

PROGRAM MAPPED FOR OBSERVANCE OF NAVY DAY HERE

Talks, poster and photograph displays and an American Legion program will mark Navy Day here, Tuesday, October 27.

An address will be given at the senior high school at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning by Kenneth Scott Wood, teacher of public speaking and journalism. At 10:45, Dr. F. J. Moffatt will give a talk at the junior high school. At 8:45 p. m., Dr. Robert E. Lee will address the Active club at its weekly dinner-meeting at Valentine's cafe. On the previous day, Webster F. Clark will address the weekly luncheon-meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Hotel Medford.

At its regular meeting Tuesday night, Medford post of the American Legion will present an appropriate Navy Day program, it was announced by J. F. Flegel, commander. The program is being prepared now by Paul McDonald of Ashland.

Navy photographs and posters will be displayed in the senior and junior high schools, the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, the AAA office and other places. Arrangements are also being made for the showing of naval motion pictures at Medford theaters.

Programs will be held throughout the country under sponsorship of the Navy League of the United States in cooperation with the navy. Lee Garlock was appointed by the league as chairman of the Medford committee. Serving with Mr. Garlock are Ernest M. West, chief petty officer in charge of the naval recruiting station here, and Ellsworth Raker.

Purpose of the annual observance is to acquaint the public with the condition of the navy and its needs in personnel and ships, the league explained.

October 27 was originally chosen as Navy Day for two reasons: It is the birthday of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, advocate of a strong navy, and it was in October, 1776, that congress made the first appropriation for an American navy.

DROUGHT RETAINS GRIP ON MIDWEST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Widespread rains notwithstanding a nationwide survey by the weather bureau showed today that arid conditions still prevail in the northwest part of the great plains drought area.

"The drought is very largely unrelieved," the weather bureau said, in "extreme western Iowa, most of Nebraska, the Dakotas, and eastern Montana."

Elsewhere in the vast farm regions that were seared by blistering temperatures and lack of moisture this summer, Mother Nature has been unusually kind this fall, it was said. In areas where drought was unabated, it was reported, "the range is generally poor and much stock feeding is required; plowing and other field work is largely at a standstill because of dryness," the survey said.

AIR OFFENSE PLANNED BY SONS IN TILT WITH ALBANY COLLEGE TEAM

ASHLAND, Oct. 23.—(Spl)—Southern Oregon Normal SONS will strike at Don Faber's Albany college Pirates through the air Saturday, if practice sessions this week are any criterion as to the system of attack Jean Eberhart's eleven will employ when they provide the opposition for the Pirates' home-coming game.

After their sensational 13-13 deadlock with the Oregon State Rooks last week, in which they passed their way to a pair of touchdowns in the fourth quarter, the SONS have evidently figured that the game was the "handwriting on the wall," and that to score points, you must take to the air. All week little Arba Ager has been tossing practice heaves to Jim McBride and Darrell Leavens, the pair of flankers who enabled their team to tie the favored Rooks by making almost impossible catches.

The SONS are heavy favorites to win from Albany, already defeated thrice by Northwest conference opponents. Coached by Don Faber, former Ashland high mentor, the Pirates are expected to offer little opposition to a SONS team that seemingly found itself against the Rooks, and are determined to sweep through their remaining games without a loss.

The SONS—24 strong—will leave Ashland today in six automobiles, returning after the game.

Miraculous Escape

SALEM, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Samuel Brice, night watchman, miraculously escaped serious injury when an explosion at the Oregon Packing company smashed a desk, upset chairs and shattered windows. Brice, sitting ten feet away, received only minor scratches about the face.

Young eyes are doubly sensitive to eye strain

Because children know little about cause and effect, they readily accept conditions which an adult would quickly recognize as undesirable. That's why extra care must be taken to see that children have enough light, and that it doesn't glare in their eyes from the light source or the printed page. Does your child read by an IES (Illuminating Engineering Society) lamp? These desk and floor lamps have been scientifically worked out to give adequate light without glare. And they cost no more than any good lamps. Make sure that your child has the right chance in life, that she does well in her studies, that her health is not affected in a hundred and one different ways by eye-strain, that reading and study seem an agreeable task to her, and not an unavoidable drudgery.
