Fur and Jewels Feature Opening of Horse Show

By ADELAIDE KERR

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Ermine and orchids, rich velvets and jewels transformed Madison Square Garden into the season's most brilliant panorama of fall fashions at the opening of the 53rd national horse show last night.

The boxes became a sea of colorful gowns, rich furs and fragrant corsage bouquets as society gathered for the event which marked the opening of the winter social season. Ermine coats by the dozens passed down the aisles, and diamonds, emeralds and rubies flashed in the lights that played on the flag-decked arena.

Striking wraps were worn. Besides the great display of ermine wraps, varying all the way from brief capes to coats which almost swept the ground, there were many white and silver fox capes and mink coats. Long dark broadcloth wraps whose revers shimmered with gold embroidery and paillettes, rich brocades and black and deep colored velvets often collared with ermine were among the most striking. Floor length wraps were chosen by the majority of women, although a number of shorter models were also seen.

Black gowns were a great favorite. Regal black velvets, sheer black tulle embroidered in glittering silver threads and stender black crepes all were seen.

Besides these there were a number of colored gowns in rich and glowing tints. Velvets in wine, coronation red, sapphire blue and deep green tones, pearl gray chiffons, white satins and chiffons and a few silver lames lent color to the pageant.

Jewels worth thousands of dollars flashed under the lights. Diamonds glittered in long earrings, sapphires and rubies gleamed in bracelets and rows of pearls shown from throats.

their ratios of advantage over their Republican opponents were the Democratic incumbents, Gov. Clarence D. Martin and Lieut. Gov. Victor A. Meyers. Gov. Martin defeated former Governor Roland H. Hartley and Meyers won over Charles R. Maybury, formerly state director of licenses under Hartley.

The only close race in the election was for state superintendent of public instruction. In returns from 1,808 precincts, Stanley F. Atwood, Seattle Democrat, polled 176,159 votes to 158,717 for Dr. N. D. Showalter, Republican incumbent, giving Atwood a lead of 17,442. Earlier his lead had hovered around the 20,000 mark. Dr. Showalter was the sole Republican survivor of the landslide of 1932.

For all other offices the Democrats swept to easy victories.

WASHINGTON FOR ROOSEVELT WITH 400,000 VOTES. SEATTLE, Nov. 5.—(AP)—A total vote of around 400,000 for President Roosevelt in the Washington general election seemed a possibility today as unofficial returns from 2,064 of the state's 2,981 precincts gave him 291,380 votes. The president received 333,250 votes in the official canvass four years ago.

He polled approximately 63 per cent of the votes cast for himself and Herbert Hoover in 1932. This year he maintained a lead of better than two to one over Gov. Alf M. Landon. The Republican nominee received 134,421 votes in the precincts reported. Keeping step with Roosevelt in
