

Hunters Take Field at Dawn Thursday For Opening of Bird Season

GAME PLENTIFUL IN MOST SECTIONS JACKSON COUNTY

No Open Season on Mountain Quail—Grouse Big And Plentiful in Mountain Areas Say Game Wardens

The crash of shot guns at dawn tomorrow will usher in the 1936 upland game bird season in Jackson county, with many hunters in the field. While early season reports are always unreliable, the consensus is that birds will be plentiful in many parts of the valley.

The bird laws are much the same this year as last, with the lone exception that there will be no open season on mountain quail. State police announced today that the shooting of mountain quail is prohibited this year although California valley and bob-white quail will be legal prey from October 15 to 31, inclusive, with the bag limit in this county set at ten such birds in any seven consecutive days.

Many Big Grouse Chinese pheasants are not protected from tomorrow until October 31, with the limit set at four pheasants with one day and not to exceed eight birds in any seven consecutive days, provided that it shall be unlawful to take more than one female Chinese pheasant in any seven consecutive days.

Grouse, including the ruffed and the sooty varieties, and native pheasants, will be open to hunting tomorrow, with the limit the same as for Chinese pheasant.

Grouse are said to be plentiful in some mountain areas, and specimens have been seen as large as Rhode Island Red hens, state police on game detail report.

State police warned that it is unlawful to shoot from any county or state road, or in incorporated right-of-way, or in any incorporated town. It is also unlawful to shoot from any motor vehicle. Those apprehended shooting from their cars, either on or off a public road, will be prosecuted, it was warned.

To Patrol County Details of officers will patrol the county to prevent violations of the game code.

The shooting season will open a half hour before sunrise, and close at sunset, each day. Tomorrow, with the sun rising at 6:07, the sun setting will be exactly 5:37 a. m. Sunset tomorrow will be at 5:25 p. m.

Doves, contrary to a federal report recently issued, are protected at all times in Oregon, and it is unlawful to shoot them, state police said.

TIGERS PRACTICE TAPERED OFF FOR MARSHFIELD TILT

With only two days of practice remaining before the tilt with the Marshfield Bonecrushers at Marshfield Saturday, the Medford Tigers under Coach Bill Bowerman have started tapering off it was announced this morning. Tonight's drill will consist mainly of light work, with little if any scrimmaging.

Charley horses are again plugging the squad. Olsen, punting and passing left halfback who has been filling the position vacated by Lewis, injured in the Eureka game, is suffering a charley horse, as is Wilson, passing snatching end. The ailments of both men are yielding to treatment, and both will probably see action, Bowerman assured.

Lewis turned out for a light workout last night, his crutches discarded. He did not dress, but limped around the field in an effort to conditioning the ankle early in the opening game of the year. Bowerman said that the stocky halfback might be in condition for the Grants Pass fray a week from Saturday, but that the probability was against it.

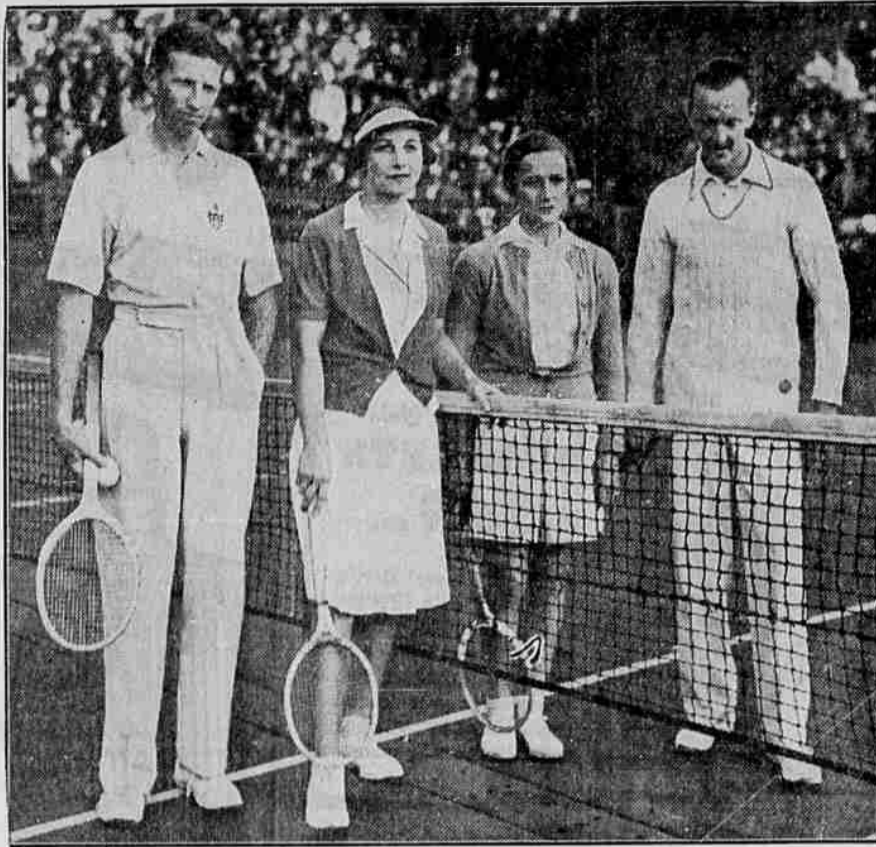

While the Marshfield game is not considered a particularly dangerous one, Bowerman warned his charges that there is always an opportunity for an upset, and that upsets usually come as the result of overconfidence and under-estimating of an opponent.

Bowerman said that scouts from Klamath Falls and Grants Pass, the next two teams on the Medford schedule after Marshfield, would be in the coast city to watch the Tigers perform.

The team will leave Friday morning by bus, and will return either Saturday night or Sunday morning.

Don Crowe, 135, Vancouver, knocked out Buster Walling, 137, Portland, in the second.

FAMOUS RIVAL HELENS MEET AGAIN

The bitter rivalry between Mrs. Helen Willis Moody and Miss Helen Jacobs, queens of the tennis world, flared again when they met in the finals of the mixed doubles at the Pacific Coast championships at Berkeley, Calif. It was their first meeting since their famous battle at Wimbledon in 1935. The rivals greeted each other with only a nod. They are pictured here with their respective partners: (left to right) Don Budge, Mrs. Moody, Miss Jacobs and Henry Gulley of Santa Barbara. The match was continued one day after each team captured a closely battled deuce set. (Associated Press Photo)

JUNIORS, SAINTS MEET FRIDAY ON VAN SCOYOC GRID

The Medford Junior high and the St. Mary's of Medford football teams will clash on Van Scoyoc field Friday afternoon at 3:45 in what will be the first regular game of the year for the Saints.

Two weeks ago the squads scrimmaged together in a practice session but have not met since, and the game is expected to be a good one, with the green St. Mary's team taking to the air frequently in an effort to get past the heavier Bulldog defense.

Coach Russell Acheson of the Junior high announced today that his squad, crippled by injuries after the Jacksonville game, is back in shape and capable of turning in a good game. He has been concentrating on fundamental drill, and working with reserves for Friday's game, he said.

Wallace Rickert is mentor of the St. Mary's squad, the first time in the history of the school that a regular coach has been on hand for drill each evening. He said today that his team will take the field handicapped by lack of a chance to practice blocking and tackling, but that his small, fast team will depend on spirit and team play. Several other games have been arranged for the season, Rickert said.

Starting lineups as announced by the two coaches today will be:

Junior High: ST. MARY'S:
Scheffel LT. Critsch
Howard LT. Critsch
Newman LG. Applegate
Newton C. Estes

BUZZ AND FILIPINO IN 10-ROUND DRAW

PORTLAND, Oct. 14.—(P)—Elmer "Bum" Brown, claimant of the Pacific northwest featherweight championship, and Yorio Milling, New York Filipino, staged out a ten-round draw here last night.

The match was evenly fought and the decision popular.

In the fifth round the Filipino received a bad cut over his eye that nearly halted the match. The commission doctor permitted him to continue.

Other results:
Billy Lee, 142, Bend, defeated Wildcat Rowan, 130, Seattle, six rounds.
Jack McComber, 178, Tacoma, defeated Ralph Nerwood, 183, Oakland, six rounds.
Ike Bostwick, 134, Portland, defeated Young Lato, 132, Tacoma, four rounds.

BATTLE ROYAL TO DECIDE OPPONENTS ON NEXT MAT CARD

Something new in plain and fancy mayhem will be offered on the Armory battlefield Monday night, with a battle royal pitting the main carnage and three regulation wrestling matches to top off the evening, providing the wrestlers are still alive to wrestle.

The combatants will be Pete Belcastro, Joe Hubka, Billy Burns, Les Wolfe, Jimmy Goodrich and Gene Moore. The first two eliminated will return after the dog fight to wrestle a one fall final. The other two will wrestle the middle event, and the surviving pair will return for the main event. It was first decided to have the wrestling matches terminate at the end of a half hour if no fall had been obtained, but Promoter Mack Lillard has changed that to finish fights.

Three menies and three orthodox men will be in the arena at once for the opening mix-up. The shady ones are Pete Belcastro, Wolfe and Burns, and fans are predicting their early demise, with the clean lads doubling up on them at the start of the battling. All of the three have particular grudges against Belcastro and Wolfe, and see in this an ideal opportunity to get in a few licks on account.

Last time Medford saw a battle royal Belcastro and Hubka were both in it, and Belcastro, true to predictions, was the first one out, the victim of a combined assault by Hubka and Johnny Soos.

The experience left Belcastro bitter. He had no chance to get vengeance for the beating until the next week, but when he finally got Soos alone in the ring he stopped only short of administering embalming fluid to the bow-legged little meanie. The Italian expects to be garaged again, but declares he has a few not too subtle stunts that he will untie before he goes out. "Those big clowns can't lick me alone, so they'll gang me, see if they don't," the fiery one said, "but the first one to try it is going to be wearing a sore nose for a long time to come," he predicted.

Wolfe will undoubtedly come in for his share of game warfare. Formerly known as a gentleman in the ring, Wolfe recently scuttled all his principles and swung over to the seamy side without any apparent twinges of conscience, and is now rated as gory a grappler as one would care to see. He, too, "pects the worst and intends to take steps to alleviate his plight. What steps he did not say, but they won't be ordinary ones.

Burns, who considers himself a pretty ferocious villain in a somewhat peculiar boat. The other wrestlers don't consider him very tough, and will probably take care of him after Belcastro and Wolfe have been disposed of, an under-cover survey reveals. If he is ignored, too long, he may be one of the surviving pair, but the other grapplers don't think so.

The battle royal is the fiercest, and briefest, of all wrestling parties. Even with two referees in the ring, as there will be, not a hair of the slaughterer will be called, and no one ever heard of a victim being saved by the arbiters until he is half dead. By the same rules, no one ever heard of a wrestler being thrown out of a battle royal for fouling, for on his time the arbiters get on him five other men have grabbed him and the referees are lost.

The battle royal will be the second ever held here. On the last one only

CLASSIFYING FOOTBALL PAINS "COLUMBIA LOU"

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Columbia's Lou Little, weary of all the sectional and technical classifications of football, said today there are really only two kinds of football—good and bad.

"All this discussion about eastern and western football, open and closed football, Warner and Rockne football, is the bunk," said Little. "It's either good or it's bad."

Little refused to discuss directly the statement of Matty Bell, Southern Methodist coach, that eastern football is five years behind time, commenting:

"I don't want to get into any controversy with Matty or anybody else, but last week's record is pretty clear. They said Francis Schmidt at Ohio had really developed something new. He had an intricate, deceptive attack featuring lateral and forward passing. But Pitt beat them without using a pass, and after all, Fordham, which plays conservative football, did beat Southern Methodist Saturday."

Little questioned Bell's theory that the forward pass will soon replace the running game as the chief offensive weapon.

"The success of the pass depends a great deal on the threat of the running game. If you have no effective running game, it is easy to stop a passing attack by putting more men into the backfield," he said.

Little's best argument against Bell's claim for passing superiority in the southwest is one Sid Luckman, a 20-year-old sophomore who learned to pass in Brooklyn's Prospect Park play ground.

"It's just a sophomore, but I think he's one of the best passers in the game right now," said Lou.

"I could probably give 'em a fancy Broadway show myself if I wanted to let this kid throw the ball all over the field. The crowd would like it for a game or two, but that's about all, because the smart teams would pin our ears back."

BIG LITTLE SQUADS PRACTICE FOR CLASH

CORVALLIS, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The two big "little teams" of Oregon—the University of Oregon Frosh and the Oregon State Rooks—settled down to practice this week with no other thought than the annual clash on October 23.

The first game will be played at Bell field here.

The second contest is scheduled for Hayward field at Eugene.

From Eugene came word that Frosh Coach John Warren was highly pleased with his team's 26 to 0 victory over Southern Oregon Normal last week end.

Five men participated, with Ed Sam Leathers dropping Joe Hubka in the final round to take the honors. The wild action in that classic seemed to last for at least a half hour, but when the struggle was over the time keeper's clock had ticked away just three minutes.

BOWLING

The Safeway bowlers last night handed the Gates Auto trundlers a 4-0 set-back in the city bowling league, while Standard Roofers were handing the same sort of thumping to the Rogue Valley Golfers. In both contests high total was rolled by a member of the losing team. Cannon high in the Safeway-Gates battle with a 564, and Pruitt high in the Goller-Roofers struggle with a 608.

KLAMATH TO INVADE ASHLAND SATURDAY

ASHLAND, Oct. 14.—(Sp)—The Ashland high school Grizzlies, whose goal line has been crossed only once this season, will play its first home conference game here next Saturday at 2:00 o'clock against Klamath Falls high school.

Both teams are trailing the Grants Pass eleven, which has defeated the Grizzlies and Pelicans for two victories and no defeats. Medford's strength in the conference will not be known until the Tigers meet Grants Pass October 24.

After chalking up victories over Yreka and Crescent City, the locals lost 6 to 0 to Grants Pass, and held Dunsmuir to a scoreless tie last Saturday.

Able almost proved it in the first round last night, with punches that had Lee stumbling around the ropes. But Miller's fight was ended, and the Nebraska boy, carrying a five-pound weight pull at 149½, handed him a merciless beating from the second until Referee George V. Blake stopped the bout early in the tenth heat.

The verdict started private battles in and out of the ring.
