MOTOR BICYCLE RIDER INJURED IN COLLISION WITH POLICEMAN'S CAR

Stanley Folsom, 19, Mail Tribune carrier, was recovering today from injuries suffered Tuesday night when the bicycle which he was riding was struck from under him at Four Corners on the Pacific highway by a car driven by a San Francisco policeman on vacation.

Folsom was riding a bicycle with a friction drive gasoline motor on the rear. The car was traveling north about 45 miles an hour and the boy rano his bicycle into the rear of it, knocking him to the pavement and skimming him severely and completely demolishing the wheel, according to a police report.

The San Francisco policeman, Carl A. Spurr, did not stop, but continued on to a service station several miles away. There he was getting gas and noticed that a fishing rod on the side of his car was broken, and the fender scratched, police said. He recalled having struck something he thought was a rabbit at the Four Corners and returned immediately, the report said. He found the broken bicycle but was told by a service station attendant there that the boy had been taken to Medford.

Spurr immediately came to the state police headquarters here and reported the accident, record show. He was not held, according to state police, who released the details Saturday.

Young Folsom was not seriously injured, and will be back at his work Sunday.

Plans Instrument Classes
Steve Whipple, well-known local orchestra leader and saxophone artist, will organize classes in hand instruments this week at Pruitt's Melody Shop, according to announcement made Saturday. Stars of Rialto's Double Bill

An artist sketches a romantic couple of Stuart Erwin and Florence Rice, principals of the fast-moving newspaper drama, "Women Are Trouble," which heads the double bill program at the Rialto theatre Wednesday and Thursday. Both of them play reporters of a crusading newspaper in the new picture, but between the intervals of headlining the latest activities of post-prohibition racketeers, the two find plenty of time for love, and rollicking comedy.

The other picture on the program is "If Stand Condemned," the powerful drama of love and espionage which stars three newcomers to the American screen, Harry Baur, Penelope Dudley-Ward and Laurence Olivier.

NEW LOW RATE ON HEATING WITH GAS

In announcing a new, low heating rate, effecting savings to consumers as high as 42 percent (depending on appliances used and quantity of gas consumed) Southern Oregon Gas corporation predicts a record gas heating season this fall.

"This new rate," says D. E. York, vice president and general manager of the gas company, "places petroleum natural gas on a par in cost with all other fuels available here. When you add the speed, cleanliness, and convenience of gas, you have a combination with universal appeal."

The new rate, according to the company's announcement, also applies to other uses of gas—cooking, water heating and refrigeration—in combination with heating. It became effective September 1.

"This latest cut," concluded York, "eliminates a series of rate reductions made since the present management took charge, and is in line with the policy of our president, J. A. Ward, who believes in making the comforts and conveniences of modern gas fuel available to all the people at the lowest possible cost. His theory, amply borne out by experience, is that progress goes hand in hand with increasing volume, and that volume goes up as rates go down."

"With automatic or semi-automatic control now available at low cost for all types of gas heaters and furnaces, cafeteria heating—with no smoke, soot, ashes, noise, worry or work—is within reach of every home."

UMPUQA FLOOD EVILS RECITED AT MEETING

ROSEBURG, Ore., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Evidence of flood damage caused by the Umpqua river and its tributaries was laid before Col. M. P. Fox of the Portland office of the U. S. army engineers at public hearing held here Friday.

Requests were principally for clearing river channels where brush and gravel deposits. It was stated, after causing annual shifts in river currents with resultant land erosion and flood damage.

Negroes Discussed At Recent Session

Mrs. George Edwards entertained members of the ladies' auxiliary of the First Baptist church at her home Tuesday afternoon, with the session being taken up with a study of negroes, presented by the South Side circle headed by Mrs. Frank Stinson.

Mrs. Grace Roberts, president opened the meeting. Mrs. Stinson introduced the subject and Mrs. B. F. Neff and Mrs. M. E. Coe led songs and devotional. Mrs. R. K. Paris played negro melodies on the guitar and Mrs. Grace Roberts reviewed Booker T. Washington's "Man Among the Negroes."

Mrs. J. D. Shaffer discussed the negro and his needs, including a discussion of schools and churches and Mrs. E. M. Wilson told of city negroes and their work. Dr. Eva Carlow spoke on the future of the negro.

Conclave Reports Given Wednesday

Among hostesses this week was Mrs. T. W. Miles, who entertained members of Chapter AA, P. E. O., at her Edgewood cabin last Wednesday afternoon. Luncheon covers were laid, with Mrs. L. F. Pickett assisting Mrs. Miles in hostess duties.

Featured on the afternoon's program were reports of the state convention held in Ashland last June, presented by Mrs. Leland Mentzer and Mrs. John Moffat, who represented the chapter at the conclave.

It has been announced that the next session is scheduled for Oct. 14 instead of Oct. 17 as stated in the year book.

What the Girl Scouts Are Doing

Troop 9
Girl Scout Troop 9 started fall meetings Thursday in the Scout room at the West Side schoolhouse. Betty Bowman and Olive Morton were elected patrol leaders with Lola Yost and Marjory Dotson assistants.

After school Friday the troop hiked to the home of their captain, Mrs. Leach. A big bonfire supper was held as a farewell to those troop members who have moved from the district. Wanda Reynolds to Ashland, Norma Filcroft to Jacksonville and Lorraine Groves to Medford. Miss Benson and Corrine Hindern were guests of the troop. After supper Scout games and songs around the campfire formed entertainment.

DeMolay Mothers
Mrs. D. D. Roberts was hostess to the DeMolay Mothers' club for the first session of the fall season at her home Monday afternoon. Mrs. O. E. G. Meyers was elected corresponding secretary and new officers presided for the first time.

Refreshments followed the business session. It was announced that the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. D. Woods, 625 Park avenue, Oct. 19. Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. Frank Hull and Mrs. E. M. Grey.

200 Parents, Teachers Present At Reception

Over 200 parents and teachers were entertained by the Junior high school Parent-Teacher Association at a reception and program at the school Tuesday evening. The large social affair which promoted pleasant and congenial contacts between teachers and parents was combined with the first fall meeting of the association.

Mrs. C. L. Hopkins, association president, explained the objectives of the national organization and urged each member to assume responsibility for some part in the successful development of the program of activities and projects outlined for the coming year.

Esther Church Leake, supervisor of music in the Medford schools, outlined briefly the advantages offered by the school music department. Of interest to many was the announcement that Mrs. Leske will organize a Mother Singers' chorus. She urges any mother interested to get in touch with her as soon as possible.

Frank Hull told of the organization of Troop 4, Boy Scouts, which is to be sponsored by the Junior high school P. T. A. He introduced the troop committee as follows: E. D. Baker, Walter Omscheid, E. Kramer Deuel, Paul Menegat, Ray Heneerson and C. L. Hopkins.

Miss Gladys Bengt, a member of the school faculty, announced a new home-planning course being offered by her department for the benefit of ninth grade girls. Mothers who are interested are requested to see Miss Bengt.

Outstanding features on the reception program were piano solos by Sebastian Apollo, well-known musician of the city; numbers by the mixed quartette, Estate Carlson, Strang, Lols Cook Young, Ralph Waldron and Robert Wright, accompanied by Genevieve Brown; and readings by Rev. W. R. Baird.
