BASEBALL OWNERS FATTEN PLAYERS FOR BIG LEAGUES

San Francisco Moguls Find Milk and Beefsteak Add to Value of Stringy Lads — Gomez Cited As Example

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Smart baseball club owners here have taken a tip from the farmer and are fattening promising players for the big league market.

The San Francisco Seals and Missions of the Pacific Coast league have had so much success with the system that it's a regular practice for club officials to send a promising young man out to a ranch to put a little meat on his ribs during the off-season.

The latest recipient of this sort of care is Harry "Tim" Marble, younger brother of Alce Marble, women's national singles tennis champion. The Missions are sending him up to President Joe Bearwald's ranch near Winters, Calif., for beefsteak, and milk so he will be ready to try out for the team come spring.

Some of the products of the fattening process are Vernon Gomez, the eccentric former star of the New York Yankees; Frankie Crosetti, Yankee shortstop, and Eddie Joost, of the Cincinnati Reds.

George Putnam, former Seal secretary, thought up the idea of supervising the diets of young players. He started in a modest way on Crosetti by ordering quarts of milk to be left on Frankie's doorstep every day. Frankie didn't say what happened to the milk, but he flourished and went to the big leagues.

The Seals found themselves to a few years later with Gomez, a whip-cracked striking who seemed too thin to impress big league scouts. Putnam shipped Lefty to a health farm near Saratoga, where he followed a prodigious eating program but nearly died of ennui.

Gomez picked up a little weight and after the season became a big leaguer. Joost likewise was too frail-appearing to capture the fancy of scouts until the Mission president took him to a ranch last winter. Eddie played brilliant ball and was picked up by the Reds toward the close of the season.

Pair Seek Post Of Injured O. S. C. End

CORVALLIS, Oct. 28.—(AP)—A two-way battle was underway at Bell Field between reserves seeking the position left vacant in the Oregon State lineup by Dale Lillebo, veteran end.

Lillebo, who has captained the Beavers in the majority of games this season, is off the squad indefinitely with a head injury.

Joe Wendlick and Weldon Wedin are first in line to take over the job for the Montana game Saturday.

Blackman To Give Oregon Strength

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Oregon's kicking and passing, weakened all season by injuries, will be back at par Saturday for the Portland game with the Washington Huskies.

With Tom Blackman, sophomore fullback, ready to start, the Webfoots are certain of at least one man who can both throw and punt.

Blackman has been on the sidelines since the first conference battle of the year, and in his absence the Webfoots have been able to complete but three passes—one against Idaho and two against Washington State.

BOOMED FOR ALL-AMERICA HONORS

Ed Goddard, Washington State quarterback, is one of the outstanding backs on the Pacific Coast, and Pacific Northwest fans maintain he should receive All-America honors for 1936. It's his last season on the gridiron. Though playing with a northern team, Goddard is from Escorido, Calif. (Associated Press Photo)

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—After last year's game with Minnesota, Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern coach, said: "If I never seen that Tuffy Thompson again it will be soon enough."

Just for that, Bernie Bierman intends to turn Tuffy loose at Evans-ton Saturday. . . . How about Babe Herman for manager at Brooklyn? . . . The Reds are getting ready to sell the Babe up or down the river —they don't care which, just so they send him somewhere. . . . Scouts say another red-hot wrestling war is brewing. . . . Best Bell, coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, is quoted as saying eastern collegers are not smart enough for foot football. . . . Ouch!

Lots of talk on the coast about Dick Weisberger, fullback for little Willamette college at Salem, Ore. . . . Weisberger, a 210-pounder from East Orange, N. J., has converted 42 out of 53 attempted place-kicks in three years. . . . record so far this season is 10 out of 13.

Lack of left in his Temple backfield has forced Pop Warner to make variations in his famous football system. . . . The people's choice out in Pittsburgh is Marshall Goldberg, Pitt halfback. . . . Most burned-up young man of the week was Slim Madison when he found out Fordham had promised the Giants 25 percent of the receipts for use of the Polo grounds. . . . The Dodgers have signed a Russian infielder named Palach-smin. . . . But he'll give the printers a break and call himself Nick Polly for box score purposes. . . . Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, and Bill Terry don't see eye to eye on whether Hank Leibner shall be traded. . . . What's become of All Nabs?

Football Deaths On Same Level as In Previous Year

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Football in 1936 is taking approximately the same toll of life that it did a year ago, and once more most of the deaths are attributable to the records-to and high school games.

The records so far this season show 18 deaths which have been reported from gridirons and 23 fatalities among football players since January 1. At the same stage of the 1935 season the toll stood at 17.

SEATTLE, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The return of John Wiatrak, star center to the University of Washington's first string line buoyed Husky hopes today as the gridirers prepared for their Saturday clash with the University of Oregon at Portland.

Wiatrak did not play against California, being out with injuries. Bud Erickson, second string center, substituted in fine fashion and stamped himself a dependable reserve for the post.

Frank Mattes, guard, and Carl Matronie, reserve end, were on the sidelines, Mattes with a leg injury and Matronie with a slight charley horse.

Aerial Defense Faber Objective

ALBANY, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Determined not to meet the same fate twice, Coach Don Faber of Albany college strove to construct an effective pass defense for the Oregon Normal school contest Thursday night.

Albany was beaten last week when it failed to stop a brilliant aerial offensive displayed by Southern Oregon Normal.

Al Peterson, tackle, received a broken nose against the Sons and probably will not meet the Wolves.

QUICKLY REGAINING LOST WEIGHT—OLD STRENGTH BACK AGAIN

Had Gone Down Steadily for the Past Three Years—S.L.K. Relieves Distress and Restores Lost Vitality in One Short Month

THE greatest gift in life is happiness and the amount of happiness you derive from it is gauged largely by your health. Nothing is more discouraging than to know that your health is falling day by day—nothing more depressing than your feeling of helplessness in the knowledge that you are steadily growing worse in spite of all that you can do.

Burdened by Ill Health

It has been stated by eminent authorities that disorders of the digestive tract and the organs of digestion are responsible for fully 90 percent of all bodily ailments. The highly refined foods we eat are hard to digest and most of us do not get sufficient exercise. The result is that the overworked digestive organs are unable to continue working efficiently, permitting poisons to accumulate in the system. The first signs of ill health begin to appear in the form of frequent headaches, indigestion, nervousness, backaches, constipation, a tired, run-down feeling and many other symptoms. As time goes on your trouble usually becomes more pronounced, resistance is lowered, and you become more susceptible to definite afflictions.

S.L.K. Acts Quickly

Such was the case with Mrs. Robert Shepherd, for 25 years a resident of Stockton, Calif. She says: "I have gradually been going down for the past three years, and losing weight. I went from 130 lbs. to 90 lbs. I was always bothered with gas and sour stomach. It seemed I never had any desire for food and what I did eat caused those awful gas pains that would crowd up around my heart, seeming to choke me. My legs cramped so much that I could hardly sleep at night. After taking two bottles of Williams S.L.K. I have gained 8 pounds and I have a real appetite again. I eat what I want without causing me distress and my strength is coming back rapidly. A medicine that has done the wonderful things Williams S.L.K. has done for me deserves all the credit in the world."
