False Economy

SLAYERS SOUGHT IN BLUE LEDGE AREA

News Behind The News. By PAUL MALLON. (Copyright, 1936, by Paul Mallon) WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—There seems to be a split in the Union party. The great coalition is not coalescing.

Latest word from headquarters is that they may meet on two speaking occasions during the campaign, but no more. And some authorities around headquarters suspect that even these two occasions will never occur.

Associates of Father Coughlin report him currently running his fingers through his hair and wondering how he ever came to get tied up with the Rev. Gerald Smith. They picture the microphone maestro as a deeply serious and sincere man who does not favor the methods of Huey Long's old organizer. Some of Gerald's funny stories particularly offend the dignity of the economist assessor of the federal reserve bank.

Also for a time, recently, doubts were increasing among unionists as to whether Dr. Townsend had been uninvited.

They think now that they have all that straightened out; that the real estate doctor is working hand in glove with Lemke and Smith. Yet some who are close to the situation

"We always, in the course of a few hours and after a simple order, can mobilize 8,000,000 men," he told cheering thousands who crowded the town square here yesterday.

Diplomatic quarters interpreted his declaration to be aimed against two recent actions by Adolf Hitler in Germany and Joseph Stalin in Russia.

Father Advises Brites to Hide

YREKA, Calif., Aug. 31.—(AP)—A. J. Brite, 65, father of John and Coke Brite, sought for the slaying of three men, said today he had advised his sons to hide out until possibility of their being lynched had died down.

Brite said his sons told him they thought they were being attacked when the officers visited their camp to arrest them on assault charges.

"Pa, these people will mob us if we stay here," he said Coke told him. Brite and his wife, 65, are former Tennessee mountaineers.

"It's been a bad year," the father said. "First Mamma got the fever in the spring, then the horse got the ringbone and couldn't plow, the pigs started cutting up and now my boys are in trouble."

"I am not upholding them. If they have done wrong they should pay, but I want my boys to have a fair chance."

"The fellows will not give them a fair chance. I told them to go out in the woods until this thing died down and then give themselves up."

THRESHERS RACE TULE LAKE FLOOD

KLAMATH FALLS, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Twelve combines moved over Louis Kandra's barley fields on Tule lake today as a shaky dike held back flood waters that now have inundated most of the acreage on Haskins and Cox brothers leases.

Although Kandra's grain was not yet fully mature, it was deemed wise to start emergency harvesting operations as water moved against the dike that separates the Kandra and Haskins leases.

Haskins gave up harvesting work at midnight Saturday, leaving about 500 acres of standing grain covered by water.

HEALTH ONLY AIM OF GOV. BEN ROSS

BOISE, Idaho, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Physical suffering has dimmed Governor C. Ben Ross' thoughts of the campaign he had planned to strip the worn United States senatorial toga from the shoulders of Republican William E. Borah.

New Deal Critics Target For Martin at Picnic

PORTLAND, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A challenge to "anyone" to say successfully that the Roosevelt administration was "foolish" in spending $7,499,000,000 to end the depression came from Gov. Charles Martin at a picnic rally Sunday at an estimated 10,000 Democrats here.

Attacking the "carping critics" of the spending program of the administration, the governor remarked: "It has been said that figures never lie but that liars figure. I may add that liars also make it a practice to deal in half truths, the better to pursue their own course and hoodwink the public."

AIRPLANE ATTACK UPON DESTROYER BRINGS WARNING

Commanders of American Ships to Use Own Judgment in Further Attacks—Mistaken Identity Claimed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Naval officers, scanning reports of the attempted bombing of the destroyer Kane, indicated a belief today that American war vessels in Spanish waters were further answer with renewed gunfire any further attacks which might endanger them.

Whether such action would be necessary remained to be seen. The American government, startled by yesterday's attempt to sink the destroyer off the Spanish coast, already has made swift and emphatic protest to the Madrid regime and the rebels, calling on them to prevent another such incident.

Although manifestly hopeful that no new incident of that character will occur, navy department attaches said a commanding officer's first consideration was the protection of his ship and crew, and that he had full discretion to proceed in any manner he sees fit to insure that protection.

Authorized to Shoot Should the judgment of any of the commanding officers of the five ships now in Spanish waters be that use of the ship's guns is necessary in an emergency he has full authority to resort to such procedure.

Speculation was stirred in official and unofficial circles over the possible attitude of the United States government had the Kane been hit and damaged by one of the bombs. But officials declined to comment publicly.

Thus far the embassy at Madrid has not reported concerning a strong (Continued on Page Three.)
