

PLANE ATTACKS MOTORIZED CAVALRY IN MANEUVERS

United States army forces were mobilized at Fort Knox, Ky., for theoretical war games. Here is a plane of the "blue" army roaring low toward the "red enemy" as a mechanized cavalry unit swung its gun into position to repulse an attack. (Associated Press Photo)

NEW YORK ELEVATED TRAINS' CRASH KILLS ONE

One person was killed and several injured when these two elevated trains crashed in a rear-end collision at New York. This graphic picture shows the telescoped cars with firemen and police attempting to extricate the victims. (Associated Press Photo)

GIRL SEES BANDIT KILL FIANCE

Claudia Morris, 21, saw a bandit kill her fiance, Edwin Poston, 24, when Poston grappled with him in an attempted holdup at Stockton, Calif. Miss Morris and her mother, Mrs. E. H. Morris, were seated in a car with Poston when the thug accosted them. (Associated Press Photo)

High Flyers

Stewardess Betty Schiltz feeds some two-months-old antelope flown from Pitchfork, Wyo., to Chicago and eastern points and Europe for zoos. (Associated Press Photo)

MATANUSKA COLONISTS TEND THEIR GARDENS

This picture gives an idea of the type of houses at Palmer, the newly built "capital" of the colony at Matanuska, Alaska, to which Uncle Sam sent many drought-ravaged farmers. Ross L. Sheely, manager of the colony is shown at work in his garden. (Associated Press Photo)

ROSALIND WINS HAMBLETONIAN

Rosalind, owned by 21-year-old Gibson White of Lexington, Ky., is shown as she won the eleventh Hambletonian, premier trotting stake, by taking the second and final heat at Goshen, N. Y., after capturing the first mile before a crowd of 45,000 people. Rosalind (in lead at right) was driven by Ben White, father of the youthful owner. (Associated Press Photo)

READY FOR HIS OPERATION

Behind the mask is "Norsuto," six-year-old male orang-utang, born at the Philadelphia zoo. The mask will keep him from scratching his eyes after doctors remove cataracts. Note the grill work to be opened at feeding time. (Associated Press Photo)

VICTIM OF 'CHAIN MURDER'

Raoul Louis Cherbourg (left), 36-year-old seaman, was identified by police officers from fingerprints as the man whose nude body was found wrapped in chains near the Dumbarton bridge across lower San Francisco bay. At right, Deputy Coroner John Lowman of Oakland, Calif., holds the heavy chains that bound and weighted down the body. Authorities termed the case murder and arrested a suspect. (Associated Press Photos)

ZOO'S OLD MAN TAKES LIFE EASY

Having reached the ripe old age of 20, "Jim," orang-utang at the Fleishacker zoo in San Francisco, now spurns his former strolls about the grounds with Head Keeper Fred Chatten and loafs in his cage. Captured in Sumatra, he is the largest orang in captivity in the United States. (Associated Press Photo)

RACE DRIVER UNHURT IN COLLISION

Lloyd Logan, 24, lived up to his nickname of "Lucky" in this spectacular collision on an Oakland, Calif., speedway. He is shown at left being flung from his car when it was struck by a machine piloted by Duane Carter. He was only slightly bruised. (Associated Press Photo)

PLOT CHARGED IN HEWITT CASE

This is the latest San Francisco courtroom photo of Ann Cooper Hewitt, who testified against Dr. Tilton E. Tillman and Samuel G. Boyd in the prosecution growing out of a sterilization operation upon her. At right is her attorney, Russell P. Tyler, who was grilled as to whether there was a "plot" by Ann's advisers to control her fortune. (Associated Press Photo)

WILL ALFRED VANDERBILT MARRY?

New York society speculated on how long it would be before Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt became a benedict. Currently his name is linked romantically with that of Katherine Barker of East Hampton and New York, with whom he is shown at the races at Saratoga. (Associated Press Photo)

MRS. DILL'S CAMPAIGN 'BANDWAGON'

Rosalie Jones Dill, divorced wife of former U. S. Senator C. C. Dill, has "trailerized" her campaign for the Democratic congressional nomination in the fifth Washington district, which includes Spokane. She is pictured at the door of the trailer she uses as headquarters while on the road. (Associated Press Photo)

Heads Junior C. C.

Walter E. Hofman (above) of Portland, Ore., was unanimously elected president of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce at its convention at Memphis, Tenn. He was vice president four times. (Associated Press Photo)

ANCIENT INDIAN CITY BEING RESTORED

Ruins of the Indian city of Kinlaha, near Whiteriver, Ariz., which archaeologists say dates back to A. D. 1250, are being excavated under direction of Dr. Byron Cummings of the University of Arizona. One of the "apartment" buildings had 700 rooms. Here is a view of part of the restored structures. (Associated Press Photo)