Party Friday Eve For Young Couple Arranged At Club

Mr. and Mrs. William Bowerman, who recently arrived here to make their home after a honeymoon in the south, were honor guests at a dinner arranged at the Town club Friday evening by Mrs. Rupert J. Henry. Mrs. Bowerman was formerly Miss Barbara Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hamilton Young, of Altadena, Calif., and is a niece of Mrs. Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowerman, whose wedding June 22 in the Wee Kirk of the Heather at Pasadena was one of the most prominent of the season, have been cordially greeted by their many friends here since their arrival a few weeks ago. A number of affairs have been arranged to honor the young couple by friends among Medford's younger set, and others are being planned.

Other dinner guests Friday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Frohnmayer, who are also among Medford's newly married couples, Mr. and Mrs. John Day and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnes. Following dinner, the group was entertained at the Henry home for the remainder of the evening.

Portland Guest Visiting Daughter

Among Medford visitors is Mrs. Ada Keyt, of Portland, who arrived Friday evening from the north. She plans to remain in Medford for the ensuing two weeks as the guest of her daughter, Miss LaVerne Keyt.

Surprise Party Honors Birthday

A group of friends arranged a surprise birthday party for Mrs. R. J. Ray Friday evening, going to her home on Oak Drive. Games were arranged for entertainment during the evening, scoring honors going to Rev. W. R. Baird.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hemstreet, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hon, Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Curry, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kindred, Mrs. P. C. Latham and Mrs. J. T. Davis.

Daughters Guests of Mother, Mrs. Hurd For Vacation Visit

Mrs. E. H. Hurd is among the many Medford residents entertaining out of town guests during the summer vacation period. Arriving from the south by motor last week-end were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Medaris, of Los Angeles, Mrs. Medaris is a daughter of Mrs. Hurd. Mrs. Medaris returned south immediately by train, while Mrs. Medaris will remain as the guest of her mother until Sept. 1.

Also a guest of Mrs. Hurd is Miss Anna Hurd, of Holyoke, Mass., who arrived several days ago to spend some time vacationing here. She is also a daughter of Mrs. E. H. Hurd.

Mrs. Hurd and her two daughters were guests during the past week of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Manning of Prospect, where recreational facilities provide an ideal vacation spot. Mrs. Manning is also a daughter of Mrs. Hurd.

Date of Wedding Is Set at Party

At a charming party Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McAllister, 19 North Peach street, announcement was made of the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Marguerite McAllister, to Willey Phares, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Phares, of Los Angeles, which will be an event of Sunday afternoon, September 13, at the home of the bride's parents.

The announcement was made in a clever way, for as tally cards were drawn, the significance of the outer decoration was noted, and as the cards were opened, the date of the wedding appeared. Tiny sachets in scented lavender and crushed rose leaves, in pastel shaded containers, were given the guests with the cards.

The evening was spent in playing auction bridge and in visiting. Prizes were awarded. Miss Fionnie Holler was the traveling prize given for no trump bids. Mrs. Ruth Fortin was given the prize for high score. Mrs. Joan Pugh received second high and Miss Lucille Vale the consolation prize.

Refreshments were served at a beautifully appointed table centered in yellow flowers in a crystal bowl, at either side of which triple candle holders in crystal held white tapers. Pastel shades, with touches of silver, were used in appointments and service.

The guest list included: Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Phares, from Los Angeles, who were house guests of the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McAllister; Mesdames Mary Elson, Jeon Pugh, Ray LeFevre, Agnes Dallaire, Ruth Fortin, Verne Troxell, Ruth Hart, Glenn Abbott, of Medford; Lynn Spindler, of Ashland; the Misses Helen McAllister, Chloee Elson, Fionnie Holler, Helen McDonald, Lucille Vale, Catherine Oliver, of Medford; and Ruth E. Hanscom, of Ashland.

Burelson Return From Frisco Visit With Style Hints

Medford merchants who attended market week in San Francisco included Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Burelson, who returned here Wednesday night accompanied by their nine-year-old nephew, Joe Laughlin, of Grand Forks, N. D., who is spending the summer in southern Oregon.

Both eastern and western manufacturers displayed fall and winter apparel for women at the elaborate style show, which stressed the importance of black, according to Mr. Burelson. Next in prominence were brown, rust and green. Among the new silk fabrics featured by style authorities are moire, soire and taffeta. Velvet will be much in evidence for evening wear. Belted and swaggar back coats and suits with novel sleeve and collar treatment were shown with equal frequency, Mr. Burelson stated.

Derwin Jacobson, who came to Medford recently from Minneapolis, Minn., will remain here to assist Mr. and Mrs. Burelson, his aunt and uncle, at their store. He was in charge of management during their absence.

Young Couple Wed In Quiet Ceremony

Miss Katharine Reese became the bride of Emil Peterson of this city, at the home of her uncle, C. W. McDonald, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The quiet ceremony was performed by Dr. Sherman L. Divine before a small group of close relatives.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Reese, of Turin, Iowa, and has made her home in Medford for the past five years, being on the faculty of the Howard school.

The couple left immediately after the ceremony for a short wedding trip, after which they will be at home in Medford.

Rose Grocery Now Under Management Charles Wortman

Jerry Young, of Young's Car Market, Sam Colton, of the Office Stationery and Supply Co., and Charles Wortman, well known grocer, have purchased the Rose Grocery located at Jackson and Holly streets, according to an announcement Saturday by Mr. Wortman, who will manage the store.

The Rose has been completely restocked during the past week and it is now open under the new management.

Mr. Wortman has had 16 years experience in the food business. Prior to his leaving Medford he managed the Twentieth Century store then located at the corner of Main and Holly streets.

Mr. Wortman says: "We will feature home products and we are especially interested in the local wooden box campaign. I have seen much good develop from similar campaigns in other communities."

The Rose Grocery, which will be open Sundays and evenings, will have a complete line of produce and fresh meats.

John Smith has returned to Medford from Oakland, Cal., to assist in the operation of the store.

SEATTLE, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Col. W. B. Greeley, general manager of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, said today a "large number" of western Washington and western Oregon lumber mills have informed the association they plan "adjustments" of their production "the rest of the month and in early September.

Latest Hand-Knitting Styles
Hand-knitting is destined to hold its popular place in the fashion world again this fall with Paris, London and New York still sponsoring it.

Bernie's have arranged their fall selection of plain and fancy yarns, sold today at the elaborate style show, which stressed the importance of black, according to Mr. Burelson. Next in prominence were brown, rust and green. Among the new silk fabrics featured by style authorities are moire, soire and taffeta. Velvet will be much in evidence for evening wear. Belted and swaggar back coats and suits with novel sleeve and collar treatment were shown with equal frequency, Mr. Burelson stated.

Derwin Jacobson, who came to Medford recently from Minneapolis, Minn., will remain here to assist Mr. and Mrs. Burelson, his aunt and uncle, at their store. He was in charge of management during their absence.

Stewards Return From Market Week In San Francisco

After completing a month's business visit in Los Angeles and San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Steward arrived here Friday by motor. They attended market week style shows in both of California's fashion centers.

Fall and winter dresses feature accentuated shoulder lines, fuller, shorter skirts and elaborate braids, trimming, according to Mrs. Steward. Many of the new coats are lavishly trimmed with fur, some of them using bands of fur on the skirt. Feathers are favored for the high-crowned hats which are shown in felts and velvets. In addition to black and brown, rich tones of green, brick and Dubonne are included in the fall and winter color chart.

Before returning to Medford, Mr. and Mrs. Steward were guests of the latter's sister, Miss Joan Stecher, who is in the surgery department of the Saint John Bernardino Hospital. She recently completed three years of training at the Merritt Hospital in Oakland and the Los Angeles county hospital.

Ward Dept. Heads Attend Style Show

Mrs. Maurine Williamson, fashion department head; Everett Hooper, men's wear department head and H. L. Brown, manager of the local Montgomery Ward store, left today for Portland to attend a Montgomery Ward fashion show.

The latest New York fashion showings for fall, both in men's and women's wear will be on display, according to Mr. Brown. Orders will be taken and the merchandise will be rushed to the local Ward store as soon as possible.
