News Behind The News

 WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Some eminent unofficial Republicans, who last week two weeks ago, have found it again, their enthusiasm is now in the process of a strong revival. Nothing has changed the situation very much, but their chances in New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois have been developing. Money is coming in better. Also there is the sustained London majority in the much-debated Literary Digest poll, the final figure of which will shortly suggest a popular London plurality.

The revival is so extensive it even includes hopes of carrying California, causing the hurried trip of Governor Landon to that state.

Political guessing involves the same elements of risk as a horse race. Not even the trainers guess right much more than 51 per cent of the time. But they are supposed to know a little more about it than anyone else, and their judgment about most of the states is now settled. Inasmuch as the race is more than half run, they have something more than past performance records to work on. Detailed reports are pouring into both headquarters. Statistical analyses can be checked and double-checked with old heads out in the various states, mostly in the newspaper business. Straw polls, symposiums and sample ballots have proceeded enough to furnish a substantial basis for the conservative better.

If you must bet, the following thumb-nail analysis of three highly disputed states (and subsequent election betting suggestions which will be published hereafter in this space) may be considered better than most and as good as any.

TUTTLE SENTENCE AWAITS DECISION OF JUDGE NORTON

Passing of sentence upon A. L. Tuttle, a former California Oregon Power company salesman, employed for a time in the Ashland store of the company, charged with forgery, was taken under advisement by Circuit Judge H. D. Norton this morning, following a hearing in court.

Tuttle is alleged to have issued spurious checks in the sum of $151 in this city, negotiated second mortgages upon mortgaged goods, and engaged in what his attorney, Victor A. Tengvald, designated as "a financial orgy."

His wife and two children are now in Chicago with relatives. Tuttle discharged by the power concern, was offered a second chance. It developed, when he became further financially involved.

The court said it was reluctant to "send a man to the penitentiary, with no previous record, for offense involving money," and commented, "this court cannot be used as a collection agency for creditors. They cannot threaten a criminal prosecution, for failure to pay."

Both Tuttle and his attorney, expressed hope that if given a chance, restitution could be made. On some claims payments have been made, or goods returned.

In extension of Tuttle's predicament, Attorney Tengvald, said he had been worried by the death of both his parents near Roseburg four years ago, loss of position, and financial troubles.

The court also continued the sentencing of Edward M. Hopkins, and George H. Elliott, each charged with the theft of autos, in this city, to provide further time to determine their criminal records, if any.

Elliott is charged with theft of an auto belonging to the Brill Metal Works, and Hopkins with the theft of the H. J. Witte auto, the past ten days.

Hartford Told Prosperity Back To Stay—Increase In Payrolls And Jobs Cited—Cheered By Throngs.

WITH ROOSEVELT MOTORCADE IN CONNECTICUT, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Hartford "happier" times and pledging federal aid for flood control, President Roosevelt carried his re-election drive in New England down a hundred-mile stretch of Connecticut valley today with thousands of citizens in half a dozen towns cheering him along the way.

After telling a great crowd in Hartford that "prosperity" was back and was "here to stay," the president began his second all-day motor trip down a rolling and curving two-lane highway, toward Stamford.

There, he was to re-board the special train which he left at the state capitol, and first stop to Washington.

The president's first stop after leaving Hartford was at Middletown, where he spoke briefly from his car. Pledges Flood Relief.

As at Hartford, the president said he was glad to get a first hand idea of what the "terrible" spring floods had done in the valley and pledged his administration to do its share toward controlling them.

"Your government is very much alive to the flood problem," he said. "It's a happier Connecticut I come back to than it was in 1932," he said. "I don't particularly like figures, but in this state employment in the city of Hartford alone is 45 percent greater this year than it was in 1932."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Secretary Perkins estimated today 6,000,000 unemployed had found industrial jobs since March, 1933.

At the same time, Miss Perkins expressed hope Pacific coast ship owners and maritime workers would reach a new agreement without a strike.

JAIL BREAK HERO ALLOWED LIBERTY

Albert Cowan, Jacksonville youth, held in the county jail for the past four months on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon upon George Hilton, Jacksonville marshal, was freed late yesterday when, upon recommendation of the district attorney's office, the charge was reduced to simple assault and battery.

Cowan entered a plea of guilty to the lesser charge in justice court and was fined $5 and costs, the sentence applied on the time he has already served.

A contributing factor in the proceedings, was the fact that Cowan, a trusty, during an attempted jailbreak last September, had assisted jailer Ingling in a battle with two prisoners, and was instrumental in thwarting the desperate jailbreak attempt.

Cowan was charged with hitting Marshal Hilton with a salt-cellar during an argument in Jacksonville. The official was in the hospital for several days suffering from head injury, but now has fully recovered. There was no evidence that Cowan, in the attack had used any weapon but his fists.

PUC RECOMMENDS BONNEVILLE LINE

SALEM, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Transmission of electric power to the Bonneville dam directly south to the point east of Salem and then connecting with present lines near the capital city, rather than direct to Portland as had been proposed, will be the recommendation of the Oregon public utilities commissioner to Governor Martin.

Commissioner Frank C. McCulloch with his engineer, T. O. Russell, will present the governor a report within the next few days on the territory now served by public utility power companies, accompanied by the only map made to date of electrification within the state. The report and maps are the result of months of study.

The governor previously stated it was his desire that the main transmission lines from Bonneville be constructed by the federal government, and it is with that in mind that he requested the details.

SOCIAL SECURITY PENSION SECTION ENTAILS BIG JOB

Treasury Expects To Have Regulations, Forms In Readiness For Approval Within Next Two Months.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The treasury gradually is perfecting arrangements to collect taxes under the old age pension section of the social security act; but the assignment of account numbers to 26,000,000 workers covered by the law has yet to begin.

The government printing office worked today on the proposed forms under which one per cent of the affected employees' wages and one per cent of the employers' payrolls will be collected for 1937. Treasury officials said the regulations and forms probably would not be approved or made public until late November or December.

Collections most likely will be on a monthly basis. It was said, with the assessment for January falling due the last of February. Hundreds of inquiries have come in already from the 3,500,000 employees estimated to be affected.

Collectors in the 64 internal revenue districts are busy listing the employers. The names to date total about 2,000,000. A call to register voluntarily probably will be made.

Already spread over four Washington buildings and renting space in Baltimore for clerical work, the security board has prevailed upon the postoffice department to undertake the stupendous workers' registration task. Board officials said that with this help they are able building an unnecessarily large machine.

The board's staff of several thousand is expected to be greatly enlarged however, when the wage records and account numbers for pension purposes are finally brought together.

Postal attaches said no actual plan for the job has been drawn.

ROGUE FOREST BLAZE FOUGHT BY 100 MEN; SMOKER HELD CAUSE

The fire got out of control this afternoon and 100 additional fire-fighters were sent to the area, forest service headquarters here reported.

A forest fire was being fought today in the Buck basin in the Elk Creek district about eight miles west of Union Creek. It covered between 17 and 20 acres and was one of the largest blazes to occur in the Rogue River national forest this year.

Cause was attributed to the careless tossing of a cigar or cigarette stub into the grass at the roadside. The fire extended on both sides of the Buzzard Mine-Woodruff Meadows road.

The blaze was circled and held in check by 5 o'clock this morning. District Ranger Jesse DeWitt, in charge of the firefighting crew, reported. He said the fire could be held in control unless a wind developed.

Working in shifts since yesterday afternoon, 100 blister rust control workers and CCC men from Applegate and South Fork have been fighting the blaze. They were using a tractor and three pumps in addition to other equipment. It was expected the entire crew would be kept on the job until tomorrow morning at least.

A mastodon skull weighing more than 700 pounds has been unearthed by Carl Goettech on the Sibbits ranch near Higgins, Texas.
