Miss Slead and K. C. Strader To Be Wed Tonight

Miss Dorothy Slead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Slead, will become the bride of Kellon C. Strader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Strader of Eugene, at the home of her parents this evening.

The quiet ceremony will be solemnized by Rev. Sherman L. Divine at 8 o'clock, with close relatives and a few intimate friends present. A small reception will follow the wedding, with the bride and groom leaving soon after for a wedding trip to San Francisco. They will make their home here.

Miss Slead is very well known in Medford, being one of the most popular members of the younger set and active in student-body and social affairs during her school days.

Mr. Strader has resided here for the past five years, during which time he has made many friends.

Among guests at the ceremony will be Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Strader of Eugene, parents of the groom.

Entertaining for the bride-elect this week were Mrs. Elwood Strader and the Misses Barbara Drury, Geraldine Latham and Audrey Lofland.

California Guests At Littlefield Home

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Littlefield have entertained a number of out of town guests at their home recently. Spending the past two weeks as guests of the Littlefields were Mr. and Mrs. H. Enlow and daughter, Delores, of Watsonville, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Enlow and children, Herian and Joy, of Long Beach, Calif.; and Mrs. Susan Enlow, of Visalia, Calif.

The group left yesterday to return to their homes. Charles Mace, of Los Angeles, has been visiting the Littlefields for some time and will remain a few weeks longer, expecting to return south at the end of the summer season.

Iowa Visitors Leave for Home

Leaving Tuesday morning to return to their homes were Mrs. James Trooper of Independence, Iowa, and her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Wright of Waterloo, Iowa, who have been house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Con Devore for the past two weeks.

The visitors expressed great satisfaction with southern Oregon, both as to climate and scenery. Among recent spots visited by the Iowans were Crater Lake and the Oregon coast, the group going to numerous coast towns from Crescent City, Calif.

Will Visit at Klamath Ranch

Leaving recently was Charles Voorhes, who plans a vacation stay at the guest of Mrs. M. B. Biddle at Yamal ranch in the Klamath country. Mr. Voorhes traveled by motor.

Mr. William Laing ARCHITECT

Mr. William Laing, architect, who was for several years, formerly engaged in the architectural business with offices in the Henry Building, of Portland, Oregon, has recently opened business in Medford, with offices over the United States National Bank, at the corner of Central and Main.

He has already been employed on several local construction jobs. He had the architectural work of the high school at Gold Beach, Oregon, also the Brookings Junior High School, of Brookings, Oregon, and the local Church of the Nazarene for the construction of their new church.

Town Club Planning Last Dance Saturday

Outstanding event of the week end will be the dance at the Town clubhouse on West Main street tomorrow evening. The affair is arousing much interest as it will be the last large social activity of the club and arrangements are under way to make it a memorable occasion.

Dancing will start at 9:30 o'clock, with several informal affairs to precede the dance being arranged by small groups. This is the first time in several weeks that the club has been host to all members at the same time, and the dance will be one of the first of early fall events which inaugurate the more active winter season.

In charge of the affair are members of the house committee, who extend a cordial invitation to all members, many of whom are expected to make this an opportunity of introducing out-of-town guests to friends.

Due to the fact that this is the last event of its kind, a large crowd is expected.

Former Resident To Be Married

Of interest to his many Medford and valley friends is announcement of the coming marriage of Frank O'Neill, of Grants Pass, to Miss Marian Honey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Honey of Tillamook. Mr. O'Neill, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. G. L. O'Neill, left yesterday for Tillamook.

The ceremony will take place next Tuesday in Tillamook at the First Church of the Nazarene. Miss Honey attended Pacific university at Forest Grove, from which Mr. O'Neill graduated last spring. They will make their home at Hermiston, Ore., where he is athletic coach of the high school.

The O'Neills resided in Medford several years ago and have many friends here. Frank attended high school in Medford for two years.

Miss McAllister Honored Monday

Miss Marguerite McAllister, bride-elect, whose marriage to Wiley Phares will be an event of September 13, was honored with a surprise shower Monday evening, hostess for the affair being Mrs. Aubrey Pugh, who invited several friends to her home.

Blue and yellow decorations formed a colorful background. Several tables of bridge were in play during the afternoon, with scoring awards going to Mrs. Arthur Laing, Miss Marguerite McAllister and Miss Lucille Yale.

Guests for the evening were Mesdames J. E. McAllister, James Stewart, Jack Fortin, Arthur Laing, Verna Troxell, Glenn Abbott, Frank Edwards, Harold Fawcett and the Misses Luella Vale, Helen McAllister, Florence Hollers and the honor guest, Miss Marguerite McAllister.

New York Guest Overnight Visitor

Arriving in Medford yesterday was Miss Frances Butterfield of New York city, who is on a route home following a vacation in California. She was the overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. S. Wells and left this morning on the Shasta for the north. She plans to return east via the northern route.

While in Los Angeles, Miss Butterfield was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sheldon, former residents of Medford. Mr. Sheldon arrived from the south yesterday and expects to return Sunday accompanied by his son, David, who has been a guest at the Wells home for several weeks.

Noyes Arrive for Vacation Stay Here

Arriving on the Shasta this morning from their home in San Francisco were Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Noyes, who plan to spend some time vacationing at their summer lodge on Rogue river.

Mr. and Mrs. Noyes are among many bay city residents who make annual visits during the summer season to resorts in southern Oregon. Rogue river claiming a large share of the visitors, many of whom maintain summer homes here. Mr. and Mrs. Noyes also spent some time here earlier in the season.

They plan to remain here for several months.

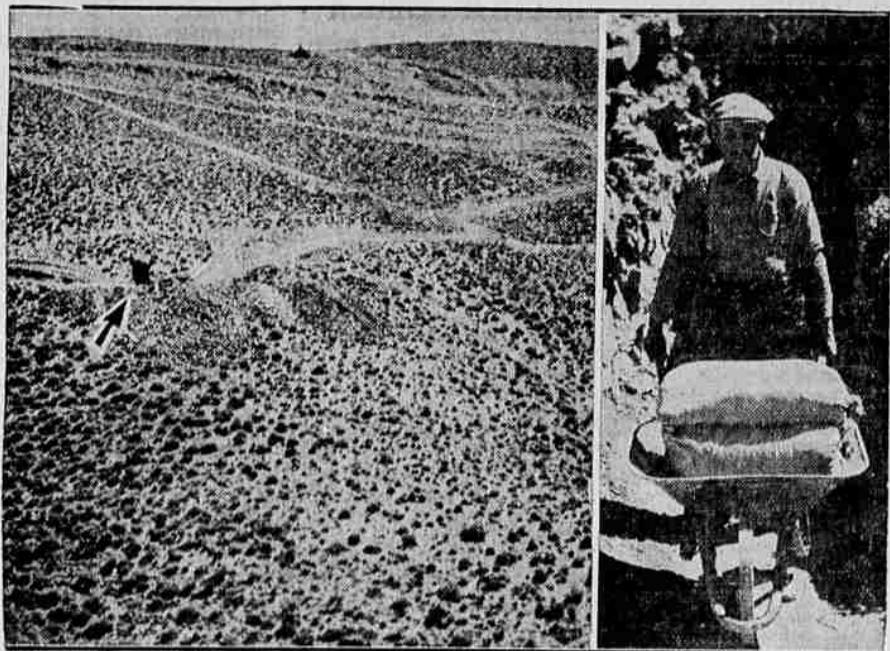

Mrs. Frohbach Leaves for East

Departing this morning for the east was Mrs. H. O. Frohbach, who plans an extended stay with relatives and friends in various eastern and middle-western cities.

Mrs. Frohbach will stop at first in Portland for a short time, going from there to Three Forks, Mont., for a stay with relatives, and continuing to Iowa, where she will spend some time with her sister. She will go from Iowa to Minneapolis, where the greater part of her stay will be spent.

Mrs. Frohbach expects to be away for several months, planning to return some time next spring.

WHERE STOREKEEPER STRUCK RICH GOLD MINE

Here are the first views of the actual workings of George Austin's Jumbo mine, which drew former President Herbert Hoover to the edge of Nevada's Black Rock desert on an inspection trip. At the left an arrow indicates the tunnel from which the Junco, Nev., storekeeper is taking out rich gold ore that has caused him to value his claim at upwards of $1,000,000. At the right, Frank Carlstrom, an employee, wheels sacked ore out of the mine entrance. (Associated Press Photos)

Winter Pear Plans Told Traffic Assn. BY PROF. HARTMAN

Professor Henry Hartman of Oregon State college, inventor of the Hartman fruit wrap, and in other ways intimately associated with the fruit industry, was the main speaker yesterday noon before the Rogue River Valley Traffic Association.

Professor Hartman has recently returned from Chicago where he has been working on the establishment of ripening rooms similar to those in service on the New York market last year. He stated that temporary facilities will be arranged this year, with the probability that a new terminal building will be constructed next year. The proposed building, he said, would house not only the auction market, but would have space for ripening and refrigeration.

Raymond Reter reported on the committee meeting held during the week for the purpose of investigating the possibility of a government subsidy for surplus fruit crops under the AAA. He announced that a similar meeting will be held in Portland Saturday, with he and David Rosenberg the local representatives, and other fruit men from the Wenatchee and Yakima district of Washington, and Hood River present.

A letter announcing the request was received at the offices of the state board of control here today.

W.C.T.U. To Share $12,000 Bequest

SALEM, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Britanna G. Fulton, who died recently at The Dalles, bequeathed $12,000, to be divided equally between the W. C. T. U. children's home at Corvallis and the Eastern Oregon state tuberculosis hospital.

A letter announcing the bequest was received at the offices of the state board of control here today.

FRED W. STONE, 64, TO LAST REWARD

Fred Webster Stone, 64, passed away at a local hospital Friday evening after an illness of six months of pernicious anemia. He was born at Oregon City, Ore., December 5, 1871, and was married to Grace Campbell, July 28, 1907, at Algona, Iowa. Two children were born to the union. He is survived by his wife, Grace Stone and two children, Mrs. Mildred E. Wardrip, Coquille, Ore., and Miss Nettie Stone, also one granddaughter, Waneta Wardrip, one sister, Mrs. E. J. Dourte, Roseburg, Ore., four brothers, William and Harry Stone, Roseburg, Ore.; Clark, Tiller, Ore., and Alanzo, Myrtle Creek, Ore.

The remains will be forwarded to Roseburg by the Per Funeral home where funeral services will be held Sunday at the Ritter funeral home.

Forests Closed

SALEM, Aug. 28.—Governor Martin ordered the closure to entry today, except by permit, of all of the Mt. Hood national forest west of the Cascade mountain summit, and all of the Clackamas and Marion county fire-patrol association land.

Mary Phillips, George M. Coban's late leading lady, is one of the latest stage actresses to succumb to the Hollywood fever.

PORTLAND MINER MISSED WEALTH BY HOUR'S TIME

Short Cut Through Nevada Sagebrush Gave Junco Storekeeper Lead in Race to Latest Rich Discovery

By C. C. WRIGHT United Press Correspondent JUNGO, Nev., Aug. 28.—(UP)—A short cut across Nevada sagebrush that brought George Austin to the Junco "hill of gold" an hour ahead of a Portland gold operator gave the Junco storekeeper possession of what many authorities, including former President Herbert Hoover, believe might be the richest gold find in the United States in the 20th century.

Austin has refused millions for the mine, which he intends to operate himself on a small scale, taking out merely enough to meet the honest needs of his family and himself.

Wife Runs Store

The story of his acquisition of the valuable property was told today on the porch of the store which Mrs. Austin continues to run while George supervises installation of a 25-ton mill at the property 35 miles across the desert wastes.

J. C. Stagg and Clyde Taylor, young prospectors, made the original find but apparently they failed to realize the importance of the discovery.

They were being financed on a grubstake basis by Idaho backers and when the backers withdrew the small monthly allowance they had been granting the prospectors started panning on the claim and turning in the small amount of gold for food and supplies at Austin's store.

The storekeeper-postmaster-hotel-keeper of this little desert town became interested through their visits and decided to go to the mine, 35 miles across the sagebrush, to inspect it. He had been looking for a mine of his own since he was 20—43 years ago.

Bidders Lacked Cash

After his visit, Stagg and Taylor asked $500 down and $10,000 altogether for their claim. Austin did not have the money at the time, so the owners started looking for another buyer. Several persons bid for the property but they lacked the ready cash, and the prospectors, disgusted after their grubstake was cut off, wanted to get rid of the mine immediately.

C. H. Griffith, Portland man operating a dry washing machine in placer mining near Rosebud, had the cash and he decided to see the prospectors about the property.

As he started across the desert in his machine, Austin also was on the way to the "hill of gold." He had obtained the necessary money in Reno and he left a cloud of dust two miles long in his wake as he raced toward the mine. He took a short cut from Inlay to Junco and reached the Stagg and Taylor property an hour ahead of Griffith.

Had his pace been more leisurely or less direct, he might be still the hotel-keeper-postmaster-storekeeper of Junco and not the owner of a fabulously rich gold mine, the rival of the great Comstock lode.
