SIMON PURE AGES CHANGE STYLE TO COPE WITH COURSE

Johnny Goodman and Scotty Campbell Remain Favorites to Cop Championship — Field Still Dangerous

By BOB CAVAGNARO
Associated Press Sports Writer
GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Form is surviving the hazards of the Garden City club battleground of the U. S. amateur golf championship.

It still seemed like Johnny Goodman's show today as 16 survivors strode into the fifth round of 18-hole match play.

Albert (Scotty) Campbell of Seattle, held with Goodman as an 8-to-1 pre-tournament favorite, Johnny Fischer, the lean and lanky Cincinnati shotmaker, George Volt, the Walker cup veteran, Gus Moreland, transplanted Texan who lives in Florida, Ill., and Tommy Talier, Jr., warmly regarded local hope, all with plenty of financial support, were in the thick of the contention.

Hook Is Fatal

It hasn't been easy for the top-notchers. Three of them, Goodman, Campbell and Fischer, changed their styles for this stiff 73-par course. Johnny opened the face of his clubs to increase accuracy on his shots. A hook here is fatal, thus accounting for the strictly amateurish scores. Fischer and Campbell have adopted the open stance.

While it seemed a virtual certainty that the winner will emerge from among Goodman, Fischer and Campbell, the homebreds have two dangerous Britons to contend with. They are John D. A. Langley, 18-year-old British schoolboy title holder, and Jack McLean, pride and joy of Glasgow, Scotland, but an uncertain winner.

Campbell's next opponent will be Bill Holt, the young Syracuse, N. Y., auto salesman, who sprang into prominence by beating Reynolds Smith in the second round. Other pairings: Fischer vs. Moreland; Ray Billow, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., vs. Larry Lloyd, Forchheimer, N. Y.; David Davis, Austin, Tex., vs. Russell Martin, Chicago; Bob Fraser, Omaha, vs. Volt; and John F. Hiddell, Jr., Garden City, Va., Talier.

SECOND GRIDMAN DIES FROM BURNS

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Tom McGannon, star Purdue university halfback from Evansville, Ind., died this morning from burns received in a shower room explosion of gasoline fumes after practice last Saturday. Two blood transfusions were given McGannon in an effort to save his life.

McGannon, 20-year-old junior, was the second mainstay of this year's Purdue team to succumb from burns suffered in the fire, caused when a coal stove ignited gasoline fumes. Carl E. Dahlbeck, of Lyndonville, Vt., veteran guard, died Sunday.

Still another of the stars whom Coach Noble Kizer had expected to form the nucleus of his 1936 gridiron machine is in a serious condition. Lowell Decker of Reading, Mich., fullback, suffered severe burns and his recovery was not certain.

The gasoline had been used to remove adhesive tape from the players.

IMP LOSES THIRD GO WITH LOUGHRAN

OAKLAND, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Ray Impeltiere's ambitions to rise once again in the heavyweight ranks, ran into the pounding fists of little Tommy Loughran here last night and the New Yorker lost his third ten-round decision to the Philadelphian.

Impeltiere, who outweighed his foe 52 pounds at 239 and towered over him by half a foot, had Loughran wobbling and bleeding in the sixth round, but the 33-year-old veteran sprang into action and won the last four rounds handily.

Loughran scored decisively over the "Big Imp" in 1933 and 1935.

As nearly as we can discover, the first high school football game in southern Oregon is to be staged tomorrow night, under lights, at Grants Pass, with the Cavemen tangling with the Dunsuir eleven. The game will see the first night football ever played in the Rogue valley. Grants Pass having organized last year with the entire city cooperating in putting up a new grandstand and installing the incandescents.

Coch Lorren Tuttle admits to the same difficulty that has been besetting Coach Bowerman of Medford—his big shots, secure in the knowledge they had a place cinched on the squad, stayed out of school an extra week. He's going to show them Friday night, he says, and start a string of the faithful who practiced before school opened.

The Cavemen team is going to be big this year, and one of the major hurdles for the Medford Tigers, Monday night was the last line scrimmage before the initial game, and practicing with plays has been under way only three days, so the Grants Pass offense is not expected to be much. They should have little difficulty in downing Dunsuir, for all that.

Asland and Klamath Falls papers are strikingly reticent about reporting what their teams are doing. We've been watching them pretty close and haven't found out much yet. This much we know without any outside papers—both teams are laying for Medford, in hopes of breaking that four-year victory string. One or both of them might accomplish it.

Young Larry Schade, Jr., who registered at the Senior high school for the first couple of days and turned out for football one night, has transferred his allegiance back to the St. Mary's high school corridors. His leaving was something of a disappointment to Coach Bowerman and Kirtley. Schade has as nice a set of games on him as any lad of his age in town, and they were counting on him to do some pretty good work next year, and in basketball even this year.

While his one-man exodus back to St. Mary's doesn't please the two mentors at Medford high, it hasn't displeased Wally Rickett, third baseman on the Medford baseball school, and Medford insurance man. Rickett has accepted a plea by the Rev. Father Francis W. Black of the Sacred Heart Catholic church that he help the St. Mary's high school boys in organizing a football team. He will issue the first call to arms Monday night.

St. Mary's might turn out a good team, even the first year. They have supplied Medford high with some splendid athletes in the past few years, including Bob Smith, Ray Lewis, Leo Sakrakis, Joe Denman and, a few years ago, Joe Patton.

Patton moved to the public school and turned out for basketball, but for some reason not yet fathomed, didn't get much recognition. After his graduation he entered University of San Francisco two weeks late, turned out for basketball, and a week later was on the first string on the Frosh five. Now he's rated one of the best college forwards on the coast!

Random observations! Rex Gillin-sky, out for a halfback post at the senior high, pulled his shoulder out of joint last week and has been practicing with a harness on it—says it doesn't hurt when it comes out and he'll keep on playing despite a doctor's warning that it may leap out and hit him in the face anytime.

Prince Siki Mihalakis, Arabian rasser, forgot to bring his Packard brought up from San Fran with him and was around this morning trying to flag a ride out to the Elks' picnic grounds. . . . Still no word from the Cincinnati Reds, who are supposed to conduct a baseball training camp here for a week, starting September 28. . . . Eddie Brietz reports: "Grays has 42 players on its grid squad. Cornell has 45 and Colgate 60, for a total of 147. Yet, all three combined are 47 short of the number Elmer Layden has to pick from at Notre Dame. Just the same, Elmer couldn't mean any louder if he was on a coast-to-coast hook-up."

Watch Notre Dame this year, by the way. They're due to go places.

ELK BASEBALLERS READY FOR CLASH

With pit fires blazing all night in preparation for the big barbecue tonight at the Elks' picnic ground on Rogue river, everything is in readiness for one of the biggest outdoor gambols on the green in the history of local amateurism. It was announced today by the various committees.

The Pat-Lean baseball game will start the program at 4:30, with the barbecue dinner starting at 6:30. Following the dinner, CCC fighters will put on an outdoor boxing exhibition. The Elks band will play during the matches.

The Elks will get their first look at wrestling when Mack Lillard presents two all-star matches as the windup of the evening. The first match will be between the highly rated Arabian, Prince Mihalakis, and Pat O'Brien, son of Erin.

The main event wrestling tussle will be between Joe Hubka, rated as one of the most nearly perfect physical specimens to appear here, and George Craig, the Tulsa Blacksmith. For variety the card has much to offer, with all of the men having a good following among the local wrestling fans.

The matches will each be for one fall, or for 30 minutes of wrestling time, under Australian rules. Ray Frisbie will referee.

Government artillery batteries in the Guadarrama passes opened a deadly fire of shells as the fascist forces attempted to scale the jagged peaks and drive the socialists from the mountain posts.

An insurgent air squadron bombed the Truhla gun factory in Oriedo province, it was reported, while socialist fighting planes on the Aragoz front routed six fascist ships, forcing one to land. The grounded plane was reported to be of foreign manufacture and piloted by a foreign flier.

Copyright, 1936, The Associated Press. TOLEDO, Spain, Sept. 17.—Execution by explosion of 1700 men, women and children in Toledo's Alcazar was postponed at the last minute today, the mayor of the city told the Associated Press, to give the besieged fascists one more chance to surrender.

The postponement also was ordered to put finishing touches to the mining of the shell-battered citadel, the mayor asserted.

CLUE IN BEHEADINGS GIVEN BY HOBO WHO SIGHTED MAD SLAYER

The commission must file a preliminary report with congress by January 31, 1937, and its final report by May 31, 1937.

Auction markets in all the larger cities, but principally those of New York and Philadelphia, will be investigated by the commission. The inquiry will be carried on both by questionnaire and in the field under the supervision of Dr. W. H. S. Stevens, assistant chief economist.

Congress failed to appropriate any money for the new investigation, but authorized the commission to use any unexpended balance of the $150,000 voted for the inquiry, now being considered, into factors affecting farm incomes generally.

Additional funds may be asked of congress in the first deficiency appropriation bill next session.
