

HARD-HIT BANDON TURNS ATTENTION TO REPLACEMENT

MARSHFIELD, Sept. 29.—(AP)—There was a will to begin immediate rebuilding in Bandon today, but the stern question of finance troubled executives of the ruined city.

The city administration was confronted by the perplexing problems of debts, bonds and taxes, but the general spirit of the hard-hit community was voiced by Mayor Ed Capps when he said:

"We don't know how we'll meet our debts, but we'll get organized somehow."

The municipal power lines were destroyed, but the power plant at Willow Creek was unharmed. The water system was seriously damaged, but the reservoir still stood.

Records at the city hall and the fire station were burned. The city dock, valued at $25,000, went up in smoke. A million feet of lumber, believed owned by the Moore lumber company, was on the dock at the time of the fire.

"My company had $300,000 insurance here," one Bandon agent declared.

Estimates by adjusters indicated that probably 30 per cent of the actual loss was covered by insurance.

U. OF O. STUDENTS CUT LIVING COSTS

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Sept. 29.—(Sp.)—Cooperative living organizations which enable students to attend school at a cost of about $20 per month for housing and room, have expanded on the campus of the University of Oregon this fall until approximately 100 men and women will take part in these projects. It was announced by Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel.

Last year 25 men, under the leadership of Howard Oumart, Portland, organized a group which took over a former fraternity house. The plan was an immense success, was quickly copied by a group of 35 women students who took over a large house. This fall a second house for men, which will have a membership of from 40 to 50, has already opened at Fourteenth and Alder streets. The girls' group has expanded to include an "annex" in a nearby house that will accommodate about 15.

SARDINE CREEK FIRE DESTROYS HOME, BARN ON IVAN SMITH FARM

SARDINE CREEK, Sept. 29.—(Sp.)—Owing to the screen blowing off the exhaust pipe of Jack Smith's tractor Saturday afternoon, sparks from the exhaust started a grass fire which, owing to a high wind, soon spread rapidly. Before help could be had the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Smith, which they were just moving into, was totally destroyed, including his barn and winter feed for his stock. The fire then spread at a rapid rate across the creek to the John Smith place where, by strenuous work and with the aid of some CCC men who arrived in the evening, the buildings were saved. Then the fire divided, spreading up both forks of the creek and also back of the J. U. Smith place over the mountain and on to the Sama Valley side. Owing to the lack of men to help and the wind blowing in every direction, the fire has been hard to control. The families of John Smith, Rita Kendall and Henry Pataison moved out to safety. The situation seems some better today, although all danger is not over yet.
