CENTRAL OFFICE ESTABLISHED BY LOANING GROUPS

To reduce the operating expense and at the same time to give land bank borrowers more efficient service, the directors of the Medford, Josephine, Williams, Ashland, Central Point, Gold Hill, Phoenix and Rogue River local farm loan associations have voted to conduct their business through a central office located in Medford, it was announced today. The units serve Jackson and Josephine counties. Warren Patterson of Central Point has been appointed secretary-treasurer, at a monthly salary.

Mr Patterson was formerly secretary-treasurer of the Central Point N. F. L. A., also seving as part time field collector for the Federal Land Bank of Spokane. In addition to his duties as secretary-treasurer of the new association, he will service all land bank and land bank commissioner loans in the two counties, it was learned.

Under the arrangement each association will continue to be a separate organization, but will conduct its secretarial work and field activities through the headquarters here, with the bank defraying a substantial portion of this expense.

By virtue of this compensation by the bank, loan fees will no longer be paid to the secretary-treasurer. All receipts will go into a general fund to help build up reserve accounts for the association, it was said.

Mr. Patterson said today that as a further step toward an efficient, unified co-operative credit service, the farm loan associations are co-operating closely with the local co-operative credit associations which were organized under the farm credit act of 1935, to perform a similar service in the field of short time credit.

The presidents of the farm loan associations which have joined in setting up the consolidated office here are C. W. Isaacs, Medford; R. E. Lathrop, Josephine; George H Sparlin, Williams; T. S. Wiley, Ashland; J. W. Birkholz, Central Point; S. S. Abbott, Gold Hill; Myron J. Morris, Phoenix and Deldrick Straus of Rogue River.

The 402 loans outstanding in this group, according to Patterson, total $1,070,284.

CLEAR THINKING URGED BY F. R. IN FORUM ADDRESS

ministration had led to greed, labor shortages in industry, a "numb dependency" of relief recipients and resentment, instead of sympathy, toward the unemployed.

During his administration, he said, relief was handled locally and "no one starved," and there were no charges of politics, waste or corruption.

"Today, instead of sympathy for the unemployed and the destitute, there is growing resentment," he asserted.

BONDS POSTED BY BUNCH, COATES IN HUNTING TRAGEDY

where the hunters were standing to the point where Meyer was struck.

Officers who investigated the fatal shooting testified that in making their investigation they had no difficulty in calling a message from the spot where the body lay to the point where the two empty shells were found, and that it was easy to distinguish the color of clothing across the intervening space. The distance was variously estimated at from 300 to 600 yards.

Both local men testified that they did not see Meyer, and did not know that he was even in the vicinity. He was dressed in olive drab clothing they told the jury he was hidden by brush. He had been standing in brush 40 feet nearer the hunters than the deer which they said they had fired at, they testified. They told the hearers that one of their shots had fallen short and killed Meyer, who was directly in the line of fire.

They testified that they did not know they had hit the other hunter until they heard his moans on the hillside above them. He had been a personal friend of both men, they said, but was on a different hunting party stationed on the far side of the ridge over which the deer was said to have disappeared.

The body of Meyer arrived in Medford at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and is held at the Conger funeral parlors. Funeral services will be held from there Sunday afternoon, with Chaplain Anderson of the CCC officiating. Interment will be in Siskiyou Memorial park.

The dead man's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyer, of Fergus Falls, Minn., will be here for the funeral.

Triangle Milling Co. representative will be at F. E. Samson Co. all day Saturday to assist with your poultry feeding problems.
