HIGH COURT HEARS HOLDING COMPANY MEASURE ARGUED

Justices agreed to pass on constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act brought in three new cases. It already had agreed to pass on the law in two previous cases.

The court refused to pass on litigation challenging the constitutionality of the processing tax of three cents a pound imposed by the 1934 revenue act on coconut oil imported from the Philippine Islands.

Before turning to the public utility holding company case, the court affirmed a lower court ruling imposing a $235,082 judgment against William Fox, movie producer, and directing his imprisonment until he paid that amount.

Hughes' announcement that Justice Stone took no part in today's decisions immediately led to speculation that he might not be able to participate in the New Deal cases which will come before the high tribunal this fall and winter.

Stone, who has been suffering from dysentery, has been one of the court's strongest champions of previous Roosevelt administration laws coming up for review as to their constitutionality.

gin fall plantings of wheat, barley and oats until rain makes the ground suitable for plowing. "Some plowing has been done," Fowler said, "but it is not very successful in dry soil."

He added that unless fall planting can be started soon, crops stand in danger of being frozen, as they will not be far enough along in growth to withstand heavy frosts. The longer the delay, the less yield may be expected next spring, Fowler said.

A slight decrease in yield is expected even now. However, the county agent held out hope that the usual good farming weather in late November and December will offset serious effects.

No indication of rain is seen as present, weather officials stated, the forecast being for increasing cloudiness and slightly higher temperatures tonight and tomorrow.

100 SONS ALUMNI ATTEND REUNION

Approximately 100 former students and alumni of the Southern Oregon Normal school at Ashland gathered this week end for the tenth annual Homecoming celebration.

Principal result of the alumni meeting Saturday morning was the formation of a definite working program of co-operation between the school and the alumni association. The move is expected to assure the co-operation of the association in many school projects and will add to the school's contact with prospective students throughout the state, according to Dr. Walter Redford, president of the normal.

Leura York of Medford is among members of the executive committee working out plans for the program. In her capacity as third vice-president of the association.

The week-end program included a noise parade Friday evening; business meeting Saturday morning; football game Saturday afternoon, which saw the SONS bow to the Monmouth Wolves; and a banquet and dance Saturday evening.

Are You Only A Three-Quarter Wife

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport.

Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time. No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature take up the strain that loosens the diaphragm from the functional disorder which women must endure in the three weeks of life. Turning from girlhood to womanhood, the young girl is mistreated. Approaching "middle age,"

Don't be a three-quarter wife. Take Lydia E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "Smiling Through."

CCC CONFERENCE GETS UNDER WAY AT ELKS TEMPLE

Medford CCC district's semi-annual two-day welfare and educational conference opened here today with officers, educational advisers and technical agency officials taking part.

Plans will be made for the coming period's program and district problems will be discussed at a series of meetings during the conclave. Company commanders and educational advisers were holding separate sessions this afternoon, with other officers and technical agency officials joining them for a general conference tomorrow.

The conference is being held at the Elks' temple, with a big educational exhibit in the gymnasium.

A meeting of company commanders was being held this afternoon with Maj. George R. Owens, district commander, presiding. Company administrative problems were being discussed. At the same time, the educational advisers met in a session devoted to their program, with Eugene C. Golden, district adviser, presiding.

A general session for all officers, advisers and technical agency personnel will be held tomorrow with Maj. Owens presiding. The program will start at 8:15 in the morning and continue until noon, and will start again at 1:30 p. m., and continue until 5 o'clock. A dinner and dance will be held tomorrow evening at the Medford hotel to close the conference.

Dr. D. E. Wiedman, former Medford district adviser and present civil educational adviser for the ninth corps area, is present for the conference and was to speak at both the advisers' session this afternoon and at the general conference tomorrow afternoon.

M. J. Bowen, special inspector for Robert Fechner, EGCW director, will be another speaker on tomorrow's program as will George E. Griffith, chief of education and information, forest service, region six.

G. M. SALES SET NEW TEN MONTHS RECORD

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—General Motors Corp. today reported sales to consumers in the United States for the first ten months as the record highest on record, but a material drop in October totals.

For the first ten months sales to consumers in the United States totaled 1,991,189, compared with 1,996,612 for the corresponding period in 1935, the record.

Sales of cars to consumers in the United States totaled 44,274 in October, compared with 85,201 in September, and 68,556 in October a year ago.

tion of the fatal shot he was about to take. State police could find no note of any kind either on the dead man's body or in the building. Mrs. Jesse E. Brownlee, who lives only a few feet from the scene of the shooting, told investigating officers that she heard a loud report but thought it was a blowout on the highway.

Wife On Visit The dead man is survived by his wife, who left yesterday to visit friends in Klamath Falls. She was notified of the tragedy by telephone and a car was sent to return her here.

Also surviving is the dead man's mother, Mrs. Harvey S. Weaver, 1024 West Eleventh street, Medford, and his father who lives in Montana. Last month Culver was summoned to Montana to be with his father, who had suffered a stroke. He returned to his home here October 25.

Culver had lived in Medford for several years, and had owned the service station for about 18 months. As a younger man he played in several of the largest orchestras in San Francisco and was known as an accomplished musician.

Coroner Frank Peril said there would probably be no inquest. The body is held at the Peril Funeral Home awaiting word from Mrs. Culver. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

TURKEY GROWERS TO SELL AT HOME

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Low bids of eastern buyers and prospects for a good home demand apparently are leading Oregon turkey producers to step-outside offers and concentrate on disposing of their record crop in home markets the Journal said today.

CHESTER F. LEWIS OF PROSPECT DIES ON EASTERN TRIP

Chester F. Lewis, Prospect resident for many years, died early this morning from a ruptured gall bladder in Green Bay, Wis., where he was visiting relatives. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin D. Lewis, Sr., who were with him when he died. A brother, Austin D. Lewis, Jr., and his wife were en route to Green Bay when they were notified of the death at The Dalles.

With his father and brother, Chester Lewis operated the Lewis sawmill business in Prospect. He had been suffering intermittently for some time with an ailment diagnosed as gall bladder trouble.

The parents were to leave Green Bay by train this afternoon, bringing the body here for funeral services. They are expected to arrive here Thursday night. Funeral services are to be arranged by the Peril chapel.

Mr. Lewis left here a short time ago with his parents for the east, going first to South Bend, Ind., to take delivery of a new automobile. He stopped in Green Bay to visit relatives and was stricken two days ago. Notified of the illness, his brother left here by train for Green Bay yesterday but friends here intercepted him this morning at The Dalles. He and his wife were to return immediately to Medford and are expected to arrive tomorrow morning.

Chester Lewis had lived in this section for 15 or 16 years and was well known here. He was a member of Medford Masonic and Shrine organizations. He was about 33 years old.

LOCAL CCC AREA EXTENDING NORTH; TWO UNITS ADDED

Transfer of two CCC camps of the Vancouver Barracks district to the Medford district was announced today by Maj. George R. Owens, commander here.

The addition represents an extension of the Medford district to the north, the two additional camps, Brice Creek and Guenther, being in the Cottage Grove area, Major Owens explained.

The camps will remain where they are but will be brought under jurisdiction of the Medford district, he said. Each camp has a full complement of about 150 men. Effective date of the change has not been determined, the district commander stated.

The two additional units will give the Medford district 25 full working camps and headquarters detachment for the winter season, Major Owens related.

This is the largest number of full-strength camps the Medford district has ever had, the commander said.

Governor Proclaims Cheese Week Dates

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Governor Martin, in a press statement, gave endorsement to National Cheese Week between November 8 and 14.

"Oregon is a heavy producer of cheese of excellent quality," the governor said, "and a large proportion of it must go to outside markets. In those markets, the quality of our cheese is well advertised and, therefore, well known; however, our per capita consumption is much lower than it should be. It would seem that this contemplated movement is entirely in keeping with best interests of the industry."

right legs mangled, were rushed to the community hospital here. Loss of blood and shock were so serious that operation was impossible until this morning, when the torn legs were amputated in a fight for life. Both were taken off just below the knee.

The attending physician said that the condition of both men was extremely serious because of the shock and loss of blood. They were given only a fighting chance for life.

Brown, with his family, came to Klamath Falls a short time ago from Iowa to work. Yesterday, believing he had a job for young Van Rhen in the same place where he was working in Klamath Falls, Brown borrowed the motorcycle from one of his sons and started for Medford to get Van Rhen, the two families being old friends. They had just set out on the return journey, Brown at the controls, when the tragedy occurred.

Brown is said to have a large family in Klamath Falls.

Dr. Donald Wair, member of the eastern Oregon state hospital staff who examined the boy, recommended he be put under observation. The boy's father, Ben Enbysk, is confined in the hospital. His mother and four other Enbysk children reside here.

Gwin is survived by his widow, a small son and his parents.

Bridal Veil Mill Swept By Blaze

BRIDAL VEIL, Ore., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Flames, fanned by an east wind, swept through the $250,000 Bridal Veil Timber company mill early today and caused damage estimated by plant officials at $100,000. Roy Leedham, millwright who discovered the fire, received burns on his hands and face in attempting to quell it. The 100 workers in nearby cabins aided, and two fire trucks came from Portland.

SALVATION ARMY FIRE OF SUSPICIOUS ORIGIN; BUILDING THREATENED

Fire of suspicious origin this forenoon destroyed the woodshed and threatened the Salvation Army building at East Fourth and Bartlett streets. Rear of the building facing the woodshed was seared. Damage was estimated at about $100. The loss was covered by insurance.

Several persons reported having heard a explosion just prior to the blaze and this was being checked this afternoon by fire department officials and Capt. G. R. Durham, Salvation Army head.

Captain Durham said his theory was that the woodshed was set on fire. He stated that he went through the woodshed just five or six minutes before it burst into flames and he observed no smoke at that time. Although he was in the main building, he said he heard no explosion. There was nothing explosive or inflammable in the shed, he added.

A few minutes before the fire Captain Durham noticed a young man walking furtively along the alley toward the woodshed, he related. He said he did not recognize the youth and did not see him again.

Captain Durham stated he would report his theory to the police and ask that an investigation be made. The shed contained about two cords of wood.

The blaze was quickly checked by the fire department, which answered a ward alarm.
