FIRE ON CRUISER DUE TO SABOTAGE, OFFICER REVEALS

on the fire had been made public prior to today.

Lieut. W. E. Guitar, aide to the commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard, said "It sounds like poppycock to me" when asked about Los Angeles reports that attempted sabotage had been discovered aboard the cruiser Indianapolis.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Acknowledging that sabotage probably was responsible for a small electrical fire aboard the heavy cruiser Indianapolis, the navy said today an investigation was being pushed at the New York navy yard to determine who was responsible.

All details had not been fully developed, the department added, and no arrests made.

The Indianapolis is the third of the navy's new cruisers to meet with a mysterious accident during the last year, although in the other cases the navy did not directly attribute them to sabotage.

MRS. POMEROY TO APPEAR ON BALLOT

Nominating petitions, bearing the signatures of 571 Jackson county residents, were presented yesterday to the county clerk by Ariel Burton Pomeroy of Central Point, and her name will appear on the November ballot, as an independent candidate for the legislature, from this county. Under Oregon law, 511 names were required.

The petitions bear names of residents of all sections of Jackson county and for the most part were circulated by Mrs. Pomeroy herself.

Procuring of the required number of signatures will place five legislative candidates on the Jackson county ballot at the general election. Others are: Glenn O. Taylor and William McAllister, Republican; and James Stevens and Ralph O. Stephenson, Democrats. Stephenson was drafted, when Moore Hamilton, primary nominee, withdrew two weeks ago.

Mrs. Pomeroy has announced as one of her planks, a legislative quiz into the trial of L. A. Banks, murderer, and former local agitator, now serving a life term in state prison.

WILL HOLD MASS IN OPEN SUNDAY

An open air mass will be celebrated Sunday morning in the recreational area at Union Creek for Roman Catholics of Medford, Klamath Falls, Lakeview and Bend, it was announced today. The mass will be said at 10:30 o'clock by the Rev. Father E. J. Murmane of Astoria. A picnic will be held after the service.

This is the first open air mass to be celebrated in southern Oregon in many years and all Catholics of the area are urged to attend. It will be held in the center of an area of natural scenic charm, the altar to be set up and decorated by the Altar society of Sacred Heart church here.

Those attending the picnic are asked to bring their own basket lunch and service. Each church represented will provide coffee, cream, sugar and ice cream for its own parishioners.

UTILITY REDUCES ELECTRICITY COST

SALEM, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Residential and commercial lighting patrons of the Mountain States Power company received a 12½ per cent reduction in rates amounting to $75,000 annually, Public Utilities Commissioner Frank C. McCulloch announced today.

The company serves the cities of Albany, Dallas, Corvallis, Springfield, Tillamook, Marshfield, and North Bend, and large rural areas in Polk, Marion, Benton, Linn, Lane, Tillamook and Coos counties. The power company filed the lower rate schedule yesterday.

While the principal reductions were made in the top steps of the schedule, the company said larger consumers will likewise be benefitted by a reduction from 3 to 2 cents for consumption over 150 kilowat hours.

Farm users were permitted to install a 7½ horse-power motor for electricity use rather than the present maximum of 3 horsepower.

McCulloch announced that with these reductions, a total of $275,000 savings annually in power and telephone use has been effected since August 18.

Clyde Aitchison Weds In Capital

PORTLAND, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Wedding bells rang here today for Clyde B. Aitchison of Portland and Washington, D. C., member of the interstate commerce commission.

His bride was Miss Ada Chenoweth McCown, legislate assistant of the library of congress, Washington, D. C. A member of a pioneer Oregon family, she formerly lived here and graduated from Reed college.

The couple will reside in Washington after November 1.

ORGAN STILL GRINDS OUT TUNES OF 1786; GIFT OF GEORGE III

MONTREAL (UP)—A barrel organ that King George III of England presented as a gift to Big Chief Thayendanega, ruler of the six Mohawk nations, a century and a half ago, has been placed on display in the Chateau de Ramezy here.

One of the rare objects of historic interest in North America, the organ is the center of a friendly controversy between the Antiquarian Society of Montreal and the Historical Society of Brantford, which is seeking to obtain the instrument for the archives of the latter city.

Highly educated and a visitor to the Old World on several occasions, Chief Thayendanega in latter life discarded his Indian title to become known as Joseph Brant, for whom the city of Brantford was named.

Resembling a modern humidifier more than a musical instrument, the organ has the titles of 32 ancient songs on its cover, the majority of which have been forgotten for more than a century. Although the organ can be played with only slight musical satisfaction, remnants of the old tunes still can be distinguished. Among the songs that tinkle quaveringly from the venerable instrument when the hand bellows are pumped are "When William at Eve Meets Me," "Sweet Poll of Plymouth" and "The Topsail Shivers in the Wind."

AUSTRALIA EXPORTS ELM LEAF TOBACCO

MELBOURNE—(UP)—When large quantities of fallen elm leaves were bought in the Australian town of Bacchus Marsh for shipment to Germany, a rumor spread of a mysterious new explosive being extracted from leaves.

Then came the explanation. Two customs officers saw the leaves being put through a hydraulic press and converted into plugs like tobacco. They tested this new "smoke" and found it quite palatable and smooth, though somewhat damp.

So it seems that German smokers, in these days of currency difficulties, are to be converted to the new elm leaf "tobacco."

SHRINE TO BE BUILT FOR KING GEORGE IN VILLAGE OF WINDSOR

WINDSOR, England—(UP)—Plans for the monument to King George at Windsor—the town from which he selected the royal family's present surname—have received approval from King Edward and Queen Mary.

A tender for execution of the work has been accepted and the memorial should be ready for unveiling next spring when King Edward is expected to preside at the ceremony.

Sir Edward Lutyens has designed the memorial so that the central feature is a stone cenotaph of massive dignity, yet simple in ornament. On the top is a carved representation of the royal emblems resting on a cushion.

Upon the steps leading up to the cenotaph will be carved the inscription:

George V
First Sovereign of the House of Windsor

Below and in front of the monument will be a rectangular basin of water, with two raised fountains, one on each side. The site of the memorial is directly below the walls of Windsor Castle and in the center of the town.
