FOREST FIRE ABSENCE GIVES TOURIST BOON OF CLEAR ATMOSPHERE

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Tourists enjoying Oregon and Washington landscapes this summer have been favored by an unusually smoke-free atmosphere, the U. S. forest service said in a report today.
Fires caused by lumbering operations and railroads were the only exceptions in the summary which showed a decrease in the number of fires for this year over a corresponding period in 1935.
Lightning stands as the chief cause of forest blazes with man-caused fires next, the report shows.
On the twenty national forests of Oregon and Washington a total of 720 fires had been reported up to August 20, against 973 for the same period last year.
"Apart from the timber crop damage and destruction of scenic assets caused by these fires, the loss to Oregon and Washington from the summer standpoint alone cannot be estimated," said F. H. Brundage, associated regional forester.
Conclusions reached in the report indicate the "public generally has become more alive to the folly of careless land clearing and other carelessness which causes waste farm woodland and protected forest to burn over every year."

OUTPUT OF MINES GROWS SINCE 1934

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The bureau of mines reported today the 1935 domestic production of monetary metals, gold and silver, and base metals, copper, lead and zinc, increased substantially over production in 1934.
The increases, the bureau announced, also were accompanied by advances in value of the metals and correspondingly greater income for producing mines.
Observing gains in monetary metals, the bureau said "output of silver increased about one-third over 1934 in response to higher prices paid by the United States treasury for domestic newly-mined metal."
Gold production increased 18 percent in the United States and territories, including the Philippines, and rose to 3,676,327 ounces in 1935 from 3,119,160 ounces in 1934. The 1935 production was the greatest since 1917.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Peter Johnson and S. B. Dunn, both of Roseburg, were elected president and secretary, respectively, at the annual picnic of the local club of Alaska-Yukon Sourdoughs in Umpqua park here Sunday. This group is one of the two units of the organization in Oregon and includes in its membership all "sourdoughs" outside of Portland. The membership of the club approximates 300, according to reports.
"There are only six groups of this organization in the world," Mr. Johnson explained here. "Cities having clubs are Los Angeles, Roseburg, Portland, Seattle, Vancouver, B. C., and Tacoma. This year we will have our annual reunion at Vancouver, B. C., and expect an attendance of about 5,000."

CCC DIGS WELLS IN DROUGHT AREAS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. — (AP) — Robert Fechner, emergency conservation work director, said today the Civilian Conservation corps would expedite water development programs in government controlled grazing districts which have been harassed by the drought.
He announced allocation of $50,000 to the grazing division to speed work on the program and reported 25 well digging crews were busy in grazing districts seriously affected by dry weather.
In Oregon, Washington and Nevada, 21 springs, 18 wells and 10 reservoirs have been completed, Fechner said, and 60 springs, 101 wells, 15 reservoirs and several impounding dams were being constructed.

EXPAND AIR SERVICE TO SOUTH AMERICA

Twice weekly all-air service for mail, passengers and express from Medford to both the east and west coasts of South America now is available through schedules of United Air Lines and Pan American Airways as well as connecting routes, according to L. G. Devaney, field manager of United here.
Devaney reported that passengers can now fly from Medford to Rio de Janeiro in six days, to Santiago in six days and to Buenos Aires in seven days, with proportionately fast times available to scores of other points along both coasts of the South American continent. Only one weekly service was available to the east coast heretofore.
United Air Lines connects directly with Pan American Airways at Los Angeles and, through other services, at Brownsville, Texas, and Miami, Fla.

STATE FAIR PLANNING DAILY ENTERTAINMENT

SALEM, Aug. 25.—(Spl.)—"Entertainment features enough for two state fairs will be rolled into one big program for the Diamond Jubilee Oregon state fair in Salem September 7 to 13, and what is more, an exceptionally fine program will be staged free to fair visitors," promises State Fair Director S. T. White.
An elaborate free entertainment will be provided early every night of the week and Sunday afternoon in front of the grandstand, with Monte Brooks, well-known coast showman, acting as master of ceremonies and presenting a variety show of 10 numbers. Following this immediately will be the amateur contests, entry deadline for which is August 29, and last of all will be the spectacular fire jump by the 11th cavalry exhibition platoon from the Presidio at Monterey, Calif.
