

VINING TO HEAD VALLEY PIONEERS, NO DISBANDMENT

60th Annual Meet Held At Jacksonville Thursday—Applegate Man Is Last Pioneer.

At the 60th annual reunion of the Society of Pioneers of Southern Oregon held in Jacksonville Thursday, plans for disbanding the organization were thrown in the discard and those assembled in the historic old Jacksonville court house voted unanimously to continue. During the past year the two surviving pioneers, Mrs. Letitia Harvey of Medford and Mrs. S. E. Howlett of Eagle Point, died, and it was believed the only surviving pioneers were gone. A committee was formed to determine, therefore, the advisability of continuing.

The committee discovered that the constitution of the society made eligible all those who arrived in Oregon prior to 1859, and their immediate families, which would make many native sons eligible. When these findings were presented the meeting the unanimous vote followed.

Later in the day it was, surprisingly, discovered that there was still a pioneer left in southern Oregon. Newton Hawkins of the Applegate was introduced. He is in his 87th year, is totally blind and almost entirely deaf, and was led by his son. He told the society that he was born in 1848 in Illinois, crossed the plains by wagon at the age of five, in 1854. The family settled in the Umpqua valley, later moving to California. They returned to Althouse creek in Josephine county in 1880, to a mining camp. They mined there several years, moved to Jacksonville, and subsequently to the Applegate.

Mr. Hawkins said that he had joined the original society, but that much as his name was not on the record, it had been supposed that the last survivor of the original pioneers had died. Members of the society expressed their delight in finding a remaining pioneer.

Professor Irving E. Vining of Ashland was elected president to succeed Frank F. Van Dyke of Medford. Mr. Van Dyke presided during the business session. Other officers elected were Clarence Lane of Ashland, first vice president; Miss Lydia McColl of Ashland, second vice president; Mrs. Ella Garrett of Ashland and Miss Molly Britt of Jacksonville and the treasurer for the organization.

Mrs. Mamie Day Nelson, who for the past 27 years has served the club as secretary and treasurer, withdrew. Her father was the original secretary and treasurer, making 60 years that the position has been held in the family.

At noon a delicious dinner was served under the direction of the Native Daughters of Jacksonville. Long tables graced with a feast such as the pioneers themselves had in the early get-togethers which they held frequently.

It was at the dinner that the proposal to abolish the society was so overwhelmingly discarded. Professor Vining spoke at the dinner, as did Ben Beckman, Senator George Dunn, Alice Hanley and Mrs. Emil Peil. The first white child born in Jacksonville, Mr. E. Armstrong, was introduced. He was born in 1853.

Evan Reames, a native son of Oregon, delivered the main address of the day. Mr. Reames, on the 16th annual reunion, in 1922, in the same room in the old court house, delivered the main address. He told the assembly that he considered that first appearance one of his greatest privileges, and that he considered his second selection in no less a light.

He told the society that in 1892 there were perhaps four or five hundred pioneers in the audience, as well as hundreds more from their immediate families. He briefly outlined the battles that those pioneers had fought so they could hand down a priceless heritage to their descendants.

Mr. Reames pointed out that in the whirl of modern life the pioneers will not and can not be forgotten. He said "Perhaps we can now bring into the society the available memories from the families of these departed pioneers. Perhaps among them will be those who will lead in the gathering of historic and biographical data for others who will from these records compile the information necessary to tell the story and preserve the record to which the pioneers are entitled. There will be in this number some who have the time, and I know the distinguished ability, to do this work that the printed volumes will find the place in the historical archives of the nation."

Mr. Reames read Longfellow's beautiful poem, "Psalms," and closed with the following words: "When these dear pioneers passed from our families they took with them their fond memories of us, and left with us our sweet memories of them. Let us then annually renew these memories and thus bring ourselves a little nearer to the forces that are yet beyond the human control."

The reunion was well attended. Rev. L. P. Belknap of Medford, himself born in 1845, led the prayers. Music was presented during the day, with Harvey Field of Medford and Katharine Wendt of Jacksonville singing to many encores.

The saddest part of the day's ceremony was the reading of obituaries. Death took 17 members of the society since the last meeting in Jacksonville last year. Of the 17, Mrs. Harvey and Mrs. Howlett were the only pioneers. One came across the plains to arrive in Oregon, while the others were born in this western country. The constitution of the society defines a pioneer as one who arrived in Oregon, either overland or by sailing ship around the horn, while those who were born here are termed native sons. Mrs. Harvey was a member of the Merriman family, one of the earliest families to settle in Oregon.

The next meeting will be held in Ashland, as provided in the Jacksonville-Ashland alternate ruling in the constitution. Professor Vining will appoint committees for the coming year in the near future.

27 MILE HR. WIND ROARS OVER CITY

Medford pedestrians clutched hats and endured miniature dust storms yesterday as a wind, which started early in the morning, swept the valley, reaching a velocity of 27 miles per hour at 11:55 a. m. According to weather bureau officials, the sudden wind was caused by a high pressure area over the plateau region in eastern Oregon.

A very rapid increase in velocity was noted between 10 o'clock and noon, due to the unusually steep gradient between the high pressure of eastern Oregon and the low here and in northern California, weather statisticians report. After noon the stiff breeze gradually decreased.

"Fall flowers and grapevines planted around the garden make a good wind-break."

MISSOURI SOLON FLAYS NEW DEAL IN G.O.P. SPEECH

Charging the New Deal with complete failure to live up to its 1932 election platform, Missouri State Senator Cliff Titus made an impassioned appeal for a return to "American philosophy" at the Senior high school Friday night. Senator Titus, representing the Republican national committee, is in Oregon to aid in organization of Republican volunteers, campaign movement recently inaugurated in the middle west. He was accompanied here by members of the state central committee.

"Our purpose in winning this presidential campaign," stated the speaker, "is not merely to gain a Republican victory. The issue is much bigger and more significant than that. We are fighting to preserve Americanism."

"When President Roosevelt was inaugurated, he went into office with the most united support behind him ever accorded a president of the United States. Not only was an overwhelming majority of the people behind him but he had a congress so willing to concede his proposals that it has become known as a 'rubber stamp' congress and is without precedent in our history."

Reviewing the Democratic platform of 1932, Titus continued: "No one will deny that it was a good platform. The Republicans nor anyone else had any quarrel with the main points of that platform, namely: Economy in government, promising a 25 per cent reduction in government expense within two years; relief and re-employment; and aid to the farmer."

"And what is the record of the New Deal? What have they accomplished in three years of administration? Have they lived up to that platform? Roosevelt pledged himself to uphold that platform 100 per cent. He promised drastic reduction in the number of bureaus and commissions. And what has he done? The answer would be funny if it were not so tragic. Government bureaus and departments have been increased so tremendously that Washington can't hold them. And the same thing is true in thousands of other cities too. Some of the most silly and ridiculous acts ever perpetrated in the name of government come out of these bureaus. No, bureaus and commissions have not been reduced."

Continuing, Titus asserted that the cost of government has increased so rapidly in the past three years that this administration has spent practically as much as all other administrations in the history of the nation combined. "The New Deal," he stated, "is costing us approximately $1,000,000 an hour. Every banker in America is wondering if we have not already reached the financial danger point beyond which we must not go. Senator Glass stated in congress that if government bonds decreased 10 points in value, 90 per cent of our banks would be insolvent, as 60 per cent of the national debt is held by the banks."

"As to relief, the New Deal has again failed. For every dollar that goes to a man on relief, from $7 to $11 goes to the administration of that dollar. Federal relief is under-

"For 2,000 years," declares Dr. Frank B. Robinson, founder of "Psychiana," the new psychological religion, "people have missed something in life and have sought it in many ways. Like many other great discoveries, my own grasp of this dynamic, universal Power came after many years of intense search. When the Truth broke upon me, I was staggered by its immensity. Yet it is so simple and clear that it can be easily understood and applied by any normal person."

Read what some "Psychiana" Students have written: "I cannot thank you too much for the joy that this teaching brings to us. Our life has been completely changed in every way and our needs seem to be met in the most unexpected and unusual ways."

"I am indebted to you for the spiritual realities brought to me through Psychiana. This spiritual awakening is absolutely matchless—like a spring whose waters cannot fail."

"I do not know how I could have existed the past year without 'Psychiana.' It is solving one of the hardest problems of life for me and in a manner I couldn't have dreamed of two years ago."

"I wonder what would this world be like if the Truth as it is revealed in 'Psychiana' could be in every home."

The SPARK beats the "LIVING ZONE" of your rooms—not the ceiling

Note how the Spark FRONT heat discharge avoids wasting heat on the ceiling. Also how Spark's bright, cheerful, fan-shaped flame sends direct, radiant heat downward to the floor.

The Spark oil heater discharges circulating heat through a front opening, instead of at the top, and its bright, cheerful, fan-shaped flame also gives you direct, radiant heat through the front door. These two Spark features mean that Spark gives you immediate warmth in the "living zone" of your rooms, and on the floors. That spells more comfort, plus fuel economy.

SPARK PATENTED OIL BURNING HEATER

Spark is the only oil heater designed especially to meet Western heating problems, which are entirely different from heating problems in the East. This is an important point to remember in buying an oil heater for a Western home. The Spark radiant heat feature is especially important in the West, where homes are not tightly weather-proofed, as in the East. Another Spark feature of importance to Western home owners is the patented Spark "Air-O-Mix" Burner, which was designed and perfected especially for use with Western oils.
