Mr. John Jacobson, prominent Oregon boat builder, who says: "Van-Tage helped me instantly, and I am grateful."

Why those who have found blessed relief in the soothing, medicated herbs of Van-Tage are grateful all of their lives.

So much rheumatic, neuritic, neuralgia pain comes from poisonous accumulations in kidneys and bowels! Van-Tage flushes the kidneys, gives bowels the cleansing they may have needed FOR MONTHS, and dispels painful gas and bloating from the stomach, leaving it sweet and clean. Druggists at Young's Drug Store report amazing sales of this Great Medicine throughout Medford.

Here is the SWORN STATEMENT of prominent boat builder, Mr. John Jacobson, of 7430 N. Fisk Ave., Portland, Ore.

Years of Awful Agony Now Ended

"For years I had such awful rheumatic pains that I can hardly even describe them. My whole body was aching and throbbing with rheumatic pain, and my stomach was up all the time and sour and gassy. I would blow up into a terrible pain after my meals. Recently I began to hear so much about Van-Tage and what it is doing for people in Oregon, so I got this medicine and started taking it. Almost instantly I felt better. So I kept on and cleared the sourness, gas and bloating from my stomach and now I eat my meals and it all agrees with me and I have no suffering afterward. It also gave me absolutely amazing relief from rheumatic pains. I can't praise Van-Tage enough after what it did for me and how what I say here will help many others."

Wall St. Report

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Steels furnished the sidings for recovery in today's stock market and a wide assortment of leaders reversed their slumping trend of yesterday and pushed up fractions to 5 or more points.

The come-back lacked steam, however, and a little selling now and then kept many issues within bounds. Transfers approximated 1,300,000 shares.

Further pleasing business and industrial news, brokers said, inspired short covering as well as a moderate amount of investment buying.

Double Features

Edward Everett Horton plays a return engagement at the Roxy Theater today and tomorrow in "Nobody's Fool." This picture gives Horton his funniest role to date as that of a dumb country boy who tries to make good in the city as a waiter.

Glenda Farrell plays opposite with Cesar Romero and Warren Hymer in "The Signet Ring."

Above are shown two scenes from the double bill program which comes to the Rialto theater to play tomorrow and Thursday. At the top is Russell Hardie and Mary Brian in "Killer at Large" and on the bottom, James Dunn who stars with Mae Clarke, David Manners, Charlotte Henry and Henry B. Walthall in "Hearts in Bondage."

Briefly, the story of "Killer at Large" concerns a wax expert, capable of remaining in statue-like stillness for several hours, whose maniacal desire to kill and rob involves the romantic leads in a thrilling blood-curdling series of events. Others in the cast are Thurston Hall, Betty Compson and George McKay.

"Hearts in Bondage" is centered around the Civil War with the famous battle between the Monitor and the Merrimack as the background for most of the action. Dunn and Manners have the roles of two buddies who enter the war on opposite sides. One is in charge of the Monitor and the other the Merrimack. Lincoln, Jefferson Davis, John Ericsson (inventor of the Monitor) and many other Civil War dignitaries are shown with important parts in the picture.

Presenting Rosalind Russell and John Boles in the roles of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Craig, the screen version of the Pulitzer Prize play, "Craig's Wife," comes to the Craterian theater for tomorrow only—also tomorrow night only at the Holly theater—widely heralded as one of the outstanding dramas of the year.

The story is of a cold and calculating woman who marries solely to attain her lifetime goal—absolute independence. She stands aloof from everyone, even, subtly, her husband, whom she considers a necessary evil. Her home is her temple, her symbol of triumph, and she jealously guards it from all.

Eventually, however, she goes too far in her machinations, and her husband, who had never suspected that she looked upon him only as another piece of furniture, leaves her. Gradually her world comes toppling down until she stands alone, crushed by the very world she had built about herself.

Others in the cast include Billie Burke, Jane Darwell, Dorothy Wilson and Raymond Walburn.
