

Jean Harlow's Newest Production "Suzy" Opens Run at Craterian Today

FRANCHOT TONE IN SUPPORTING CAST WAR TIME ROMANCE

With two of the screen's most popular leading men playing the leading male roles, Jean Harlow's newest picture "Suzy" reaches the Craterian theatre today where it starts a three day run. Franchot Tone and Cary Grant are the two lucky fellows who play, respectively, husbands one and two.

The story is about Suzy, a showgirl, who finds herself friendless in London in 1914. Tone helps her out of a difficulty and they marry after a whirlwind courtship. Foreman of a factory operated by the silly woman spy, Tone is ordered killed when she becomes suspicious of his actions.

When Tone is shot, Suzy, believing him dead, becomes fearful of being accused and flees to Paris. The war breaks out. Suzy is wooed and won by Cary Grant, who later becomes France's most popular heroic war flyer. He becomes more and more attentive to other women than to his own wife and is caught in the web of espionage headed by the same woman who had shot Tone.

Later, Tone, Suzy and Grant meet, and from this meeting comes some of the most thrilling complications to the story.

Included in the supporting cast are Benita Hume as the spy; Lewis Stone as Grant's father; Inez Courtney, Greta Meyer and David Clyde.

The latest edition of "The March of Time" will be shown on the same program with "Suzy," while Sebastian Apollo has chosen Suppe's famous "Light Cavalry Overture" for his fifteen minute organ concert at the opening of the show.

It is ultra secret, but the war department has decided to rid itself gradually of the female influence. Precedence now is being given to men in selection of stenographers. Female stenographers have noticed promotion is increasingly difficult. The idea is to make the army a strictly man organization from the top down.

Shirley Temple's Newest Hit Coming Thursday

It's always an event when a Shirley Temple picture comes to town and advance reports give the little star's latest hit, "Poor Little Rich Girl," coming Thursday to the Craterian theatre, an unusual sendoff. Literally surrounded by stars, including Michael Whalen, Gloria Stuart, Alice Payne, Jack Haley, Sara Haden, Jane Darwell and Henry Armetta, "Poor Little Rich Girl" is the story of a tiny tot who wanders off from her maid and finds herself in the midst of exciting adventures, not the least of which shows her becoming the third member of a vaudeville act.

Psycho-Analyst

Starting today, with a matinee at 2 p. m., the Rialto theater offers a big double bill program on the screen and on the stage. On the stage direct from Hollywood making a coast-to-coast tour, Garnier, Master Psycho-Analyst and Miracle Man, will answer from the stage 30 questions on health, domestic, financial and other problems. The Rialto theater will have this special added attraction for both matinee and evening performances for the entire week, playing in addition to the regular screen fare. Garnier, comes highly recommended by United States senators, district attorneys, judges, governors and other prominent men, as the country's most famous psychoanalyst.

CALIFORNIA BRANDY CUTS OREGON PRICE

PORTLAND, Aug. 22.—(AP) Cutting of apple brandy prices by the Speas company of California April 1 practically ended the sale of apple brandy made by the Hood River Distillers, Inc. E. B. Pooley, secretary-treasurer of the Hood River concern, testified today at a hearing before the state liquor control commission.

The Hood River firm has contended on several occasions before the commission that the Speas products should be banned from sale by the commission because of what it contends is unfair trade practice.

stood glowering over Rhule as the man lay on the ground without a weapon of any kind. Rhule stuck his fingers in the animal's eyes and gave it a severe kick. The bull backed away long enough for Rhule to start rolling toward a fence. As the man went under the rail, the bull charged and one of its horns tore a long, deep gash in Rhule's leg.

Police Car Tongs Designed To Grab Fleeing Offenders

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 22. (AP)—Joseph W. Thompson, Portland, has devised a new way for traffic officers to catch fleeing automobiles. It is an invention the "auto-top," which resembles a huge set of sugar tongs. The tongs are bolted onto the front of the police car and can be clamped onto the rear bumper or fender of the fleeing car. Portland police reported they had tested the device 24 times and that it had failed only once.
