

HELP OF JAILER BASIS OF PLEAS TO FREE COWAN

Friends of Albert Cowan, Jacksonville youth and county jail trustee, held a public hearing on an assault charge, plan to seek leniency for him. During the attempted jail break Saturday morning of Buff Marshall, 29, sentenced Tuesday to a total of 20 years in state prison, and Harold Foughty, wounded in the fray, Cowan battled Marshall to a standstill, taking from him a case-knife, whittled to a dagger edge on the cell bars and cement floor of the hallway. Cowan was attacked by Marshall, with the knife, when with the jailer he went to the cell of Marshall and Foughty to get a mop-pail. Jailer Ingling was attacked by Foughty, with a piece of plumbing torn from the jail shower bath.

The quartet fought from the cell corridor to the main lobby, the prisoners endeavoring to gain possession of the jail keys and a revolver. Jailer Ingling reached the weapon first, and stilled the battle with a shot, that wounded Foughty.

Sheriff Syd I. Brown states that due to the assistance rendered to the jailer, an escape and possibly more serious consequences were averted.

Cowan has been in the jail for several months and has acted as a trustee. He was originally arrested charged with assaulting George Hill-ton, marshal of Jacksonville. The official was knocked to the ground, and sustained severe skull injuries.

Foughty, still in a hospital, "is holding his own," according to County Physician C. J. Drummond. His most serious injury seems to be paralysis of the lower limbs due to the bullet striking the spinal column. Dr. Drummond said the final outcome of the paralysis, could not be determined now. The physician said "sensations" was returning to lower limbs. Foughty faces the possibility of being a permanent cripple.

As soon as his condition will permit, he will appear in circuit court for his admitted part in the Phoenix hold-ups of August 28 year.

"Simply Ridiculous!" Have just finished your editorial in tonight's paper and to me it is simply ridiculous. Heard Mr. Roosevelt's speech last night and all I could think of was a small boy who had been thwarted. Evidently he was just plain mad. Whether he likes it or not, he has the support of Earl Browder and his communists and he would not have that support if his policies did not please communists. No one very grateful that Mr. Landon does not have that support. May I suggest that you go to the high school auditorium Monday night, October 5, and listen to a lecture called "Dangers of Communism" to be given by Dr. Ernest L. Harris? Dr. Harris knows what he is talking about and all Americans who love this country and its American constitution and institutions should hear this lecture. (Mrs. G. M.) ZOE S. An Auto Climax Is Reached. To the Editor: I was born July 4, 1876, in the village of Glasco on the banks of the Hudson. At that time there was not an electric light, a telephone, a radio, an airplane, a paved road in the whole world. Kerosene lamps had just come into use. In our own home I do not remember of ever using candles, but I do remember seeing them used in many homes, and also seeing one home which had a mold for making them. I do not think my mother ever used a spinning wheel, but I remember seeing a wheel which had been used not long before. I have never worn a hand-made shoe, but I remember hearing my father tell of the shoemaker coming around once a year to make shoes for the family; there was not a factory-made shoe in all the world. got up at 4 o'clock to go to work in the brickyard. Years later I handed brick to the same yard, and I began work as soon as it was light enough to see, stopped half an hour for breakfast, an hour for dinner, and worked till 6.

At the age of seven, father took us to Kansas, and we lived six miles southeast of Topeka, where ex-Vice-President Curtis died, and where the next president now lives. When we went anywhere we went in a farm wagon, father and mother on the spring seat, some of the older kids on a board across the box, and we little kids on hay on the bottom. We bounced over the frozen clods till our teeth rattled together. Every family in the community did likewise, except one by the name of Peck. They had a spring wagon.

Father moved to a farm 30 miles southwest of Topeka. Then we had a spring wagon and we drove four miles every Sabbath to church, and I walked four miles to school. I took the first county examination ever given in that county. (By the way, I was the only one that made 100 in arithmetic.) Every two weeks I would hustle out of bed at 2:30, feed our team of yellow mares, pull the butter out of the well, cover it with mowed oats, eat breakfast, and drive to Topeka and peddle the butter and eggs to our "customers," getting the highest price. There was not a creamery in the whole world. I have been in Topeka before my sister and her husband were out of bed.

Later, after another move, I used to drive our farm wagon three miles to take our milk to Auburn, wait for the village creamery to skim off the cream, and then drive home with the milk. When I started to college at Emporia with $13.10 in my pocket and the promise from a friend of $50 as my sole resources, I had one pair of boots and no shoes, nor had I ever owned an overcoat. I kept back most of the time in college, and if I let food expenses run above $1 for a week I was startled at my extravagance. I remember one week my living expenses down to 60 cents; I lived almost wholly in "second hand" rye bread and molasses.

Now, Mr. Editor, yesterday I was giving out Landon buttons. Of course some people "talked." Hence this epistle. If you do not throw this into the waste basket, I may follow it with another: "Since I Am a Man."

BUDGET COMMITTEE TO NAME CHAIRMAN

The 1936 budget committee, composed of George E. Dunn of Ashland, George T. Frey of Medford, Stewart Wicks of McLod, and members of the county court, will meet Saturday for organization and selection of a chairman.

First meeting of the budget committee to consider appropriations for the year will be held next week. The date will be determined at the Saturday meeting.

Fire Fighter Injured. ROSEBURG, Ore., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Leaping out of the way of a falling snag, William Howard was injured yesterday while fighting fires on South Myrtle creek. His ankle was broken when he caught his foot in a hole.

day. Tottering walls in the business district were dynamited to prevent their collapsing upon the scores of residents returning to rebuild their homes. Debris was removed from the streets and the way paved for the resumption of a more-normal life.

A cheering blast from one of Bandon's unharmed lumber mills marked the start of employment. Army tents were erected as temporary homes. Citizens' committees surveyed the ruins for property salvage and GOC workers raked the ashes for evidence of more victims.

While fires still dotted the territory, only two were moving. One was on the Marshfield-Coquille highway and the other in the Marshfield-Bandon section. Neither was endangering cities.

At no point along the fire line was vigilance relaxed. Some GOC youths were withdrawn but they were to go back to work after a brief rest.

Flare-ups Feared. The possibility of flare-ups at any moment was dominant.

Veteran firefighters remembered the great Tillamook conflagration of 1924, a blaze that claimed no lives but brought property damage of a half-billion dollars to a rich timber belt along the northern coast of Oregon. There the fire was controlled but broke out in far more fearsome proportions after a period of calm.

The Bandon city council met yesterday, with Mayor Ed Cappa taking charge of the meeting from his seat on the running board of an automobile. Tentative plans were studied for the erection of a model airport town with the assistance of federal funds. While any kind of temporary shelter will be permitted now, the council can order emergency shacks removed upon 120 days' notice. Effort will be bent toward avoiding the construction of a "shanty town."

with the Yankees favorite, and made it 4 to 5, and take your choice.

They came out for their huddle, however, with Lefty Gomez's erratic speedballing the 3-to-5 choice to take the second game over Hal Schumacher at the Polo Grounds, and even things up for the manner in which Hubbell snubbed murderers' row so successfully in yesterday's opener, 8 to 1.

To the baseball experts, who saw the American league champions outsmarted and outplayed, finally reaching the point where their defense came apart in the opening test, it appeared the waging men were more than generous in making the Yankees favorites for the second game. Schumacher's return to form strengthens the pitching edge Hubbell has already given the Giants.

Rain Cuts Crowd. Only 39,419 of the faithful paid $172,157 to see the opening tilt, far off the nearly $2,000 capacity expected.

To match the pitching shifts, both lineups faced changes for the second battle. The Giants assigned Hank Lueber, a right-handed hitter, to center field in place of Jim Rippie against Gomez's portside offerings, and batting in the cleanup spot, Mel Ott dropped to fifth in the batting order.

It took more than ten years for the weather man to catch up to a world series, and a decade for the National League club to do the same to the Yankees. But when both combined simultaneously yesterday, they shot the works.

Through the last seven innings and the weather, a nasty rain that fell was carried along by a biting wind blasting in from the outfield, made for the worst playing conditions since the Pirates beat the Senators in the rain-soaked final of the 1925 series.

Long before the last out, the third base line was deep in mud, the entire field in place of muck, and the outfield as slippery as a skating rink.

Yanks Meet Match. At the same time, the Yanks finally met their match and came to the end of their 12-game world series winning streak, the longest of all time, which they began under Miller Huggins in the 1927 and 1928 classics, and continued under Joe McCarthy in 1932.

Although Hubbell was the bright star of the rain-soaked opener, he was given able assistance by Burgess Whitehead, the flashy second base youngster, whose fielding was tops, and by Dick Bartell, Bill Terry and Mel Ott, who contributed two hits apiece in the nine-hit attack on Ruffing.

Portland Shipments Up. PORTLAND, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Foreign shipments from Portland during September amounted to $1,887,588 an increase of 36 per cent over a year ago, a merchants' exchange report showed today. Customs receipts totaled $153,097, a gain of about $10,000.

PORTLAND, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Carrie Pierce, 88, of Portland died today of burns suffered when hot water was spilled on her.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Heavy patrols of Japanese marines took up positions in Shanghai's Hongkou district today in an apparent renewal of guard duty for Japanese residents.

Reports to Tokyo newspapers said the army leaders feel Japan would proceed with its second step, which means armed action, if Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, dictator of China, refuses Japanese demands—including its terms in North China—and if Ambassador Shigeru Kawagoe withdraws from Nanking.

"Ahead of all other coffees"

says woman who likes flavor, strength and economy

This woman writes: "I have used M-J-B for years. It stands out ahead of all other coffees in flavor, strength and economy." (Unedited Testimonial)

Note that this user mentions "strength." This is what she means: You've got to have strength in the coffee itself (in the tin) if you're going to have good flavor in the cup whether you make coffee mild, medium or strong. You can't have good coffee in any other way.

M-J-B's famous "Strength Essential" is developed by perfect blending of the world's finest coffees and a special richer roast. This insures a constant richness of true coffee-character in every grain of M-J-B and brings out flavor qualities that were lacking otherwise.

Thus you get more flavor in every cup of M-J-B at any "strength." It's a real coffee improvement that you ought to try today.

The "Strength Essential" Coffee

M-J-B's "Universal" Grind is guaranteed right for Drip, Percolator, or any glass coffee-maker you use.

Your money refunded by your grocer if any tin of M-J-B Coffee doesn't satisfy you perfectly in every way.

TAKE A HINT FROM THOSE WHO INHALE

To true smoke lovers—those who inhale regularly—the gentleness of a light smoke holds a special attraction. But even though you are just an occasional smoker, you will find welcome throat protection in a light smoke...A Lucky!
