today while terrified women ran through the streets.

Anti-aircraft guns kept up an incessant roar from the rooftops of the city. The damage, however, was stated to be negligible and government leaders believed the repeated raids were intended merely to demoralize Madrid.

No attempt was made to bomb the city, but one fighting plane brayed the brick walls of Montana barracks with machine-gun fire.

The first visit was at 8:30 a. m., when the bombers circled high over the city, dropping leaflets demanding surrender of the capital.

Unconfirmed reports, broadcast by busy Spanish insurgent radio stations, meanwhile said a "foreign steamer" unloading arms for the government at Cartagena had been bombed and badly damaged by insurgent airplanes, and that 50 Soviet war planes had arrived in Spanish government territory.

From other sources it was reported the insurgent cruiser Canarias had been gravely damaged by Spanish government warships off Malaga.

Spain's opposing armies braced on three fronts. Insurgent troops of Gen. Emilio Mola routed government defenders from mountain positions at Las Navas del Marques, 15 miles west of strategic El Escorial, delayed reports disclosed.

The advancing forces occupied the town of Navas yesterday after battling scattered from the jagged passes with a concentrated fire of artillery, machine guns and rifles.

Body Of Missing Dockhand Found

NORTH BEND, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The body of Carl Utberg, 47, the head partly severed, was found beneath a tree near a main highway. Coroner Russell Keiser said the condition of the body apparently was the result of hanging.

Utberg, a longshoreman, had been missing since September 7. Although there was no money in the dead man's pockets, Mrs. Utberg said her husband had $50 when he disappeared.

The coroner said there would be an investigation before accepting the theory Utberg took his own life.

Anchorage Shaken By Quake Series

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Oct. 23.—(AP)—A severe earthquake shook Anchorage at 8:25 last night with a twisting motion, causing the earth to undulate, toppling chimneys from buildings and breaking windows.

No injuries or deaths were reported. Automobiles in the streets rolled back and forth as if riding on waves. Plate glass broke from store windows and stocks of stores fell to floors. The tremors continued throughout the night with lesser intensity.

Car of Studebakers Now at Sanderson's

The Sanderson Motor Co. has unloaded a carload of new 1937 Studebaker deluxe coupes and sedans, according to B. L. Sanderson.

The new models are equipped with the Studebaker automatic overdrive. Mr. Sanderson says: "With the Studebaker overdrive the car travels three miles for two engine miles. It reduces most of the need for costly engine repairs because engine wear is cut to the minimum."

The Grange

Eagle Point Grange At the Eagle Point Grange Tuesday night, the Upper Rogue River Grange exemplified first and second degree green, putting through a class of 21. Their work was very impressive, and appreciated by our grange.

About 125 attended and the meeting proved exceptionally interesting. Agriculture committee reported they were meeting with the county court to prepare a budget for weed control under the legislative committee. Wilford Davies gave a talk on the hydro electric bill.

Recreation committee reported an entertainment in the grange hall Oct. 14 with about 90 present. Refreshments were served and a good time enjoyed.

H.E.C. committee appointed Mr. and Mrs. Swingle and Mr. and Mrs. Walker for kitchen committee and Mrs. Van Sooy as hall committee for next meeting.

H.E.C. will meet with Mrs. Ida Kent October 28.

A baby's bank and one dollar were presented to "Grampa Bitterling" for his new granddaughter.

Ways and means committee reported a carnival to be held December 5, with the following committees appointed: Nigger baby, Theron Taylor, Earl Harnish and Edison Crandal; bean, Chas. Walker, Lyle Smith and Lena Stowel; wheel, H. C. Short, Sam Coy and Harry Ward; fish pond, Edith Weidman, Luis Ward, Mae Stowel and Zoran Humphrey; punch bowl, Ethel Coy, Helen Kent and Marie Wood;

Circles The Globe

H. R. Ekins, New York newspaperman, circled the globe in slightly more than 18 1/2 days, using, he said, only established transportation lines on his 24,720-mile dash. He is pictured as he disembarked at San Francisco after flying across the Pacific from Manila in the Hawaiian Clipper. He led two rivals by some 10,000 miles. (Associated Press Photo) fortune telling, Lattie Van Sooy and Edna Ward; candy booth, Lizzie Perry, Irene Stowel, Marjorie Nichols and Florence Putman; fancy work, Jessie Mittelstadt, Lillian Force and Lottie Van Sooy; carnival novelties, Clarence Davies, Ida Kent and Minnie Putman.

H.E.C. will serve hot dogs, pie and coffee. Mittelstadt will be auctioneer. Carpenters will be Chas. Humphrey, Roy Smith and Paul Force.

Lecture hour was short, due to incitation work. It consisted of community singing led by Gerald Cook, reading by Ruby Young; duet, Mrs. Edith Weidman and Mrs. Jessie Mittelstadt. The last number was a bird guessing contest.

Talks were given by Mr. and Mrs. John Holtz, of Sams Valley, and by Mr. Glass, Mr. Nye, Mr. Carelton and Mr. Robertson, of Upper Rogue River.

The third and fourth degree team will practice Tuesday evening.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Edna Cowden, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Davies and Mrs. Dalley.

PROSECUTORS TO ASK LAW CHANGES

The Oregon District Attorneys association, at a meeting called for November 14 at Portland, will discuss three changes in Oregon criminal laws to be recommended to the coming session of the legislature. It was announced today by District Attorney George A. Coddling of Jackson county, president of the District Attorneys State association.

The proposals include: Changes in the criminal law, to give the prosecution in criminal cases the same number of peremptory challenges of jurors as the defense. The law now provides that the defense may disqualify by challenge, twice as many jurors as the state. It is held this gives the defense an advantage.

Giving the prosecution right to comment in arguments to the jury, that the defendant has not taken the witness stand in his own behalf. The law now prohibits the district attorney from making such comment.

Amendment to the Oregon criminal procedure, so as to permit the introduction in evidence in criminal trials

PARALYZED PRISONER OFF TO PENITENTIARY

Harold J. Faughty, 20, of Longview, Wash., sentenced yesterday to terms aggregating 20 years in state prison, left this morning for Salem in charge of Deputy Sheriff Walton, who has been acting as Faughty's nurse. The prisoner is paralyzed as a result of a gunshot wound received in an attempted jail break.

Faughty received the same sentence as Buff Marshall, for participation in a series of hold-ups at Phoenix on the night of August 28.

Faughty heard sentence from a wheeled stretcher.

"I feel sorry for this lad, and have as tender a heart as the next man, but from my observation of him, since his arrest, he is beyond reformation," Sheriff Syd I. Brown said this morning.

Actor Walter Kingsford worked in a London paper factory before he decided to hit the stage as a career.

OFFICERS EXPLAIN FINING OF HUNTER

Due to some confusion among hunters relative to the $25 fine and costs imposed upon Walter Oliver Fredrickson early this week for hunting without a license, the following explanation was presented by authorities.

Fredrickson entered a plea of guilty to the charge.

The facts brought out were: Fredrickson, who had no gun or hunting license, was hunting with two hunters, who were armed, and was working the field, with the dog, flushing the birds for the others to shoot.

The Oregon hunting laws provide that "assisting in hunting with a dog constitutes hunting."

It also is stated that Fredrickson was warned by the state police game warden but due to a misunderstanding on his part, continued hunting, with the intention of procuring a license at the end of the day.

The playroom in Madge Evans' house has been converted into a "penny arcade."
