CLAY PIGEON AGES IN REHEARSAL FOR NATION'S CLASSIC

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Transholing's greatest show—the Grand American Handicap—went into dress rehearsal today as the nation's premier marksmen staged a 100-target preliminary event built on the same lines as the classic which climaxes the 37th annual program today.

Today's preliminary handicap, and tomorrow's Grand American Handicap are exactly the same—and yet there is the greatest difference in the world. There is the same difference that prevails between the Kentucky derby and any other race in which the same horses are entered.

The marksmen, according to their averages for the year on registered targets, are handicapped by being moved back from the traps. The poorest shooters stand on the 16-yard mark and the experts on the 25-yard line, with the others scattered between.

No winner of the preliminary ever has won the Grand American, which is the top prize any shooter can annex. Neither has any shooter won the preliminary or the Grand American twice.

J. B. Royall, Tallahassee, Fla., railway conductor, winner of the 1935 Grand American Handicap, will not defend his laurels this year, due to the illness of his wife, but Zwerner was on the firing line today.

In addition to the 100-target preliminary, the national doubles title was up for decision today. Joe Riestand of Hillsboro, O., is the defending champion in that event where two targets are tossed at once. He is the favorite to repeat.

He repeated Tuesday for the North American clay target championship, and yesterday broke 200 in a row from the 16-yard mark to take the national class AA championship.

PADDOCK ADVISES OWENS TO REMAIN SIMON PURE

LONG BEACH, Calif., Aug. 27.—(AP)—A former world sprint king advised Jesse Owens today that he is making a mistake in turning professional because he can make $100,000 as an amateur.

Charles W. Paddock, the last white United States winner in the Olympic 100-meter dash, contends Owens can net at least $20,000 a year for the next five years while retaining his almost pure athletic status.

As a professional, Owens' career would be ended in twelve months at least, Paddock asserts.

The former "fastest man" now newspaper business manager and sports columnist here, published his views as follows:

"As a professional, Owens is good just so long as the memory of his achievements in the Olympic games are fresh in people's minds. He will have a manager (perhaps several of them) and a publicity agent.

"He will not be adding to his laurels but rather capitalizing on them. And in his case, it is a perfectly proper thing for him to do. More power to him. But when he ceases to perform, he simply stops being 'news'."

He cannot last very long. Therefore his earnings days will be soon ended.

"If, however, Owens should stay in the amateur ranks, he would be good as a 'live name' for at least another five years. Owens could write, speak over the radio, act and run all over the world, making at least $20,000 a year and getting a training in business which would fit him to carry on after his amateur athletic day was ended. Presumably, none of his friends are considering what Owens might do for himself as an amateur. They are thinking in terms of ready cash and quick turnover."

LONG COUNT DAVE PASSES IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—(AP)—"Long Count" Dave Barry is dead. The famous referee of the second battle for the world's heavyweight championship between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, fought in Soldier Field, September 22, 1927, died last night in a hospital after a six weeks illness from a nervous breakdown and a liver ailment. He was 47 years old.

Barry gained fame because of his "14 count" in the seventh round of the memorable battle when Dempsey knocked Tunney sprawling. Barry admitted he counted 14 over Tunney because Dempsey refused to retire to a neutral corner after scoring the knockdown, as prescribed by the rules of the Illinois state athletic commission.

His action caused a storm of disapproval from 102,000 spectators who paid a record gate of $2,658,600 to witness the battle.

DUDE CHICK GIVEN TASK OF TAMING BOB MONTGOMERY

Another whirlwind wrestling card, liberally sprinkled with meanies to match the hair-raising battles seen in the past two weeks, was announced for next Monday by Promoter Mack Lillard today. Dude Chick, powerful and clever ex-cowpuncher, victor over the present world champion, Alvin Britt, and one of the most popular men ever to grapple here, will face the unorthodox Bob Montgomery in the main event.

Montgomery has slammed his way to victory in five straight matches here, and has not dropped a scuffle in this city. At least one of his victories was attributable to wrestling skill, but for the remainder he relied on slugging, biting, kicking and clawing. Those who have seen the sleeping positions handed out by the cowpuncher to this type of opponent have little doubt but that the battle will be a wild one.

Chick is rapidly assuming the position as Public Enemy No. 1 to meanies. He first became popular here when he whirled the scurrilous Ken Hollis into a lather, and increased his favor when he put the flopper on Ted Christy. His local record is not unusual for him, and his main worry now is to keep from getting muscle bound signing contracts to devour bulls in California. Promoters say he is the best drawing card on the Pacific coast.

Joe Hubka, lean, graceful and fast Nebraska, matches his skill with the Tulsa Blacksmith, George Craig, in the middle bout. Craig has forged his way to the fore with his avvil flip, earning a name for himself when he annihilated Johnny Soos with it in brief time Monday. In Hubka, Craig will be meeting his toughest opponent so far in Medford, and fans are anxious to see how his wrestling stacks up against the brilliant mat work of the Cornhusker. Hubka has taken his last two matches, and is looking for a crack at Chick, possibly next week.

The opener is expected to be the hair-raisingest on the card, with Johnny Soos, how-legged and mean Indian, meeting Pat "Frankenstein" O'Brien. The stalwart old Hibernian, with a hull like a battered outrigger canoe, but with the heart of a battleship, is not likely to take Soos' rough treatment without firing a few of his own broadsides.

Attendance at the weekly gruntest stumped several weeks ago, but rocketed with the advent of the rough house lads. The crowd is expected to rise again this week, the third in a row featuring meanies.

SCHOLL EXPERT COMING FRIDAY

Revealing causes and remedies for all types of foot ailments, a special representative of Dr. William M. Scholl, noted authority in Chicago, will be at the M. M. Department Store all day tomorrow, according to announcement by C. A. Meeker.

Free pedo-graph imprints of stockinged feet will be made for visitors who are experiencing such trouble as corns, calluses, bunions and weak arches. These prints reproduce the size, shape and condition of each foot so that Dr. Scholl's specialist will be able to suggest the proper appliance or remedy in each case.

Annual demonstrations by Dr. Scholl's experts, at the M. M. store, attract large numbers of southern Oregon men and women who are eager to be relieved from foot disorders which are particularly noticeable during hot weather. Mr. Meeker stated.

An experiment is under way near Pleasanton, Calif., to determine if flax will grow in the locality.

BOYS START HIKE ON SKYLINE TRAIL

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Three Portland Y. M. C. A. boys hiked over the southern end of the Oregon skyline trail today, initiating the start of relays by which hikers will traverse the length of the state in the Oregon section of a Y. M. C. A. hike from Mexico to Canada.

The Oregon contingent picked up the trail at Beavick, Calif., where it was carried by California boys, and will take it on to Astoria, where Washington youths will complete the three-day hike.

Eugene Farnham, John Botsford and Steve Babson were hiking over the leg from Beavick to Four-mile lake, Oregon, where another group of boys will pick up the trail, carrying it northward to other relay points.

SAN DIEGO FANS THREATEN TO MIX IN PLAYERS' ROW

(By the Associated Press.) Threatened fistcuffs, flossy fielding and excellent pitching were unveiled to Coast league fans in exciting contests yesterday which narrowed the margin between first and fifth place teams to three games.

In San Diego the customers steamed onto the playing field during a rear riot after the Padres whipped Oakland 1-0, in an exciting game.

A triple play and three double killings featured a 4-1 victory by the San Francisco Seals over the league-leading Portland Beavers.

San Francisco Missions took their second straight game over Sacramento, 6-4, in a 10-inning pitchers' battle.

In a slam-bang battle, Los Angeles buried Seattle, 10-4, to even the series. The San Diego trouble culminated a game which saw Dick Ward win his tenth game in a row by limiting the Oaks to three hits in a duel with Southpaw Ken Douglas. After going 0-3 on a single and an error, Gene Desautels scored the deciding run in the second on Ward's infield out. The Acorns didn't threaten until the ninth when Jack Glynn doubled, reached third with one out.

Ward then whiffed Harlan Pool and when Empire Ray Snyder called Joe Gordon out on strikes the Acorns swarmed on the field. Leroy Anton, ejected earlier in the game, and Ward nearly had a fight, which was a signal for the fans to invade the field. Order was restored before serious trouble resulted.

EX-CHAMPIONS MEET IN FEATURE MATCH OF WOMEN'S TOURNEY

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The battle lines were drawn more closely in the women's western closed golf championship today with the only two former winners of the event against each other in the feature match.

On the basis of medal play in the qualifying and two-match play rounds, Marlon Miley, serious-faced 23-year-old defending champion from Lexington, Ky., appeared to have an edge on Mrs. Opal E. Hill.

Miss Miley was co-medalist in the qualifying round with a 79, only two over par, one under perfect figures for 18 holes in winning her first round match Tuesday, and was only four over par for 18 holes in the second round.

Two more of the early favorites—freckle-faced Patty Berg and Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis—also still were in the running as the field narrowed to the quarter finals with eight players.

In a quarter final setto Mrs. Greer Liffur, the southern California champion from Los Angeles, who just managed to squeeze through her first two rounds by one-hole margins, will meet Patty Berg.

Dorothy Traugott of San Francisco, a national finalist two years ago, faced another of the younger brigade, 18-year-old Hope Seligson of Detroit.

CAN CUBS REPEAT IS BIG QUESTION

By Associated Press. Can the Cubs repeat? That's a big question mark in the red-hot National league race today as the ability of the Giants to keep up their slugging pace.

Back home from the most disastrous road trip of the campaign, the pennant holders are showing definite signs of snapping out of their doldrums.

The situation today is just about parallel to what it was last September 4. On that date, the Cubs were in third place, 2 1/2 games back of the league leading Cardinals and half a game away from the Giants. They started one of the greatest winning streaks in the book that day, took 21 straight games, and named the pennant to their mast.

Today they're in third place, 3 1/2 games off the Giants' pace, and a game back of the crippled Cardinals. They've taken four straight now, winding up with a twin win over the Phillies yesterday, 4-2 and 7-4, to give them a record of five victories in their six starts since returning to Wrigley field.
