten days, for flavor and healthfulness, if your doctor agrees. Don't say "beer," say "Rainier" to be sure of finest lager.
