

STUDY TO SETTLE PUZZLING ORIGIN OF CRATER LAKE

CRATER LAKE. — (Spl.) — Dr. E. Howell Williams, eminent geologist of the University of California, left last week after completing a preliminary study of Crater lake as a part of complete research into the geologic past of the area. Dr. Williams estimates that four years will be necessary for the research.

His work is sponsored by the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C., and will be the most complete geologic study of the park as ever completed.

Joseph Diller, famous government geologist, in 1902 was the first scientist to make a geologic survey of Crater lake. At that time roads in the park were rare, making it impossible to reach all sections of the area in making his study in the limited time he had available. He arrived at the conclusion, however, that the ancestral mountain of Crater lake, Mt. Mazama, was a gigantic volcano which collapsed within itself.

This theory was generally accepted but in the meantime new thoughts came into being that perhaps the 7000-foot summit was destroyed as a result of explosion. Evidence was offered to support the theory.

With these different theories, the mystery of old Mazama and the origin of Crater lake deepened.

The research of Dr. Williams is expected to reveal evidence directly pointing the way to the solution of the mystery. During the past fortnight he studied a number of the canyons of the park. This month he leaves for Java and Japan to spend the winter studying volcanoes there to gain material which he expects will be of aid to him when he returns to Crater lake next July to spend the entire summer carrying on the research.

see still as a mirror except for the ripples of feeding trout.

"As we paused and looked at this scene, the only sound was a faint rustle of the wind in the trees, the breathing of the saddle stock and the creaking of the saddles. Then, as if to dramatize the entire scene and add the final touch of picturesque wildness of the basin, a great bald eagle launched himself from a snag at the foot of Whiteface peak and soared majestically across the lake.

"It was six o'clock in the evening before Buck and the saddle horse were headed for Lake of the Woods. As we crossed the divide into Wood creek the brilliant golden-red sunset seemed to signify the end of a perfect day, but not quite, for there were ten miles ahead to ride, part of it so

By Elsie Stark.

"When I go, I leave my reputation behind me," said a saucy young actress as she left a chatty, convivial party.

The woman who entertains finds herself in exactly the opposite position. When her guests take their departure, her reputation as cook, homemaker and hostess goes with them. What they say about her is colored, to a great extent, by what she served. Was the meat tender? The dessert attractive? Did the salad show a touch of imagination?

What is imagination in, say, the making of a salad? Well, nothing world shaking, really. Just a combination of two ordinary fruits, which are not usually served together, is sufficient to give a hostess a reputation for cleverness and distinction. Something as simple and yet as different as:

Banana and Cherry Salad
4 small ripe bananas
16 sweet red cherries, halved
Whipped Cream Mayonnaise*

Place banana cut in half lengthwise in crisp lettuce or romaine. In the center pile 8 halved cherries. Serve with Whipped Cream Mayonnaise.*

(Note: Berries may be substituted in place of cherries.)

Whipped Cream Mayonnaise
1/2 cup cream, whipped
2 teaspoons confectioner's sugar
1/2 cup Best Foods Real Mayonnaise
Fold real mayonnaise, which is guaranteed to have no starchy filler, and sugar into whipped cream. Makes 1 1/2 cups mayonnaise.

Bids Opened On Crater Rim Road

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Dunn & Baker company's bid of $156,005.30 was the lowest of eight offers to grade 2.9 miles of the south rim road in the Sun Nutch-Kerr Notch sector of Crater lake national park. W. H. Lynch, district engineer of the U. S. bureau of public works, said today. Headquarters of the firm is at Klamath Falls.

Cotton Ruin Seen By Lack of Labor

CLARKSDALE, Miss., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Plants of the Mississippi delta broadcast an appeal today for at least 10,000 laborers to pick a bumper yield of cotton.

They faced ruin of acre upon acre of the south's largest money crop unless a labor shortage is alleviated rapidly, they said.

ALL-TIME TRAVEL RECORD IS MADE AT CRATER LAKE

CRATER LAKE.—(Spl.) Establishing a new all-time travel record, the Crater lake national park attendance total for the current season is rapidly approaching the 175,000 mark. The previous record was set in 1931 with 170,284 persons.

The largest percentage of this total came from Oregon, having a slight lead over California, although the latter leads in first entry cars. The state of Washington is third and Idaho fourth, with eastern states, including Illinois, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, not far behind. Several foreign countries were also represented.

All entrance roads are in good condition. The north entrance was temporarily closed two days last week following the first snow storm of the season but will continue to be open until the next heavy storm. After the arrival of excessive snows, the entrances will be closed for the season. However, the south and west roads will be maintained in an open condition throughout the winter.

Persons arriving after September 30 will find accommodations available within 20 miles either side of the park, at the nearest cities of Klamath Falls, Bend and Medford and at points along the way.

By entrances the travel, September 18, was as follows: west 21,412 cars, 67,329 persons; south, 19,212 cars, 61,720 persons; north, 9,387 cars, 29,293 persons; east, 5,691 cars, 16,427 persons.

The 1936 travel season will officially close September 30. Travel in October, November and December of this year is counted on the 1937 total. Food, lodging, transportation and postoffice services will close September 30 until next May.
