

SALE OF ORCHARD PROPERTY, HOMES AIDS REALTY MART

Sale of two orchards and two residences was reported yesterday by Clinton Spencer, manager of the real estate department of Brown & White.

Activity in orchard properties is steadily increasing, Mr. Spencer said, and further sales are anticipated for the fall. With marketing conditions improving, outside capital is becoming available for productive valley orchards, he stated.

The J. B. Kirk orchard a mile east of Phoenix was sold by the Brown & White agency to R. H. Hammond, manager of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company here. The orchard is planted to Bartlett, D'Anjou and Comice pears and was described as being in prime condition.

On the property is a modern two-story, eight-room country home with full basement and central oil heating unit. The orchard is equipped with all necessary accessory buildings. A spacious, landscaped yard adds beauty to the home which affords a panoramic view of the Siskiyou.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk and family are to depart for their winter residence in Ojai, Cal. They have been valley residents the past couple of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammond and family are to take immediate possession of their new orchard property. They have not disclosed plans regarding disposition of their home on Crater Lake avenue.

The Jewett orchard about five miles northeast of Medford was sold by Brown & White to Orchard Park Farms, Inc., of which Walter Leverette is president. The acquisition gives the corporation its eighteenth orchard in the Rogue valley. It was sold for Mrs. Georgia A. N. Jewett, former valley resident now living in Chicago.

The property comprises 80 acres of which 20 are planted to pears, the remainder being in grain.

The residence at 101 Crater Lake avenue was sold for the Union Life Insurance company to H. H. Miller who arrived here recently with Mrs. Miller from Ohio to become district manager for an insurance company. The Millers are to take possession in about 30 days, the dwelling being rented. It is a modern two-story, eight-room frame house with central heat.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Judd sold their home at 411 King street through Brown & White to the Rev. E. Iverson who made the purchase as an investment. It is a five-room cottage.

Dr. M. A. Miller of Phoenix yesterday reported ownership of a sow that on Thursday farrowed 18 pigs, 17 of them being alive at birth. The average litter runs from seven to 11 pigs, Dr. Miller said.

When apprised of the exceptionally large litter, Mrs. Miller exclaimed: "The depression is over."

Dr. Miller, a retired dentist, came to Phoenix in 1929 from Wahoo, Neb. He raises hogs commercially.

'ROSY' HOME FROM HOSPITAL SEIGE

Still utilizing crutches, but with prospects of discarding them within a few weeks, A. S. Rosenbaum, district freight and passenger agent for the Southern Pacific railroad, returned on the Saturday morning train from San Francisco, where he had been recovering from a broken hip. Mr. Rosenbaum sustained a severe fracture when he fell in Yreka, April 16, last.

He spent two and a half months in a cast in the Southern Pacific hospital in San Francisco and has since been undergoing treatment at that institution. The treatment at the hospital was wonderful, Mr. Rosenbaum said yesterday, and he also expressed deep appreciation of the hundreds of letters, telegrams and bouquets sent him by southern Oregon friends during his convalescence.

A. S. ROSENBAUM

"Rosy" declared he would be forced to take life at a rather slow pace for a time but expected to again be playing golf before winter rules him off the Rogue Valley course.

JACKSONVILLE BOY GETS SCHOLARSHIP

William Dorn, of Jacksonville, graduate of Medford high school with the class of 1931, received word yesterday that he had been awarded a year's scholarship of $150 at the Oregon Institute of Technology in Portland.

Two such scholarships are awarded annually to a boy and a girl in the state by the Oregon Grange Bulletin, Grange periodical.

The awards are based on high school records, character recommendations and a thesis submitted by the applicant giving his reasons for wishing to continue his education.

Dorn expects to take civil engineering at the institute and will leave this evening for Portland.

AUTOIST JAMMED WHEN CAR STARTS

A type accident once common, but seldom heard of in this day of mechanically cranked autos, yesterday resulted in painful leg bruises and scratches to B. P. Hale of this city, who was cranking his car, and forgot to take it out of gear. The machine lurched forward upon the motor's starting, and jammed Hale against a car belonging to the Economy Seed and Feed company, parked near their store on West Sixth street.

The man's cries for assistance in extricating himself from the tightly locked cars quickly assembled a large crowd. An ambulance was called but was found unnecessary.

FIRST SNOWFALL AT CRATER LAKE

The first snow of the autumn season fell Saturday in Crater Lake national park, whitening the ground and giving promise of further precipitation over the week-end.

Attendance for the current season reached the 167,500 mark Saturday, 9,000 more than visited the park during the entire season of 1931, the record year. The park will officially close September 30, by which time it is expected many more thousands will have visited the scenic wonder.

EXAMINER ROILS HEARST ATTORNEY IN GUILD TRIAL

SEATTLE, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A protest by Edward G. Woods, hearing Hearst counsel, against asserted "coaching" of a witness by Edwin S. Smith, trial examiner for the national labor relations board, enlivened the board's shortened hearing today on the Post-Intelligencer case.

At a half-day Saturday session, Woods, through a subpoena list, also disclosed the first time the names of Seattle labor leaders to be called by him when the presentation of the Post-Intelligencer case is begun, probably late next week. Records of meetings of the Seattle Labor council will also be brought before the hearing.

During cross-examination of Forest E. Williams, a guild member and striking Post-Intelligencer employe, by Woods, the examiner interrupted to question Williams. His queries were about Williams' testimony of talking the guild over with Oliver S. Morris, P. I. city editor.

Woods, after a few questions, broke in:

"I take an objection and exception to the interruption of my cross-examination by the examiner," he said. "Certainly this should be a fair and impartial hearing."

"There should be no attempt by the examiner to coach a witness. Either he will stop or I shall stop. Shall I proceed, or shall you?"

Smith replied: "Your words speak for themselves. I think you know the answer."

Woods proceeded with his examination.

CRATERS UTILIZE DONKS IN PARADE

With their picturesque Daniel Boone uniforms adding a touch of frontier color to the parade, a group of Medford Crater club members joined the Gold Hill celebration held yesterday and together with the citizens of that thriving little community thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

A touch of the comic was added to the fun when the Craters discovered some donkeys were available for their use. Using the little animals for saddle horses—minus the saddles—the more eager members soon learned that riding bareback aboard a razor-backed "donk" was a none too good substitute for saving shoe leather, and later reports had those who did the riding aping the small boy who had just visited the woodshed with his father—eating off the mantle.

FARMER HELD FOR KIDNAPING SELF

TYLER, Tex., Sept. 12.—(UP)—W. O. Funderburk, Lufkin farmer who was reported kidnaped several days ago, was charged today with using the mails to defraud by writing his wife a ransom note demanding $1,500.

The ransom note, mailed from Shreveport, La., claimed Funderburk had been kidnaped by two men and carried to Texas.

Federal bureau of investigation agents and Texas rangers aided Angelina county officers in the search for Funderburk, who was arrested at Lufkin, Tex., today.

State Fair Mishap SALEM, Ore., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Lester Davis, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Davis of Portland, suffered possible internal injuries today when he tripped into the miniature train on the state fair grounds and was dragged several feet.

Education Board Meets PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The regular September meeting of the state board of higher education will be held at the Healdman hotel here Monday, September 14, officials of the board said.

CHILLY WEATHER BRINGS WARNING

Two small fires yesterday brought a warning from Chief Roy Elliott: The caution should be used in starting stoves, heaters and furnaces for the first time. Care should be exercised, the chief counseled, to see that all heating equipment is clean and in good condition. He pointed out that at the advent of cold weather fires are sometimes started without thought of the condition of the equipment.

Chief Elliott stated that now is the time to burn any rubbish that might have accumulated during the summer. He warned, however, that rubbish fires should not be left unattended.

The first fire yesterday was in the home of Mrs. Grant Todd, 504 Palm street. An excess of oil poured into a heater flared up when the heater was lighted. Chief Elliott said, No damage was done.

The second fire was at city hall where an overheated furnace pipe ignited the soot in the chimney. No damage was done. The chemical crew answered both calls.

MRS. BASFORD IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Elizabeth Maud Basford, 58, passed away at her home at 720 Crater Lake highway Friday evening of heart failure. She was born in Nova Scotia, Canada, January 7, 1878. She had been a resident of Medford for the past three years, previously residing in Portland for 25 years.

Mrs. Basford was a member of the Presbyterian church of Prosser, Washington.

She leaves her husband, Edmonds L. Basford, of Medford, and one son, Dr. Harry Basford, of Prosser, Wash., and four step-children: Mrs. Edith Bonar and Ma. Stella Erickson, of Portland, Ore.; Miss Louise Basford, of Medford, and Mrs. Elsie Noble, of Salem, Ore. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Southerland of Portland and Mrs. Mary Peck of Hancock, Minn.

The remains will be forwarded to Portland for funeral services and interment. Peril Funeral Home in charge.

NICKEL MACHINE, CABIN PILFERED

Thieves entered two Medford places Friday night, making off with between $15 and $20 in nickels from the pin-ball machine at the Smoke House bowling alley, and getting an airplane trunk, two purses and personal property from a cabin at the Merrick auto camp.

Entrance was gained to the Smoke House, located in the old Dreamland dance hall, by a window on the west side. The thief apparently clambered up a sign just below the window. The machine was broken and the coin depository looted.

Entrance was gained to the camp cabin by a rear door, left open while the occupants went down town.

George Spray, president of the Alma Elysium Foundation nudist colony, said he expected 300 delegates from California, Oregon, Washington and Colorado by tomorrow for the three weeks' session.
