Gault-Sage Rites Set for November

Among those making wedding plans for the near future are Miss Edith Marian Sage, daughter of Charles W. Sage of Table Rock, and Howard Gault, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Gault, whose betrothal has been announced. Date for the wedding has not been definitely set, but is to be an event of early November.

"Among those recently entertaining for the bride-elect was Mrs. O. T. Wilson of Table Rock, who arranged a shower last week-end. Assisting her as hostesses were Mrs. R. E. Neelson and Mrs. John L. Neelson.

Both Miss Sage and Mr. Gault are well known in the valley and news of their coming wedding is of interest to many friends.

Tuckers Closing Lodge This Week

As late fall weather begins to descend on the valley, the many residents and non-residents who spend a great deal of time during the vacation season at summer homes on Rogue river are making plans for closing the lodges during winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Nion Tucker, of San Francisco, whose river lodge, "Rogue's Roost," has been a popular rendezvous for Californians throughout the summer and early fall are among those closing summer households. Mr. Tucker left for the south Tuesday evening and Mrs. Tucker is expected to follow him tonight.

Others who maintain vacation lodges along the river and who have already closed them or are planning to do so very soon include Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Noyes, of Napa, Calif.; Mrs. Charles N. Black, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Kenly and numerous others.

Bickerstaffs Leave After Visit Here

Leaving for their home in California this morning were Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Bickerstaff and their daughter, who have spent the past 10 days visiting friends and relatives here. They were accompanied south by Miss Geraldine Wilkinson, who will be their guest for about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Bickerstaff were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Miksche, Mrs. Bickerstaff and Mrs. Miksche being sisters. They were also entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkinson during their stay.

Mrs. Miksche and her guest spent a few days last week visiting friends and relatives in Yakima, Wn.

Homecoming Event Attracting Alumni

Attracting the attention of many Medfordites is the annual homecoming week-end at the University of Oregon starting tomorrow. A number of former students and graduates of the university are planning to be on the campus for at least a part of the festivities, and some will see the entire program of events, principal attraction being the U. of O.-Washington State football game Saturday afternoon.

Medford Girl Wed in Yreka

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Lillian Alto, of this city, and David Chase, of Ashland, which was solemnized in a quiet ceremony Sunday morning at the Methodist church in Yreka. Only a few friends were present.

Miss Harriet Olsen and Edward Lage attended the couple. The ceremony was followed by a wedding dinner in Klamath Falls, bride and groom returning to Ashland to make their home.

Former Resident Guest of Tumys

"Being welcomed by friends this week is Otis Booth, of Pasadena, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tumy. Mr. Booth formerly resided in Medford and has a large circle of friends in the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Tumy entertained at dinner for twelve Tuesday evening in honor of their guest and numerous small informal affairs have been arranged by other friends since his arrival here. Mr. Booth expects to return south this week-end.

Mrs. Hart Is Club Hostess

Members of the Contemporary Book club were entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Floyd Hart. Miss Josephine Kirtley talked to the group on phases of her visit to Japan last summer, illustrating her discussion with articles collected during her stay.

Mrs. Don Newbury is to be next hostess to the club for the bi-weekly session.

Mrs. Oimscheid Guest of Group

Mrs. Walter Oimscheid, president of district 4 of the American Legion auxiliary, was entertained by the Glenn Morrison unit at Kerby in her official capacity last evening.

Informal round-table discussions featured the evening, refreshments being served later by the hostess-unit. Members of the post were also guests during the latter part of the evening.

Pictures to Feature School Program Friday

Among features of the program being planned for the Washington school annual frolic tomorrow evening are moving pictures of Oregon's scenic attractions in color. Dinner at 6 o'clock will precede the evening's entertainment, with various games to take up the remainder of the evening.

Lady Kiwanians Luncheon Monday

Mrs. C. H. Paske will be hostess to the Lady Kiwanians at her home on Oakdale avenue next Monday afternoon. Assisting her as co-hostesses will be Mrs. Otto Frohnmayer and Mrs. C. M. Hurd.

Oddfellows Dance Plans Completed For Friday Eve

Plans have been completed for the pre-Halloween dance to be given tomorrow night by Rogue River encampment No. 30, I. O. O. F., at the hall on West Sixth street. The committee in charge of arrangements, W. P. Rector, Joy Walker and Ed W. Fesse, report that everything will be in readiness at 9 o'clock, and that Dyno's orchestra will be on hand to furnish music.

The affair will be in the form of an informal evening for members of all branches of the order, and they are to bring their wives and husbands and invited guests. This will be the first of a series of social evenings at the hall, and announcement will be made from time to time of other entertainments to follow.

FEDERAL BUILDING IS READY FOR USE

GRANTS PASS, Oct. 22.—(Sp)—Occupancy of the new postoffice building here was being arranged today following the delivery of keys to the edifice by the contractor yesterday. It was expected that the moving of postoffice equipment to the new quarters would be completed over the week-end but postal business will continue to be conducted at the old office until formal announcement of the opening of the new structure is made by Postmaster C. E. Mastie. Delivery of the new federal building was held up because of a dispute over terms of the contract. A telegram received from Washington, D. C., yesterday indicated that the controversial points would be settled after acceptance of the building by the government.

Lost River BUTTER

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Never before has New York had so many young married couples literally working out their salvation. That is: Each has a job. The types who join up for lunch, meet on street corners to ride home together, make adventures of budgeting and take the depression in modern stride.

This new deal in domesticity, in a sense, of course, by the time, is an arrangement long looked down upon by many sociologists and upsets the ancient maxim: Woman's place is in the home. Yet a recent survey shows that a majority living the new way are content.

In instances it has resulted in unusual display of thrift and mutual independence not so frequently maintained under the old order. Most of these, trying the experiment, live in brightly lit estate developments within easy commuting distance.

A savings bank manager tells me that during the past four years joint accounts between husbands and wives, just wed, have more than tripled. And continue to expand. And home buyers among them have given the stalled real estate business its first big push.

Poetical contrast: Tom Geraghty recently stopped at an inn near Stoke Poges, England, home of Thomas Gray who wrote there the gloomy "Elegy." The famous graveyard is hard by. In Geraghty's room hung a framed bit of verse by Strickland Gillilan: "On Agoff, Off Again, Gone Again Finnigan."

Alfred Vanderbilt, at 23, emerges from the racing season as leading sportsman as well as about the most popular. Despite immaturity, he has in every exigency shown that quality of fairness that usually comes with seasoning. To stablemen he is "Al." And that's one of the high tributes of turfdom. For grooms, trainers and jockeys, as a rule, shrink from familiarity with owners.

"No. 21" opening in speaky somberness, featuring a background of creeping ivy—a decaying mansion with high iron fence—continues to spread a magnetic influence to ambitious winners. Every new aspirant wants a niche in the once fashionable block of West 52d, between Fifth and Sixth avenues. Like the rotting speck in the faded barrel of apples, "No. 21" has changed the street of Rhineclanders, Depews, etc. into a synthetic slice of a gaudy Montmartre, offering a rake-hell glamour scarcely achieved in the rip roaring days of the Bovey in the period of the Bucket of Blood and Suicide Hall. Along a once serene row of stately residences are now the following esplanades: Leon and Eddie's, Tony's, The Onyx, Lou Richman's Daisy Club, The Yacht Club, Bonita's, Madison Louis, The Callente Chez Lena, Mammy's Chicken Coop, Chalet Suisse, Du Perriot, Reilly's Old Fashioned, Malson Jacques, M. Rey and Pierre, Packard's, Covent Garden, Casino Club, 18 Club, Gangplank, and La Petite Suisse. The only one that failed to click was The Famous Door.

The retirement of George Horace Lorimore from his long years of piloting the Saturday Evening Post removes one of the most colorful of the editorial chieftains. His strapping physique was somewhat reflected in a taste for robust stories of men with hairy chests rounding the Horn on wind jammers, prize fight tales by Socker Cos and heroic darlings of Pitcairn Island. Although he ran many tales with New York locale, he loathed the metropolis. He has not been here more than a half dozen times in 20 years, then only between trains. When he visited Eastern sections that would ordinarily take him through the city he would go a roundabout way to escape contact.

Thingumbobs: The eldest son of Gene Fowler is exciting the critics with his scuppling, a head of his father winning especial praise. Adela Rogers St. John's idea of a corking time is to let the servants go and cook a meal for a dozen or so.

Edsel Ford, driving himself, will never go more than 30.

I'm a poor hand with the kiddies because of being around them so little. Today, waiting in a comfortable chair in Macy's a roebud in blue wooleens toddled up, put a finger to lips pensively and gazed frankly. Finally: "Piggy back?" I tried to suggest a less vigorous idea, such as piggy-back, but she was firm for piggy-backing. So I copped-dashed her with her chubby arms around my neck hit off a few peeps. When I put her down, she left without a word. I have a feeling I didn't get the proper jog into my piggy-backing.
