

AMERICAN LEGION STAGES GIGANTIC PARADE

TRAINING FOR A PRINCE

As part of his training for a commission as a cavalry officer, Prince Mikasa (in foreground with black skull cap), youngest of the three brothers of Emperor Hirohito of Japan, participated in the exercise of swimming mounts across a river. The prince recently graduated from the army cadet school. (Associated Press Photo)

FAMOUS ALCAZAR FORTRESS BLOWN UP

This picture, rushed to London and radioed to New York, shows the smoke-velled and debris-spotted citadel at Toledo, the Alcazar, after it had been dynamited by Spanish government forces in their efforts to capture its rebel defenders. (Associated Press Photo)

Broke Up Banquet

Woody Hockaday of Wichita, Kan., who broke up an American Legion banquet at Baltimore by scattering feathers on the guests "in the interests of peace" is shown en route to a Washington, D. C. hospital from which he recently escaped. (Associated Press Photo)

Edward H. Fitzgerald (left), federal department of labor conciliator, is pictured talking with Harry Lundberg, secretary-treasurer of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, as he tackled the labor dispute that tied up the liner President Hoover at San Francisco as it was scheduled to sail for the Orient with 471 passengers. SELKIRK'S HOMER SCORES FIRST RUN OF SERIES

The New York Yankees drew first blood in the "subway" World's Series with the New York Giants on this home run by George Selkirk, rightfielder, in the third inning of the first game off Carl Hubbell, ace Giant pitcher. But it wasn't enough, for the Giants won 6 to 1. Selkirk is shown crossing the plate, with Red Ruffing, the Yankee pitcher, congratulating him. Mancuso is the Giant catcher. (Associated Press Photo)

PREPARING FOR BIG STORM

When warnings of the bitter hurricane which swept the Atlantic coast states were flashed, residents along the beach at Norfolk, Va., either boarded up for the big blow or fled their homes. This picture, made near Norfolk, shows men hastening to give what protection they might to their home. (Associated Press Photo)

LEGION CHEERS NEW COMMANDER

'AUTO' AUTOGIRO GIVEN TEST

This new autogiro for use both in the air and on the highways was demonstrated for air officials at Willow Grove, Pa. Built for the federal bureau of air commerce, the plane's blades fold back, permitting road travel, as shown below. The ship can be parked in an ordinary garage. J. H. Geisse is beside it in the upper picture. (Associated Press Photos)

ANOTHER HOLLYWOOD MARRIAGE

NAMED TO MARITIME COMMISSION

Rear Admiral Henry A. Wiley (left), retired, of Haverford, Pa., and Rear Admiral Harry G. Hamlet (right), Chevy Chase, Md., were two of the three men appointed by the White House to the maritime board to administer the new ship subsidy act. (Associated Press Photos)

'MASTER-MINDS' BEFORE BATTLE

Manager Bill Terry (left) of the New York Giants and Joe McCarthy, who does the master-minding for the Yankees, paused for this handshake before the first game of the World Series in the New York Polo Grounds. Terry took the early edge as the Giants won behind Hubbell's pitching 6 to 1 in the cold and rain, worst series conditions in ten years. (Associated Press Photo)
