

JUDGE CREATES SOCIAL CLINIC IN JUSTICE SEARCH

PITTSBURGH—(UP)—A "social clinic" to eliminate guesswork by the sentencing jurist is the vision of Judge Ralph H. Smith, youngest man ever to preside in Allegheny county criminal court.

inal bench and returns to the common pleas division, he hopes to see punishment tailored to the individual instead of the crime. Psychiatric and physical examination of every defendant are the main instruments with which he hopes to institute the most far-reaching reforms the local court has known. Judge Smith's plan parallels to some degree that in use in federal courts and embodies desirable features of systems used in Chicago, Detroit, New York and Baltimore. For all his bluntness, his unswerving willingness to crack down on the racketeers and habitual offenders, Judge Smith made it plain that he is deeply concerned over the sentences he is obliged to pass "blindly," as he puts it.

"In all humanity," he said, "I consider it a matter of grave importance to reach into a man's life and take out a year, two years, four years, from the only life he has. "When I'm betting a racketeer for a lengthy stretch, often I think of the changes which have come about in my life in that same period of time. My children have been born. Relatives have died; some married. These things and more will happen in this defendant's family while he is in prison. "Why, then, should I sentence him without knowing that his crime, perhaps, was the result of a mental wrinkle which could be ironed out with proper treatment? "Perhaps he should be released, hospitalized or given institutional care. But where? We don't know—now. "But with our social clinic, the judge's function will cease to be a guessing game. The criminal courts will cease to be a battle-ground where prosecution and defense play a game in which the judge sits as a more or less impartial arbiter."

How to Find those Missing Long Tall Drinks

Every time you make one of your favorite long tall drinks you miss one. You miss another of the same sure-quenching quality but with a smart, new taste difference. The recipe is the same but instead of the Old Mr. Boston Distilled Dry Gin you like so well, you make it with Old Mr. Boston Sloe Gin. Not regularly, of course. That would be treason to a faithful friend but just occasionally for a change and an extra choice. You'll like its unusual taste, its wincy tang... not tart, not sweet... but grand for those record breaking hot days. Try it tonight. You already have the lemons, sugar, ice and ginger ale or charged water. Stop in for a bottle of Old Mr. Boston Sloe Gin tonight and find yourself a whole line-up of new drinks to companion the old favorites. Ben Burk, Inc., Boston, Mass.
