

ROOSEVELT MUM ON PLANS WHILE ENJOYING RETURN

His principal task in the next week, going over estimates with department heads and other officials.

The chief executive said he probably would reach a definite decision on the Buenos Aires trip next week. If he does not go to South America, he said he would take a leisurely cruise in Caribbean waters for a sailing trip lasting some two and one-half weeks.

In following either plan, he told his press conference that he would leave Charleston on November 17 or 18. His tentative schedule calls for his arrival in the Argentine capital on December 1. He would leave there the next day and return directly to Charleston, arriving about December 13 or 14.

Reception Thrills

The president opened the press conference with a remark that there was no news but that he did want to say that the reception given him at the Union Station when he arrived from Hyde Park was "perfectly thrilling and I appreciate it enormously."

Asked if negotiations for reciprocal trade agreements would be speeded now, the president said he assumed negotiations now proceeding would go ahead in the usual way.

He said he hoped after tonight when he will deliver a short radio address in connection with the relief drive of the mobilization for human needs, he would have no more speeches to make for a long time.

Many Congratulate. In response to a question, he said a secretary had informed him he had received more than 12,000 congratulatory telegrams at Hyde Park, which exceeded by far the number he received four years ago.

The hastily but effectively organized "welcome home" celebration for the president today presented sharp contrast to the usual reaction of Washington to the arrival of a presidential train. Usually a chief executive's coming and going draw but scant attention.

The union station crowd, estimated by Major Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of police, at well over 100,000, sent a cheer rolling for nearly a mile as the president opened a brief address with the familiar: "My Friends."

Smiling, and obviously still happy over his landslide election victory, Mr. Roosevelt said: "I formed the very good habit of coming to Washington when I was five years old and I am glad that habit will not be broken during the next four years."

After the president reached the White House and went inside the crowd remained cheering on the front lawn and kept it up so persistently that Mr. Roosevelt and his wife came out a second time. The president, walking on the arm of his elder son, James, strode up and down on the portico, waving and smiling to the throng.

GRAND JURY WILL RESUME NOV. 16TH

The grand jury will resume sessions Monday, November 16, it was announced today by the district attorney. Two auto accidents, causing deaths, will be under investigation. One is the hit-run death of Everett Thompson, Talent, highway pedestrian, for which Lester Messal is held as driver of the death car. Messal is held in the county jail, serving a reckless driving sentence of 45 days. The other is the death of Avis Broad, 14, Central Point girl bicyclist killed last June when struck by an auto at the Main street and Pacific highway intersection in Central Point. J. Z. Riggs of Hillsboro, Ore., is charged with being the driver of the auto that struck the lass.

IRRIGATION DISTRICTS WILL ELECT DIRECTORS

The annual election for irrigation district directors will be held next Tuesday with voting hours from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. The Talent district polling place will be at the Talent district office; the Medford district, the Oak Grove school, and the Rogue River district, the district office. The candidate for the Talent district is R. E. Robinson; the Medford district, Albert Burch and the Rogue River district, Don Clark. All are now directors.

AUTOIST FINED FOR FAILURE TO REPORT

Ralph Coates, charged with failure to give name and address at the time of an auto accident was fined $25 and costs on a plea of guilty in Justice of the Peace William T. Coleman's court yesterday. The case was a minor sideswiping crash in which no one was hurt, and

Everyday Cooking Miracles

BY VIRGINIA FRANCIS

Home-made candies just belong at holiday time, don't they? Not only do we like to nibble on these sweet, nut-filled dainties at these times, but we're not eating turkey, or hanging around the cookie jar, but we delight in the gay commotion and activity connected with candy making, too. Young Junior says maintain the heat you choose and distribute it evenly over the bottom of the pan. Wouldn't you agree that candy making, in this modern style, helps to stir up that gay holiday spirit? Oh, yes, opera creams! Now there's a candy for you whose delicate caramel flavor and smooth, creamy texture are developed by low, slow cooking. Their goodness, accented by crunchy pecan meats, will be acclaimed whether they are quietly munched between the acts of "Madame Butterfly" or fresh from the pan in which they were cooked.

Delicious candies for the holidays, such as these tempting light opera creams are easy to prepare on the modern electric range.

Light Opera Creams (Makes 1 1/2 lbs. Candy)
2 cups sugar 1/4 tsp. salt
3/4 cup cream 1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup milk extract
1 tsp. light corn syrup 1 cup pecan nut meats (cut fine)
Place sugar, cream, milk, corn syrup, and salt in saucepan. Cook on Low Heat, stirring occasionally, until the soft ball stage (235°). Remove from electric heat unit and cool, without stirring, until mixture is lukewarm (110°). Then add vanilla extract and beat until candy becomes creamy. Add nut meats and drop by spoonfuls on a greased platter, or on the smooth working top of the electric range. Did you get that? Drop the candy on the range to harden? Yes, it's so! The smooth, enameled working top of the electric range is not only conveniently large enough to accommodate these delicious confections, but it is always spotlessly clean, because it is so easy to keep clean!

ASHLAND PARENTS TO HEAR EXPERTS

"Developing Character" is the subject to be discussed by Mrs. Maude M. Moore, extension specialist in parent education from Oregon State college, at a special meeting for fathers and mothers at the Ashland Junior high school Monday, November 9, at 8 p. m.

The discussion will include such questions as "Why is there an increased interest in the character training of our children? What is character and how does character differ from reputation? Are traits of honesty, loyalty, cheerfulness and helpfulness always good?" Parents are urged to attend and participate in the discussion. The meeting is scheduled for the evening so that fathers can attend. The discussion is planned especially for parents and adults only, and no children under 18 years of age should attend. The meeting is sponsored by the Ashland Parent-Teachers council. Arrangements are under direction of Mrs. A. C. Joy, council president.

Dog Gets Elaborate Funeral HONG KONG (UP)—Mel Hungen, a Chinese cook, was ordered to defray the costs of an elaborate funeral for a dog which he stabbed to death when he caught it raiding his kitchen.

McLeod MELEOD, Nov. 6.—(Sp)—A dining room is being built into the Tate store building, Jack Johnson is in charge of the construction. Roy Vaughn is building the Nararene church in Prospect. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Lewis, who have spent some months at the von Stein home, have recently returned to their home in Medford. Stewart Weeks and mother attended to business matters in Medford Saturday as did Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ailworth.

Bob Oht spent Friday with his folks. He rode the 32 miles from Medford in three hours on his new bicycle Friday morning and returned in the afternoon. Bob is now distributing agent for the Oregon Journal in the Medford district and enjoys his job, besides attending Medford high school. Frank Clements of Pasadena is spending a week at Casey's camp and is having fine luck catching cut-throat trout. The regular monthly meeting of the McLeod home extension unit is scheduled for Thursday, November 5 at the home of Patty Clement at Prospect. Mrs. Mabel C. Mack will conduct a study on food for the school child. Everyone interested is urged to attend these valuable meetings. The Upper Rogue Grange will elect officers at their next meeting. Much interest was shown in the election Tuesday resulting in a heavy vote heresabouts. A. D. Tate reports having enjoyed a successful pheasant hunt in the valley recently.

WIFE SAYS: "And please, Mr. Hobbs, I should like a can of Hills Bros. Coffee."

HUSBAND THINKS: When Anne comes to ordering coffee, it's always Hills Bros. Suits me fine...my mother always said it's the one brand you could use year in and year out and never be disappointed in the flavor. She's right, too.

Fifty-eight years ago Hills Bros. started to roast and pack the finest coffee obtainable. They were convinced that people would appreciate unvarying quality. Times may change... but this conviction has never changed. Neither has the quality of Hills Bros. Coffee. That is why the enjoyment brought to you by this fine coffee does not vary through the years.

GOOD COFFEE DESERVES CARE IN BREWING—
The Correct Grind of Hills Bros. Coffee is a standard set by a knowledge of coffee acquired through more than half a century of roasting and packing coffee. The Correct Grind is as fine as coffee should be ground. Finer grinding sacrifices flavor and aroma, as well as keeping qualities after the can is opened. Hills Bros. Coffee should not be reground. The Correct Grind is guaranteed to produce the finest-tasting beverage in any type of coffee-maker. Directions for making coffee by the method you use will be sent on request.
